DRYDOCK AFIRE — Coast Guardsmen play water on the ruins of one of four drydocks moored in Richardson Bay. The drydock, one of four sitting in bay mud, caught fire about 2:30 a.m. today, flaring up again later in the morning. Arson was suspected in the blaze. It appeared to firemen that someone had been living on the gutted hulk and had set up kitchen facilities. (Independent-Journal photo)

High Court Steps Into Strike Scene

Grants Federal Judges Powers In Negotiations

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court armed federal judges with wide latitude Tuesday to stop strikes by railway and airline employes where they find no "reasonable efforts" have been made to negotiate labor agreements.

The Court split 5 to 4, with dissenters warning that the ruling would destroy the careful bargaining machinery of the National Railway Act and inflict a "mortal wound" on the role of economic pressure in such labor negotiations.

Its effect, according to dissenting Justice William J. Brennan Jr., will be to require a federal court to enjoin strikes where it determines that a party had not exerted sufficient effort to reach settlement.

The majority opinion itself acknowledged that the ruling "creates a not insignificant danger" that parties in such labor disputes will conduct their negotiating positions and tactics "with an eye on the courts, rather than restricting their attention to the business at hand."

"These weighty considerations indeed counsel restraint in the issuance of strike injunctions based on violations" of the Railway Act, Justice John M. Harlan said for the majority.

"Nevertheless, the result reached today is unavoidable if we are to give effect to all our labor laws," he declared.

The opinion came in a case involving the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co. and the United Transportation Union. Harlan was joined by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, and Justices Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall and Harry A. Blackmun.

Dissenting with Brennan were Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Byron R. White.

In essence, the Court held that a federal judge may issue an injunction to block a strike if he determines that one side or the other had not made a reasonable effort to reach a settlement of a dispute even though the regular process had not been exhausted.

The 1926 Railway Labor Act covers both railway and airline employes. The Chicago and North Western dispute arose from a controversy over how many brakemen each train should carry.

The law provides that 30 days after the National Mediation service withdraws from a labor dispute, the parties may resort to "self-help" such as a strike.

The UTV gave notice it would strike after the 30 days had expired. The company sought an injunction but was turned down by a federal district court which held the controversy was not justifiable and that it had no jurisdiction to stop a strike.

The U.S. 7th Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago agreed but continued an injunction granted provisionally by the lower court pending an appeal of the decision.

Harlan said:

"We recognize, of course, that our holding that strike injunctions may issue when such a remedy is the only practical, effective means of enforcing the duty to exert every reasonable effort to make and maintain agreements falls far short of that definiteness and clarity which businessmen and labor leaders undoubtedly desire.

"Moreover, the party seeking to maintain the status quo may be less willing to compromise during the determinate processes of the Railway Labor Act if he believes that there is a chance of indefinitely postponing the other party's resort to (strike) after those procedures have been exhausted."

The court also said the "vagueness of the obligation" the law places on federal courts could provide "a cover for free-wheeling judicial interference in labor relations."

It sent the Chicago and North Western dispute back to the appeals court.

Brennan said the ruling "will destroy entirely the carefully planned scheme" of the Railway Labor Act which first requires the parties to bargain jointly, then involves the National Mediation Board and finally allows the President to create an emergency board to seek a settlement.

"Underlying the entire statutory framework is the pressure born of the knowledge that in the final instance, traditional self-help economic pressure may be brought to bear if the statutory mechanism does not produce agreement," Brennan said.

"This court's decision will effectively destroy the scheme of gradually escalating pressures ... More important, however, is the mortal wound today's holding inflicts on the critical role to be played by the presence of economic weapons in reserve."

Castro To Free Plane, Passengers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A hijacked Pan American jetliner with 69 persons aboard, which has been detained in Cuba for four days, will be allowed to leave Havana Wednesday, the White House announced today.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler made the announcement, saying word of the planned release was relayed to the White House through the Swiss embassy in Havana and the Czechoslovakian embassy in Washington.

The Boeing 707 jet was hijacked Saturday while en route to Miami from Caracas, Venezuela, with 60 passengers and nine crewmen aboard. It landed at Havana's Jose Marti airport Saturday night.

Ziegler could give no explanation why the Castro government failed to release the plane immediately, as it has done in most past hijackings.

He said the Nixon administration "has not drawn a connection" between the hijacked plane and the seizure by U.S. authorities of four Cuban fishing vessels.

The fishing boats and their crews were seized last Wednesday on charges of violating U.S. territorial waters off the Dry Tortugas, off the southwest coast of Florida.

Four crewmen were returned Monday to another Cuban ship but the four captains were being held for trial in federal court in Miami June 7.

Ziegler refused to say if the fishing captains also would be released.

There had been indications that Castro had delayed return of the hijacked 707 because of the arrest of the fishermen.

The official Cuban news agency, Prensa Latina, linked the plane to the fishermen today.

Turk Shoot-Out Kills Kidnapper

KARTAL, Turkey (UPI) — Turkish security forces shot it out today with two gunmen and rescued the bruised and weeping 14-year-old girl they had held as a hostage in a Karal house since Sunday. One gunman was killed and the other gravely wounded.

Soldiers and security agents dragged the two fugitives from the house and guarded them from an angry crowd that pushed forward and demanded that they be lynched. One fugitive died in an ambulance and the other was rushed to a hospital where angry Turks demanded:

"Kill the vermin! Don't save him!"

The man killed in the brief gunbattle when soldiers and security forces scaled iron ladders to the third floor window was Huseyin Cevahir.

The gravely wounded man was Munir Cayan, thought to be the young leftist who shot and killed Israeli Consul General Ephraim Elrom, 59, who was beaten unconscious and abducted from his Istanbul apartment last month. Elrom was found dead six days later.

The girl, Sibel Erkan, was in tears and bruished about the face but otherwise unharmed, police said. She was reunited with her father, a Turkish army major, who had stood vigil outside the house armed with a machinegun.

Security forces established a protective cordon around the hospital where the wounded gunman underwent surgery. Angry crowds gathered outside

Viet Rout Claimed In Cambodia Battle

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese forces were driven out of the Cambodian border town of Snuol Monday, leaving a trail of wrecked tanks, armored cars and artillery pieces behind them, military sources said today. The Communists claimed a major victory with staggering government losses.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said their 8th Infantry task force of 2,000 men had pulled back more than six miles from Snuol after losing 204 men dead and wounded in five days of fighting. They put Communist losses at 1,079, including 700 killed by tanks and U.S. airpower during the retreat.

(CBS radio network correspondent Morton Dean reported that the South Vietnamese lost 150 killed and wounded in the retreat instead of the six dead reported officially).

Viet Cong radio broadcasts heard in Saigon were as jubilant in their victory claims as when the South Vietnamese pulled out of Laos earlier this year. They said North Vietnamese troops had captured 300 government soldiers and "put out of action" another 1,500.

Although the Communist claims were suspect, government spokesmen admitted leaving behind flaming tanks, armored cars and trucks in what appeared to be a rout by vastly superior forces. The Viet Cong said they captured 50 tanks and armored cars, destroyed 150 other armored vehicles and trucks and captured 500 weapons, including 10 artillery pieces.

The Communists said the main battle was fought Sunday —a day when government spokesmen in Saigon reported only minor fighting. The Communists said they captured 500 tons of ammunition and 100 radios and destroyed five helicolters.

The government claims appeared equally suspect. They said allied air strikes by both American and South Vietnamese planes and helicopters killed 700 Communists Monday along Highway 13. But U.S. spokesmen at the same briefing said the American command in Saigon had not received any report from its pilots on operations there.

Snuol, 85 miles north of Saigon, was almost obliterated by

Cotati School Voting Slow

Voting in Cotati and Rohnert Park got off to a slow start today as residents decide on a 50-cent tax rate increase for the Cotati School District.

By 10:30 a.m., 30 ballots had been cast at Cotati School where 1,050 voters are registered. John Reed School precinct workers reported 41 of 700 voters had cast ballots while at Waldo Rohnert School, 33 of 1,200 votes had been counted.

The three polling places will remain open until 8 p.m. Approval of the measure would increase the current rate of $1.60 per $100 assessed valuation to $2.10.

Mysterious Fire Hits A Drydock

A mysterious fire caused heavy damage to one of four hulking drydocks on Richardson Bay early this morning, then flared up again about three hours later, sending clouds of black smoke out over the bay.

Fire officials theorized the blaze was arson and were continuing their investigation into its cause.

The spectacular blaze, which lit up the sky and startled many Sausalito and Belvedere residents, began about 2:30 a.m. near the southeast corner of the docks owned by Sausalito sculptor J. Christopher Roberts. It was controlled about 6:30 a.m., then reignited around 9:30 this morning.

The crew of the San Francisco Fire Department's fireboat Phoenix, called to quell the original blaze, returned to control the new fire. But the fireboat's captain, Bernard Feldhau, said the department's efforts to break up the burning wood on the massive docks and flood them with water was hampered by a low tide which made it impossible for the 100-ton Phoenix to remain in the area.

The vessel returned to San Francisco about 11 a.m. and planned to come back to Richardson Bay about 4 p.m. when a high tide was expected.

By the time the fire was first controlled at 6:20 a.m., a large portion of the southeast drydocks's massive wall had burned to deck level, according to the U.S. Coast Guard which sent two 40-foot cutters to the scene. The Coast Guard and San Francisco Fire Department were called to fight the fire by the Sausalito Fire Department which has no facilities for fighting bay fires. About two dozen residents called the Sausalito department to report the fire.

New Antidrug Program Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House said Tuesday it is considering an extensive new nationwide antidrug program.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the narcotics problem "has been very much on the mind of this administration" and there has been "extensive work on ways to effectively deal with drug peddling and addiction.

Ziegler's comments were in response to questions about reports of a secret task force report which top White House domestic aides are reported to be studying.

Ziegler said the White House is not yet prepared to announce any new methods of curbing the drug problem.

A Deaf Ear To Bus Firm Pleas

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin County Transit District directors balked today at pleas by a private bus firm operated by a Marin City based firm to help keep it alive after this year.

The firm, Marin County Transit Systems Inc. serves bus routes due to be taken over in December by the Golden Gate Bridge District. The bridge district contracts for the service with the firm under a county subsidy, but is scheduled to begin operating its own fleet of 152 buses by December.

Marin Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who raised the issue of whether the firm had a future beyond December, joined in the vote to postpone the matter to the board's next meeting on July 6. The board, apparently split on whether the bridge district should make room for the firm after December, voted 6-1 for the delay, Tiburon City Councilman Denis T. Rice voting "no."

Several board members argued they could not make a policy decision on the firm's future without more information from the staffs of the transit and bridge districts, but they left unclear what additional information they wanted.

Wornum, objecting that continued delay on the issue was "stringing along" the Marin City-based firm, said that turning to staff for more information "can go on for the next 10 years and never get anywhere."

The board endorsed the firm's application to the Public Utilities Commission to extend its routes to Stinson Beach, but the endorsement was restricted by a host of conditions.

As drafted by Wornum, the endorsement provided that it was "clearly understood that it is to be a demonstration project, with strict provision that it is for this summer only and in no way gives MTS presumptive rights to this route." The last condition was aimed at barring the firm from acquiring rights that would have to be bought by the bridge district.

Supervisor John F. McInnis added a condition to the motion requiring that the endorsement be approved by attorneys for both the county and the bridge district.

The endorsement, if approved by the attorneys, would reverse a request by the transit district's staff to the PUC that it withhold action on the application.

James B. Robertson, acting general manager of the transit district, wrote the PUC last month that the application was "in direct conflict with plans by the Golden Gate Bridge District to operate a countywide bus system."

The Marin County Transit District directors also:

Audie Murphy Killed In Plane Crash

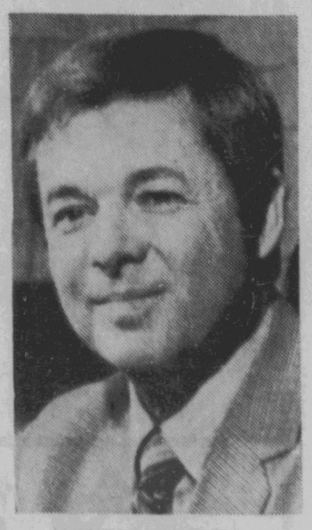
ROANOKE, Va. (UPI)—Actor Audie Murphy, the tough "little boy" soldier who won every medal available to U.S. infantrymen in World War II, has been killed in the wreckage of a small plane on a Virginia mountainside.

The body of the man who cheated death often on the battlefields of Europe was found on Memorial Day on the side of rugged Brushy Mountain.

Positive identification was withheld pending a check today of X-rays and dental records, but Murphy's wife Pamela was notified Monday afternoon that the war hero-turned-actor was "presumed dead." Six bodies found in the charred Aero Commander plane that crashed on a flight from Atlanta to Martinsville, Va., Friday were removed from Brush Mountain Monday night and taken to the community hospital morgue in Roanoke.

Dr. John Josko, a hospital official, said dental records and X-rays would be used to establish positive identification.

"All the bodies have been terribly dismembered," he said.



AUDIE MURPHY
World War II hero

The 46-year-old actor, whose Hollywood career faded in recent years, was flying to Martinsville, about 35 miles south of Roanoke, on a business trip. The pilot overflew Martinsville in a thunderstorm and crashed into the mountain.

"These are really treacherous mountains in which a pilot, if he's not accustomed to mountain flying, can get into trouble pretty easily," said an official of the Civil Air Patrol, which conducted the search for the plane.

Murphy, who won 24 medals and killed or captured 240 Germans during three years of combat in World War II, recently became associated with Modular Management, a firm specializing in factory-built homes and motels. He was flying to Martinsville to inspect a modular plant.

Aboard the twin-engine craft with Murphy were Claude Crosby of Atlanta, president of Modular; Raymond Prater of Chattanooga, Tenn., a modular attorney; Jack Littleton of Fort Collins, Colo., secretary-treasurer of the Lenoir Corp.; and the pilot, Herman Butler of Crossville, Tenn.

The sixth occupant was not immediately identified.

Two close friends of Murphy, producer Rudy Durand and Hal Wegandt, a real estate salesman, left Los Angeles Monday night for Roanoke to identify the body and return it for memorial services.

Murphy, a poor farm boy from Kingston, Tex., won the Congressional Medal of Honor for single-handedly driving off a German force of 200 men and six tanks while clinging to a burning tank destroyer.

Superiors were reluctant at first to promote the baby-faced private because he "looked like a little boy." But Murphy rose to the rank of captain and commanded a company in the Third Division.

Murphy did not adjust easily to civilian life on his return from the wars. He gave away his medals to children and refused to capitalize on his fame as World War II's most decorated American soldier.

He finally tried movies, but soon labeled Hollywood "full of phonies." His first marriage to actress Wanda Hendrix lasted less than a year.

His career went downhill with grade B Westerns and he recently turned to investments in an attempt to recoup his ailing finances.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Salinger To Join McGovern Drive

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pierre Salinger, a top political aide in the Kennedy presidential campaigns, this week will join Sen. George McGovern's bid to capture the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

Salinger

Despite the most recent Gallup Poll showing McGovern running behind several other potential Democratic nominees, Salinger said in an interview yesterday he thinks the South Dakota Democrat can win if he does well in next year's primaries.

"If McGovern does well in New Hampshire, say 20 per cent of the vote, then goes on and wins in Wisconsin and Nebraska, then I think he's moving and he's got a shot at it," Salinger said. "But I think he has to win one of them."

The May 15 Gallup Poll showed McGovern with 5 per cent of the Democratic vote and 8 per cent of the independent vote, trailing such possible candidates as Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey.

Bus Safety Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The National Transportation Safety Board today recommended that interstate buses be required to use seat belts and seat belt signs.

In a set of recommendations growing out of its investigation of a Greyhound bus accident near Petersburg, Ind., Nov. 24, 1969, the board said the National Highway Traffic Safety Bureau should issue a rule requiring the seat belts. It also called for a requirement that passengers be notified by sign to fasten the belts and reminded again by the driver to use the belts.

The bureau also should study a possible standard requiring a ceiling design for buses which would "reduce or prevent" injuries in rollover accidents, the board said.

Revenue Ax

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)— Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, says he's planning a quiet little funeral for President Nixon's revenue sharing proposal.

The controversial measure comes up for hearings in Mills' committee Wednesday. The Arkansas Democrat told a news conference Monday he already has an idea of the outcome.

"I hope to preside over its demise some few days from now when we complete our hearings," Mills said shortly after addressing the Lousiana Legislature.

"It's not very popular in the Ways and Means Committee, I might add," he said. "This is not jutst my position, but his is largely a bipartisan position held by many Republicans as well as Democrats."

Armed Boat Sunk

SEOUL (UPI)—South Korean boats and jet fighters teamed to sink a heavily-armed North Korean boat today in the Yellow Sea off the southwest coast, the Defense Ministry said. It said the 15 to 17 North Korean crewmen aboard the 70-ton boat went down with their ship.

It was the third naval incident reported between the two countries in a month. On May 4 a North Korean boat fired on a South Korean coast guard patrol and on May 14 a North Korean boat was sunk near the truce zone in the eastern sea.

The Defense Ministry said a South Korean navy patrol ship spotted the North Korean boat off an island 225 miles south of Seoul and government jets were called in. The North Korean boat was sunk after a four-hour battle.

Holiday Funnels

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Memorial Day weekend ended on a dreary note for many as a rash of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms spread from Iowa and northwest Illinois to northern Texas.

At least 20 farms in northwest Iowa were damaged by high winds, large hail and tornadoes Monday night. Police reported extensive crop damage.

Three persons were slightly injured when two mobile homes were overturned in Belton, Mo., by high winds estimated at 90 to 120 miles an hour.

Hail "about the size of duck's eggs" fell on the Minnesota-Iowa border, according to the Jackson County sheriff's office. Golf ball-size hail fell at numerous locations in eastern Iowa and hail up to one-half inch in diameter whacked Columbia, Mo.

Railroad Worker Is Decapitated

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An Alhambra railroad employe was decapitated Sunday at the Union Pacific rail yards when he was attempting to couple two moving boxcars.

Authorities said Thomas MacIntosh, 22, fell and landed on the tracks.

Hit Wild Pot

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Agriculture Department says farmers have responded enthusiastically to a program that pays them for destroying wild marijuana.

Ray Hunter, a department spokesman, said Monday preliminary reports on the program "look pretty good." He said a pilot project had been started in 11 counties in 10 states.

In one area, Andrew County, Mo., farmers already have applied for more than the $5,000 allocated for destruction of marijuana, Hunter said. He said the program, two weeks old, had demonstrated there was more wild marijuana around than first estimates indicated.

U.S. Mars Ship In Outer Space

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — America's Mariner 9 Mars explorer moved a quarter of a million miles from earth today on the first leg of its 5 1-2 month journey to the mysterious red planet.

The spacecraft's next milestone will come Saturday when a brief blast from its own rocket engine will switch it onto a bulls-eye course toward the one planet given a chance to harbor life.

Mariner 9 is scheduled to swing into orbit around Mars Nov. 14, about the same time the first of two heavier Russian robots is expected to reach the planet.

Search Ends For Beat Poet Welch

NEVADA CITY, Calif. (UPI) —His friends Monday ended their search for Beat Generation poet Lew Welch, who disappeared into the rugged Sierra more than a week ago after leaving a suicide note.

Nevada County sheriff's officers said friends of the poet from the Ananda commune had ceased their search efforts and that there were no leads to Welch's whereabouts.

The 44-year-old poet from Marin City, author of "On Out" and "Hermit Poems," disappeared May 23 after leaving a note at a friend's home in Nevada County,. The note said he was a failure and planned to take his own life.

Steelworkers Sign Pacts With Aluminum Firms

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four of five major aluminum firms signed new contracts with the United Steelworkers of America (USW) Monday involving wage increases which the White House has indicated in the past are inflationary.

There was no immediate administration reaction to the new three-year contracts but the Aluminum Co. of America (ALCOA) announced a 6 per cent increase on most of its fabricated products, citing "sharply higher labor costs" resulting from the newly-negotiated agreements.

Alcoa is the largest of the companies involved in the six-week-long negotiations and the first to announce settlement with the USW. The other companies reaching agreement were Reynolds Metals, Kaiser Aluminum and Ormet Aluminum.

The only holdout was Olin Aluminum, where some 1,500 employes of the company plant at Hannibal, Ohio, began picketing at the start of the 4 p.m. shift.

A USW spokesman said he expected the strike at Hannibal to be brief although no new talks were set.

For the approximately 32,000 workers involved, the new contract means an estimated 30 per cent wage increase and fringe benefits similar to those reached between the USW and major can companies recently. Present wages average $3.60 an hour.

Traffic Awards

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Automobile Association (AAA) has selected Kansas and the cities of San Diego, Los Angeles, Madison, Wis., and Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., as grand award winners for superior achievement in preventing pedestrian traffic accidents in 1970.

He Had Been To Hell And Back: Hollywood Was 'Play-Acting'

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Audie Murphy was different from other movie stars.

Murphy called it play-acting. Others called themselves artists.

He had been "To Hell and Back" —the title of his autobiography -- and the makeup box was kid stuff compared to an ammo box.

"Acting is just a living with me. I'm not kidding myself. If it weren't for the medals I wouldn't be in Hollywood," he said once.

Murphy did not take his World War II heroics nor his designation as America's most decorated soldier seriously. Of killing, wounding or capturing 240 German soldiers and collecting 24 medals, he said, "I did what I had to do, like everybody else."

But the past clung to Murphy's name. Ironically it was during the Memorial Day weekend — the holiday designated for remembering America's warriors — that death finally caught up with the most honored of them all on a Virginia mountainside.

A sharecropper's boy in the hardpan country near Kingston, Tex., Murphy grew up with a sharp instinct for honor in the traditional sense, and quick vengeance for enemies.

On his return from Europe's war, his early acting as a contract player at Universal Studios was wooden and amateurish in "Bad Boy," "Sierra," and "Kid from Texas."

"Sierra," and "Kid from Texas."

But Murphy learned to handle a script as deftly as a rifle. He starred in more than 25 pictures. "Red Badge of Courage," and "The Quiet American," were artistic and box office successes. Another film, "To Hell and Back," which told Murphy's story, was a great money maker.

But, the baby-faced, cold-eyed man from Texas was an anachronism. The world had tired of war heroes. Hollywood believed Murphy got in on a pass.

"I don't give a damn what these SOBs think," Murphy said when he was broke and unemployed.

"I can beat this town and make a living here and I'll do it. I'm not afraid of anybody at any studio."

The luck that kept him alive on the battlefields faded with the years. Strapped for money, he appeared in one bad movie after another.

He lost $260,000 in an Algerian oil venture. Residuals from televisions showings of his old movies were attached by the Internal Revenue Service for back taxes.

He and his second wife, Pamela, separated and reconciled.

In 1962, he was accused of assault for allegedly punching a teenager but the charge was dropped. In 1970, he was acquitted in a trial for assault stemming from a brawl with a dog trainer over a fee. This year he was charged with possessing illegal blackjacks, but the charges were dropped after he argued he had authority to have them as a special officer with two law enforcement agencies.

Pamela Murphy took the news of her husband's death sadly but calmly.

"It's terrible, after all Audie's been through in his life, to have it end this way," she said.

VISITING THE MOUNTAIN KINGS

The high mountains in Glacier Park, Mont., are still blanketed by snow even though it's spring, which seems to suit these Big Horn mountain sheep just fine. Clarence Brown of the U.S. Forest Service climbed up there recently to take a close look at a group of the Big Horns, who probably are among the world's best mountain climbers.

Yuba City Body Dig Near End

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)— After two days of digging without finding more murder victims, deputies said they were "very close" today to the end of their grim search along the Feather River where the bodies of 23 slain farm workers have been unearthed.

"I believe there are bodies there we will never find because the fields have been plowed, disced and irrigated," said Sheriff Roy Whiteaker after three suspected gravesites were dug up Monday and found empty.

He ordered his men to extend the search from the Sullivan Ranch, where all but one of the hacked and stabbed itinerent farm workers were found, onto adjoining farms in this agriculture area 100 miles northwest of San Francisco.

The deputies were searching for more possible victims and for a possible "murder site."

Sources in both the sheriff's and district attorney's offices said investigators were perplexed about where the slayings occurred and were checking shacks, sheds and orchards.

Whiteaker said he hoped deputies were "very close" to the end of the organized search which started a week ago with the discovery of the second body. He said the 15 deputies had "exhausted" the "obvious" graves on the Sullivan ranch.

He said two other "indentations" in the earth —possible gravesites — were under the waters of the Feather River and could not be reached for at least 10 days. The river rose today as state engineers released more water upstream at Oroville Dam, which was at a record height from recent rains.

The sheriff also disclosed the rearrest Saturday of Roy De Long, 52, as a material witness.

New Magee Action On Fatal Shots

The court-appointed attorney for San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee today demanded that a decision be made as to which of two wounds suffered by the late Judge Harold J. Haley caused his death.

Magee is charged with firing a shotgun blast into the judge's head, but attorney Ernest L. Graves noted in his motion that Judge Haley also suffered a bullet wound in his left chest.

He also said in the motion that testimony by a pathologist before the grand jury indicated that the judge was alive when both wounds were incurred and that either could have caused death.

There is no evidence that Magee fired the bullet which caused the chest wound, Graves said.

He noted that the inmate faces an automatic death sentence if convicted of firing the shotgun blast if it killed the judge but might face only life imprisonment if the bullet killed the judge.

Graves asked the court to "make a a selection" of which wound caused death, saying that the court must rule in favor of the defendant if there is no evidence to the contrary.

He asked a hearing on this and other motions next Tuesday.

Magee and Angela Davis are due to return to court tomorrow for further hearing on motions by her attorneys.

She is charged with providing the guns used in the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Civic Center and helping plan the kidnap-escape attempt.

$25,000 Fire At Bolinas Road Home

Fire of undetermined origin did $25,000 damage yesterday to the home of B. F. Walker on Bolinas Road, just outside the Fairfax city limits.

Both the Fairfax and Marin County Fire Departments fought the blaze.

The Walker family was away at the time, but returned while the firemen were still fighting the fire, according to Marin County Fire Chief Richard D. Pedroli.

The fire started in the house's upper story, which it destroyed, Chief Pedroli said.

The call reached the Fairfax Fire Department at 11:17 a.m. as a smoke check on Cascade Drive. When that department found the fire, it started fighting it. Fairfax called the county department in whose jurisdiction it was.

Damage was estimated at $15,000 to the house and $10,000 to the contents by Chief Pedroli.

FIRE

E. Masten said today the blaze "must have been set deliberately, since there is no natural means of a fire starting out on the docks."

Although the drydocks have become a kind of floating picnic and camping ground for many Bay Area residents who dock their boats there on weekends and Holidays, the Coast Guard said no one was aboard when the firefighters arrived. A cursory search of the area revealed no clues to the fire's origin, the Coast Guard reported.

The drydocks, brought from the East Bay to Sausalito in 1966 by the late Delmar D. Wise, have been thorns in the sides of county officials who have sought — so far unsuccessfully — to have them removed by any means possible.

Roberts, who mortgaged his home in 1968 to purchase the docks, has fought county attempts to move the structures, saying he hopes to turn them into a floating cultural center.

In September of last year, after a long legal battle between the county and Roberts, Marin Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner ordered the demolition or removal of the docks. Roberts has since filed an appeal of that decision in the district court of appeals.

After rejecting as impractical suggestions the structures be burned or towed out to sea and blown up, the county called for bids for removing the million pounds of wood and learned it would cost a minimum of $74,475 to get rid of them. Roberts does not have the money to move them, according to county officials.

County supervisors rejected the "low bid" of the Richmond firm which offered to complete the demolition, then sought to have the docks removed by the Army Corps of Engineers. The structures were a hazard to navigation, the Marin County supervisors theorized, and thus were the responsibility of the engineers.

When the Army last month refused to take responsibility for moving or demolishing the docks, county supervisors announced they would seek federal legislation to enable the Army to do the job.

the hospital as they had outside the house where the girl was held.

The drama began Sunday when a woman recognized the two men from wanted posters and began screaming. The gunmen, armed with a machinegun and an automatic pistol shot and wounded her and a man bystander and fled into the house of Maj. Dincer Erkan.

They seized the 14-year-old girl and barricaded themselves in the third floor apartment of the white and yellow three story apartment house and said they would not release the hostage unless they were allowed to fly to Cyprus, Russia or Jordan.

Throughout Sunday and Monday security forces and police ringed the building and demanded the men surrender. Crowds outside howled for their scalps and at one point an officer threatened to turn the men over to mob justice. The crowd later was dispersed.

During the night police cut the building's electricity and the two gunmen replied by opening fire.

WAR

American tanks in the invasion of Cambodia a year ago but several hundred civilians were reported still living there. Their fate was not known.

Heavy fighting also was reported in Cambodia 15 miles from Phnom Penh, the capital. Capt. Chhang Song, a military spokesman reported some of the heaviest casualties of the year-long war with preliminary reports showing at least 50 wounded government troops evacuated from the scene.

Song said 200 Communists were killed in the attack on Kompong Chamlang, 15 miles east of Phnom Penh.

Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, deputy commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, and Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, military governor of Saigon and commander of South Vietnamese forces in the 11 provinces around the capital, made a hurried trip to a border area near Snuol today to confer on military, sources said.

Spokesmen for the Army of the Republic of (South) Vietnam (ARVN) denied a report by allied military sources that their 8th Task Force had withdrawn 14 miles south of Snuol to Loc Ninh, seven miles inside the South Vietnamese border.

The task force pulled back at least six miles southeast of Snuol—which would put them within a mile of the border—"but they are still in Cambodia," ARVN spokesmen in Saigon declared.

Ordinance On Council Pay Is Due

An ordinance to provide payment of $150 per month to each councilman will be introduced tomorrow at 8 p.m. by the Larkspur City Council, meeting at city hall.

Consideration of the compensation ordinance comes sandwiched between city budget sessions slated for tonight and Thursday.

The council's annual payroll would total about $9,000 per year, if approved, and would add about 2.5 cents to the city's tax rate.

The city manager has proposed a fiscal 1971-72 tax rate of $1.995 — up 10 cents from this year's. The proposed rate includes councilmen's salaries.

On other matters, the council will consider changes to the city's business license ordinance which would, among other things, assess apartment owners on the number of apartment units instead of gross income.

The council also will continue study of street lighting in Greenbrae and will hear a report from the Larkspur Town Meeting.

Bootes Resembles A Modern Kite

By SHERMAN WALKER

The Herdsman (Bootes) looks something like a kite to modern eyes but is supposed to be a man who is holding two dogs, Canes Venatici, on a leash.

The bright star of Bootes is called Arcturus. It is the fourth brightest star that can be seen from the northern half of the United States and shines with a yellowish light. It is one of the very few stars ever mentioned in the Bible.

To locate Arcturus in the sky, face southward at 9 p.m. and look at the region of the sky that is two-fifths of the distance up from the southern horizion to overhead.

Arcturus is a fast-moving star, its speed being almost 90 miles per second. Its distance is so great, however — about 33 light years from us — that it requires eight centuries to move as much as one moon diameter. It is a double star, paving a very faint close companion.

Another star that is of interest is called Mirak (Epsilon Bootis). It is a beautiful double star with orange and green-colored components of magnitudes 3 and 6. Because of its beauty and striking colors, astronomers have nicknamed it Pulcherrima.

The northern constellations often have interlocking mythological stories. In this case, Bootes is using the munting Dogs to drive the Great Bear around the pole.

Mrs. Meir Holds Secret Lodge Talks

STOCKHOLM (UPI) —Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir met three unidentified men in a remote hunting lodge in northern Finland Sunday with an Israeli arms dealer acting as host, the Swedish Broadcasting Corp. (SRT) reported today.

SRT said the representative in Finland for the Israeli weapons firm Soltam invited Mrs. Meir to a secret 24-hour visit in Rovaniemi, a city of 30,000 in Finnish Lapland.

Mrs. Meir flew from Stockholm to Rovaniemi Saturday and stayed in the Polar Hotel. Half an hour after her chartered jetliner had landed in Rovaniemi, a small private plane from Tampere, where the Soltam representative is based, touched down, SRT said.

Aboard the plane were "three men who were not Finnish," the state-owned broadcasting company said.

Mrs. Meir and the three men met for three hours Sunday in a remote hunting lodge called the Bear Pit, 20 miles outside Rovaniemi, SRT said.

The private plane, carrying the men to northern Finland, had been chartered by Tampela, a Finnish arms firm which has been part owner in the Israeli Soltam company, SRT said.

The Israeli embassy would not comment on the SRT report.

Mrs. Meir arrived in Oslo today for a 24-hour visit. Her stay coincided with a private visit to Oslo by Soviet deputy Foreign Minister Semyon Tsarapkin.

Black Policemen Are Dismissed

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — Seven black policemen, who complained of mistreatment by white officers, were summarily dismissed from the Columbus police force Monday by white Safety Director Joseph Sargis.

Sargis said the seven were dismissed because of continued "violations of regulations."

The policemen picketed police headquarters Sunday and Monday, ripping American flag patches from their uniforms and presenting them to Sargis.

The members of the Afro-American Policemen's League have been complaining of discrimination for several months. A special city panel has been appointed to study the situation and has been holding secret meetings.

Coupons Are Asked For Kidney Machine

Coupon collection boxes have been placed in Marin food stores in a campaign to collect 800,000 Betty Crocker coupons toward a kidney dialysis machine, according to Ariana H. Hall, chairman of volunteers for the Marin chapter of the Kidney Foundation of Northern California.

Mrs. Hall said that about 200,000 coupons have already been collected toward the purchase of the machine which is to be lent to a needy patient.

Guerrilla Chief's Massacre Warning

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Palestinian guerrilla leader Kamel Nasser said today in Beirut that the Jordanian army was massacring guerrillas and appealed to other Arab states for help. Military sources in Tel Aviv said Israeli security forces had been alerted for possible new guerilla attacks.

Nasser, official spokesman for the Palestinian Central Committee, called a news conference after what the guerrillas said were three consecutive days of Jordanian army attacks on Palestinian camps and bases in Jordan.

He spoke of the "continued massacre" and said, "the revolution warns against the silence of the world and will hold the world responsible for all the steps the resistance can take at all levels." He did not indicate what steps the guerrillas had in mind.

In Tel Aviv military sources said Arab guerrilla attacks were expected Saturday, June 5, the anniversary of the 1967 Middle East War.

"It is the day the terrorists would want to commemorate," the military sources said.

"We must remember this is the fourth year since the war, without any progress on the political field."

The afternoon newspaper Yedioth Aharonoth said military sources expected guerrilla activity across Israel's ceasefire line with Jordan, Syria and Lebanon and said Jordanian army efforts to curb guerrilla activity had not been entirely effective.

Palestinian refugees in Amman accused Jordanian police of opening fire on demonstrators at Amman's Wahadat refugee camp. They said 10 persons were killed and many others wounded in the shooting Monday, but there was no confirmation from other sources.

Refugees hurled stones at police and marched through the streets of the area, which houses some 31,000 refugees, after government troops blew up monuments atop two mass graves of Palestinians killed in September's civil war.

The incidents in the Wahadat camp marked the third straight day of renewed violence between Palestinians and Jordanian government forces. The guerrillas accused the army of attacks on commando bases in northern Jordan and the government claimed the guerrillas planted mines and set off charges in a phosphates factory in a sabotage campaign.

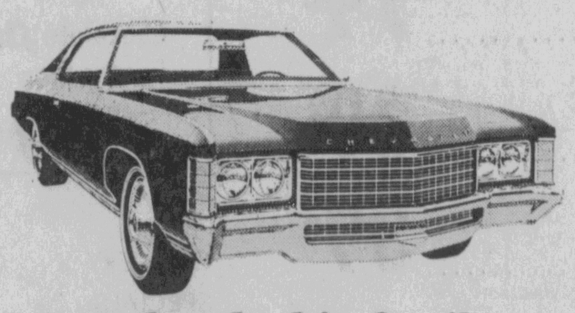
Camaro

Chevelle

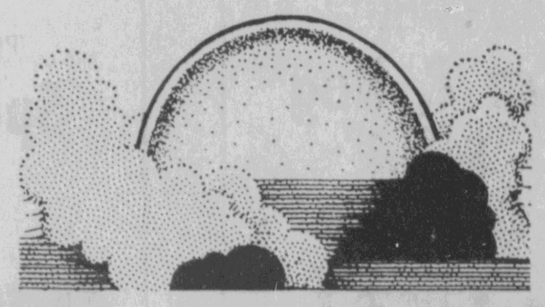
Chevrolet's Summer Sale
on all Chevelles and Camaros.

Chevrolet's Summer Sale ends the end of June. It's a sale on every model of our mid-size Chevelle and sports-size Camaro.
It's a simple sale to help you save money.
Simply order your Chevelle or Camaro with four features we think you'd want anyhow.
They are white stripe tires, the deluxe seat belts, a set of wheel covers and an AM/FM radio or any stereo equipment. (Stereo available only on Chevelle.)
By buying the package, you start summer by getting a great deal on America's most popular mid-size car or the one the readers of Car and Driver magazine picked as 1971's Best Sporty Car—the Camaro. Which, you've got to admit, isn't a half bad start.
GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE



Impala. The big family car a family man can afford.
Impala delivers you and your family more standard equipment than any other car at its price.
Turbo Hydra-matic transmission with any V8 and power steering are now standard. And that's not all.
It has built-in power front disc brakes, a built-in power ventilation system, a built-in double-panel roof that's stronger and does a better job of absorbing sound.
It has built-in side-guard door beams, built-in steel cargo guard in the trunk and more built-in room than any other car in its field (so says Automotive Industries magazine).
Not only is Impala traditionally America's No. 1 seller, it's traditionally high in holding its resale value.
See the U.S.A. in comfort, and at reasonable prices.

Nova. Mechanics say it has the "least mechanical problems."
Or how about a Nova? You know, a lot of people talk about how trouble-free and economical their cars are. But Motor Service and Service Station Management magazines asked garage owners and mechanics what they thought—which ones really have the least mechanical problems and are easiest to maintain.
Nova came out on top, right at the very top.
Nova is small enough to fit neatly into garages and tight parking spaces. Big enough to seat five in the coupe, six in the sedan.
It's economical in city driving; yet hefty enough, with standard Six or V8 engine, to give you a solid ride on any highway.



We're bringing back that good old summertime air, too.
Happily, things are looking up in the battle against air pollution. Because, fortunately, a lot has been done by Chevrolet in the past 10 years to check pollution caused by our cars.
In the early 1960's we began installing emission controls on our engines. And now, every 1971 Chevrolet is equipped to reduce hydrocarbon output by 80% and carbon monoxide emissions by about two-thirds.
You can help, too. Keep your car tuned and those pollution controls checked regularly.
Let that sun shine in.
Remember, buckling your seat and shoulder belts is an idea you can live with.

Now, have a great summer. Chevrolet

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Young Investor On Right Track

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 13 and have $600 to invest. So far I have bought shares in six companies with money I have saved. What would you suggest I buy? I like stocks paying dividends so that I can buy more. — G. H.

A. Your portfolio, which has increased in value an aggregate of 14.5 per cent to $2,410, returns a dividend yield of 2.5 per cent. Five industries are well represented: automotive, communications, insurance, leisure time and technology. The sixth issue, A. J. Industries, a conglomerate, pays no dividends and has reported a deficit in the most recent period and for fiscal 1969. Although new management has recently been installed following a proxy battle, a turn-around here may be time consuming. Rather than wait this out I would suggest utilizing this capital elsewhere.

With these funds and your $600 savings, you can purchase 12 shares of Bristol-Myers for representation in the drug industry. BMY is currently trading at 25x anticipated 1971 earnings of $2.65 a share.

Management has projected that sales this year will exceed $1 billion. In the first quarter sales gained 5.9 per cent while net rose 3 cents to 70 cents a share. A stock split and dividend increase are also possible, according to Gavin MacBain, chairman. At 20 per cent below the all-time high and 40 per cent above the 1970 low, shares have excellent long term capital growth potential.

Q. With the condition of the railroads I am concerned about the Union Tank Car Equipment Trust Certificates 7⅝s of 1989 we hold. We need income and cannot afford to lose principal. Can you advise? — A.M.

A. This $25,000,000 issue is secured by 1,850 railroad tank cars costing $33,350,000. Principal and interest on the certificates is unconditionally guaranteed by Trans Union, formerly Union Tank Car. Beginning next year $1.4 million of this series will be retired annually. Earnings coverage of interest on company debt is ample. Furthermore, earnings have moved ahead yearly with 1970 net showing a 6.5 per cent gain to $2.11 a share. Certificates quoted about 86 should be held.

GIANT PROBLEM SOLVER

A giant slide rule, used as a training aid is demonstrated by Harold S. Geneen, chairman of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., for Laura LoPresto of ITT Educational Services during the company's recent annual meeting in San Diego. The slide rule is used in the company's technical schools. IT&T reported record sales and earnings for 47 consecutive quarters at the meeting.

Living Costs Vary Widely Across U.S.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Local differences in American living costs are creating recruitment problems for industry in some high-cost areas, a federal labor statistician said today.

Herbert Bienstock, mid-Atlantic regional director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, outlined the situation at an American Compensation Association Conference.

Bienstock said a survey of 10 major U.S. Metropolitan areas a year ago showed a spread of nearly 18 per cent in medium-level living costs.

The survey showed that residents of the Pittsburgh area, at the low end of the scale, were paying $9.60 for goods and services that would cost $10 on the national average. In New York-northeastern New Jersey, the highest-cost mainland area, the same commodities cost $11.38.

Other areas covered, and local cost levels, were St. Louis, $9.89; Detroit, $9.90, Los Angeles, $10.10; Philadelphia, $10.20; Washington, $10.36; Chicago-northwestern Indiana, $10.43; San Francisco, $10.67, and Boston, $11.29.

AMEX Elects Kolton President

NEWYORK (UPI)—Paul Kolton, executive vice president of the American Stock Exchange, has been promoted to the presidency, the first career staff member to become head of AMEX.

Kolton, 47, has been with AMEX nine years in charge of operations and administration. His background was in journalism and advertising.

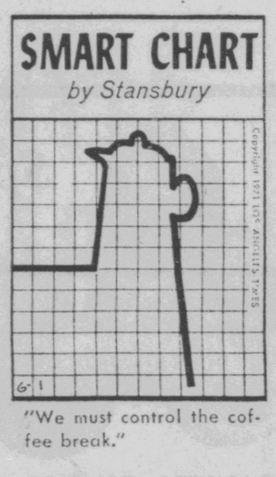
A New York native and a graduate of the University of North Carolina, Kolton will replace Ralph S. Saul, who is leaving to become an executive of First Boston Corp on June 17.

Lockheed Wins $123 Million Missile Contract

WASHINGTON, D.C. (BW) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. of Sunnyvale is being awarded $123,635,471 on a cost plus incentive fee letter contract for Poseidon fleet ballistic missile production.

This amount is in addition to the $120 million contract awarded in July 1970, the Defense Department said yesterday in announcing the deal.

Approximately $63 million of the current contract awarded is for subcontract efforts for Poseidon rocket motors by Hercules/Thiokol, a joint venture at Magna, Utah.



Savings Call For Interest Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — C.E. Bentley, president of the National League of Insured Savings Associations, says interest on FHA and VA home mortgage loans should be increased from 7 to 7½ per cent.

"The gap between bond and mortgage rates is too wide — and investors are beginning to look away from the mortgage market," Bentley said Sunday.

"This is going to have a bad impact on housing unless the rate is adjusted soon."

He said many lenders are reluctant to put money into 7 per cent mortgages when other paper is more profitable. Savings and loan associations finance most of the nation's home mortgages.

The ceilings on loans backed by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA and the Veterans Administration (VA) has been 7 per cent since Feb. 17.

George Romney, secretary of the Housing and Urban Development Department which sets the rates, cut the ceiling three times in 12 weeks to drop it from the record 8 ½ per cent that prevailed throughout most of 1970.

Squishy Contact Lens Developed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new type of contact lens is expected to to go on the market in Washington, Oregon and Alaska later this month.

The gel lenses absorb water making them flexible and soft. The new lenses are expected to attract millions of people who find present contacts uncomfortable.

Rockefeller Call For Development Bank In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — David Rockefeller, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, proposes creation of a federal urban development bank to rebuild cities and establish new ones.

Rockefeller said in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News & World Report that the bank would be funded "partly from commercial banks, who would put in the equity, and partly from insurance companies and pension funds and other institutions of that kind who would make loans to the bank at favorable interest rates."

The plan would provide $50 billion over the next 10 to 20 years for use by private developers in programs regulated by a federal agency, he said.

Recovery Noted As Market Climbs On Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market, recovering from an oversold condition, finished higher on moderate turnover today.

Some analysts also attributed demand for stocks to hopes that President Nixon will have a favorable economic message in his news conference this evening.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.54 at 100.17. Advances topped declines, 860 to 519, among the 1,646 issues on the tape.

A volume of around 12,000,000 shares compared with 11,760,000 shares traded Friday.

Among the day's most active stocks were Ling-Temco, when issued, Penn Central, Natomas, General Public Utilities, and Greyhound.

Electronics and oils attracted fair demand, with several issues in both groups gaining a point or more. Motors were in demand, while steels, chemicals, and rails traded in narrowly mixed fashion.

Aluminum shares also traded narrowly in most instances. The White House said President Nixon was disappointed at what he considered dangerous and inflationary wage increases granted by the aluminum industry.

Prices were firm on moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Drilling Set For Mono Lake

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A Bakersfield firm has been issued a permit to drill a test well near the south shore of Mono Lake to determine the feasibility of using geothermal steam there to produce electricity.

J. R. Penny, state director of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management, announced Tuesday the permit has been issued to Geothermal Resources, Inc., which has leased several tracts of lake bottom land from the state.

If sufficient steam is found, GRI and Southern California Edison Co. plan to develop steam for production of electricity. GRI officials said that if the exploration is successful, a cluster of wells is planned.

Cincinnati Law On Loitering Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court threw out today as unconstitutional a 115-year-old Cincinnati law against loitering which was used to arrest an antiwar protester.

Justice Potter Stewart, speaking for the court majority, said the statute subjected the constitutional right of assembly "to an unascertainable standard."

Potter also said the ordinance —on the books since 1856—was "unconstitutionally broad because it authorizes the punishment of constitutional protected conduct."

In other actions, the Court:

—Refused without comment to hear an appeal by Denzil R. Allen, a combat Marine who is under 10-year sentence for the slaying of five South Vietnamese civilians. The action left standing decisions of lower federal courts against his claim that the military court martial process was unfair to him.

—Ruled by a 4-3 vote that a 1920 consent decree did not bar the Greyhound Corp. from acquiring Armour & Co., the nation's second largest meat packing firm. The 1920 agreement prevented Armour and four other large meat packers from engaging in almost any aspect of the general grocery business.

The Cincinnati ordinance provided a fine of up to $50 and as much as 30 days in jail if three or more persons assembled on a street corner and conducted themselves "in a manner annoying to persons passing by."

Five persons — Dennis Coates, James Hastings, Wendell Saylor, Arnold Adams and Clifford Wyner —challenged the provision in the Supreme Court.

Coates was arrested when he and several others gathered outside the federal building in Cincinnati Dec. 7, 1967, to protest the Vietnam War and the Selective Serivce system.

"Conduct that annoys some people does not annoy others. Thus, the ordinance is vague not in the sense that it requires a person to conform his conduct to an imprecise but comprehensible normative standard, but rather in the sense that no standard of conduct is specified at all," the Supreme Court ruled.

"As a result, men of common intelligence must necessarily guess at its meaning."

The vote was 5 to 3, with Justice Hugo L. Black writing a separate opinion. Black said he agreed substantially with the majority but would prefer to send the case back to the trial court to determine whether the conduct "actually punished is the kind of conduct which it is within the power of the state to punish."

Justice Byron R. White wrote the dissent for himself, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blacmun.

Business Bureau In Data Link

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Better Business Bureau, which also serves Marin County, has been designated as one of the first 19 links in a new National Consumer Data Computer Bank, according to bureau officials.

The new data bank, aimed at creating an effective consumer "early warning system," will collect, evaluate and disseminate data on consumer concerns.

The new network will start operating in a few months from a center in Washington, D. C., and will collect data from all over the country on consumer information.

Band Planning Spring concert

The College of Marin Community Band conducted by John H. Myers will present a spring concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the college's Fine Arts Theater.

Works to be played will include Prelude to Die Meistersinger by Wagner, Giles, Farnaby Suite by Gordon Jacon, Valdres March by Hanssen, Variations on a Korean Folk Song by John Chance and An Outdoor Overture by Copland.

Terry Bozzio, the band's timpanist, and the brass sections will perform Concerto for Timpani and Brass by Jaromir Weinberger.

VOLUNTEER ARMY

Cranston, Tunney In Opposing Camps

By BENJAMIN SHORE
(I-J Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — California's two Democratic senators will take opposing positions in a scheduled Senate vote Friday to end the military draft June 30 and force an immediate switch to a volunteer army.

Should this amendment by Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., fail, as most Senate observers predict, the Senate then will consider the same day a one-year extension of the draft in an amendment offered by Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa.

Sen. Alan Cranston says he will vote for the Hatfield amendment, and if it fails, he will then vote for the one-year extension.

Sen. John V. Tunney will vote against the Hatfield amendment, and will support the one-year extension.

The Nixon Administration wants the draft extended for two years to allow more time to prepare for the change to a volunteer army. The House already has voted for the two-year extension.

Although Tunney and Cranston both say they will vote for Schweiker's one-year extension, they will do so for different reasons.

Tunney favors keeping the draft, but with annual extensions. This, he says, would allow Congress flexibility in making adjustments in the draft law, which previously had been extended by the Congress in four-year increments.

Cranston's reason is a bit more complex. Opposed to any extension of the draft, he will join Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, in a rate filibuster to keep the Senate from extending the draft law before it expires June 30. Gravel has promised to launch his filibuster if the Hatfield amendment fails.

But, explains an aide, if the filibuster should be ended by a two-thirds vote of the Senate, Cranston wants the final-passage vote to be on a one-year extension rather than two years. This his support of the Schweiker amendment is a "fall back" position, the aide said.

Should the filibuster succeed — and it takes only 34 pro-filibuster Senators to keep it alive — the Administration reportedly is prepared to induct men previously deferred under the present law, despite the fact that the country would be without a draft law as of midnight, June 30.

Therefore, Cranston has prepared an amendment that would cut off presidential power to induct the 5.7 million men already in the draft "pipeline."

KATE WEBB'S SAGA

Red Interrogation Was Tough And Frightening

By KATE WEBB
U.P. International

Editor's Note: Following is the eighth in a series of personal impressions written by UPI's 28-year-old Phnom Penh bureau chief about her capture and release 23 days later by North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia.

We were given paper for the 29-question questionnaire and I asked them for more to keep a journal. Suzuki also was keeping notes, in Japanese. They made no attempt to take them or read them, and gave us each two sheets of paper for our personal use. They are beside me as I write now, torn into a tiny book crammed with writing. Suzuki folded and tore his paper the same way; both of us ready to hide and save our notes at all costs if need be.

The questionnaire asked for all details of our families, salaries, addresses and occupations of friends, biographies and details of our capture. Suzuki struggled to answer them in English, writing hunched over the table because of his poor eyesight. We did not confer, except on the spelling of a word. The second section asked our opinions on the war. I rewrote from memory the last stories Ihad written for UPI on the military situation in Cambodia.

I found the daylong interrogation tough and worrying. Suzuki's questioning had been shorter. It was hot. There was tea and cigarettes. It was interesting, and confusing:

Why were you following the Lon Nol troops?

Why do you work for the American Imperialists?

You cannot be a neutral observer in this war. Everyone is on one side or the other.

We do not believe you put yourself in dangerous military situations if you are not CIA. Why would you risk your life if you were not?

I tried to put as much humor as I could into my answers:

Would you rather I rewrote government handouts? You, I think, could answer that better than I could . . . This is the first opportunity I have had to meet you . . . sometimes I think my profession is crazy myself . . .

They quipped in return, but I was never certain what was serious and what was not.

During the questioning I reiterated: "I am not a clairvoyant, I don't know who will win the war. If I did I would probably leave and stop reporting. I am an observer and don't have political sides, I try to report both." They brought Suzuki in.

He answered the question differently.

"How come," asked The Finger, "that you both say you are asking objectively and you both have different ideas?"

"We are different people," we replied simultaneously (I translated into French for Suzuki this time).

The interrogation group laughed and Suzuki was sent out again.

"Do you realize," said the old man in civilian clothes, "You are a prisoner of war, that one shot through the head could finish you, just like that?"

"I'm in your hand," I said, grinning. "That's up to you now, there's nothing I can do about it. Besides I don't consider myself a prisoner of war, I'm not a soldier."

"Then, consider yourself an invited guest," he said.

They all laughed, harder, at this, and the old man commented that I seemed very confident about release. There had been no threat in the tone of his voice. The interrogation often fell into a humorous vein. They seemed to be enjoying themselves, the Vietnamese, but then it would suddenly twist.

It ended on a strange note. The Finger looked up seriously, and said, "If you really are objective, as you say, you must want to stay with us, having spent so much time with the other side. Do you want to go back to your family or stay with us?"

I felt the question was serious. I sat and thought. I was in a quandary, afraid and fascinated, physically weak and aware of the worry there would be on "the other side." They were taking me up on my own statements.

I thought of my own dictum, "Dead men don't write stories." Then I answered seriously, "I'd like to stay with you a few weeks, and then return home."

Laird Says Plan For Troop Cut Ready In July

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says administration proposals for cutting U.S. troop strength in Europe will be complete in July.

Laird, speaking at a planeside news conference Sunday upon his return from a week of NATO meetings in Europe, said the proposals would be submitted to the allies for discussion before any definite steps were taken.

Any cuts in the 310,000 troops were expected to be slight and in conjunction with mutual withdrawal of Soviet troops and reduction of arms in Warsaw Pact countries. The administration mustered its forces two weeks ago to defeat a proposal by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., to pull out 150,000 men by Dec. 31.

Budget Due On Fairfax Agenda

The Fairfax School District board will discuss the proposed budget for fiscal 1971-72 at 7:45 p.m. today at the district office at 58 Park Road.

The proposal of $1,109,000 shows an increase of $45,000 over expenditures this year, according to Supt. H. Reginald Hammond. Dr. Hammond said the increases are due to higher costs of supplies, built-in salary increases and added maintenance costs.

Because of increased assessed valuation in the district, Dr. Hammond said the tax rate may go down slightly even with the larger budget.

The board also will discuss hiring a replacement for Thomas J. Kelly, principal of White Hill School, whose resignation the board accepted at a special meeting Saturday.

LINDA LEVY was a volunteer during the summer school session at Marindale School last year. She enjoyed her work so much that she applied for the work experience program at Sir Francis Drake High School and now spends mornings attending high school classes and afternoons at the school for orthopedically handicapped. She enjoys working with the students so much that she plans to begin a career in special education by working at a hospital this summer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Levy of Fairfax. SUMMER PROGRAM

Worker In Handicapped Program Needs Helpers

By JOAN LISETOR

Beverly Levy has issued the annual plea for volunteers to work with the physically and mentally handicapped children who attend the Marin County schools special education summer school program.

Two of the volunteer coordinator's best volunteers from last summer are not returning this year. One will be attending school, taking courses for a special education teaching credential and the other has turned professional and accepted a paying job working with mentally handicapped children.

Both are her daughters.

DIANE LEVY, 22, was graduated from San Jose State College last June and, not knowing what she wanted to do, offered her services to the program at Marindale School. After six months she knew what she wanted to do, says her mother, and she enrolled in graduate courses at San Francisco State College.

After working as a volunteer last summer Linda Levy requested work experience in the special education program from Sir Francis Drake High School where she is a junior. She attends Drake in the morning and is a teachers' aide at Marindale in the afternoon. Her summer job is at Center Medical Hospital in Ross.

"People ask what kind of a hold I have over my daughters," Mrs. Levy says. "The truth is I don't have a hold; they have just been exposed to my work over the dinner table."

The only member of the Fairfax family not involved in special education is Mrs. Levy's husband, Myron, but, she says, he is interested in attending programs at the school and pitches in when he is needed.

SEVEN YEARS ago Beverly Levy asked the Volunteer Bureau of Marin where her services would be needed.

"I never dreamed my volunteer work would lead to this job," she says. "Marion Kelly (director of the Volunteer Bureau) told me that volunteers were needed to work with orthopedically handicapped children at Marindale. I was hestiant becuase I had never worked with the handicapped before.

"Marion said, 'Go out and look around for a few days,' and I did, like what I saw and stayed with the volunteer program for six years."

Mrs. Levy says when she talks to a person who is unsure about working with handicapped children she tells them not to be ashamed of how they feel.

"Most every volunteer overcomes the reservations," she says. "Mostly what I look for in volunteers is a desire to work with the youngsters."

THAT DESIRE, she says, is more important than training.

"We have plenty of professionals," Mrs. Levy explains, "what we need for the summer program are volunteers as adjuncts to the teachers, mostly to do the busy work that the teacher does not have time to do.

"Overly trained volunteers are a hazard. We want volunteers who are willing to listen and learn and serve as helping hands."

Teachers are so grateful for the help of volunteers that they are willing to explain what they want when making a request of a volunteer, she says.

In all Mrs. Levy estimates the program will need 110 volunteers to assist at either seven or eight locations.

"Students must be at least 15 years old or have completed the ninth grade," she says. "We need adult volunteers also. They lend stability to the program."

"THE GREATEST need is always for teachers' assistants to help with finger painting, pottery, games and on the playground," she says. "Often a volunteer will work on a one-to-one basis with a student, and sometimes a special need will arise.

"Last year one of the therapists thought a child was ready to ride a bicycle and was getting nowhere until a volunteer with a motorcycle took him out in the parking lot and enticed him to ride by leading him around."

At Marindale volunteers are needed to help with patterning of orthopedically handicapped children. An orientation session for that specialty will teach volunteers how to lift, brace, feed and dress the children.

Summer school session will be from June 23 to July 30, five days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The only exception is Forest Meadows Development Center for mentally retarded which continues throughout the year.

OTHER LOCATIONS are Magnolia Park School for trainable mentally retarded teen-age through 21-year-olds, Oakview School for kindergarten through sixth grade mentally handicapped, Gallinas School annex and possibly Meadow Park School for hearing handicapped, Henry C. Hall School for autistic children and San Clemente School for aphasiac youngsters.

An attempt is made to place volunteers geographically, by their skills and special interests.

"Many volunteers return summer after summer," says Mrs. Levy. "They say working with the youngsters is richly rewarding and I hear from most of them that they get more out of it than they put into it. Anyone wondering 'What am I going to do this summer?" can contact me mornings at Marindale for more information about the program."

Fatherhood—Symbol Of Time

Although we Americans identify the "Father of his country" with George Washington, Julius Caesar was the first of a long line of men who were honored with this title.

Fatherhood has always been held with high regard throughout history. For this reason "father" has been used in many instances as a favorite title. For example, in ancient Rome, senators were called fathers or patres. It is from this word that we derive the words patrician and patriotic.

Look back into our own history. We've had the Pilgrim Fathers, the Puritan Fathers and the Founding Fathers who framed the Constitution. For more than a century, the senior member of the house of Representatives was called "Father of the house."

HELEN HELP US!

Teen-Ager Answers Peers' Complaints About Elders

DEAR HELEN:

I'm 16 and proud to be a member of my generation, but I'd like to answer three major teen protests that often appear in your column.

First — to the kids who complain that store clerks are mean to them:

Are you sure you don't give the clerks reason to put you down? Or watch you suspiciously? Or wait on you last? Have you ever tried smiling at the person behind the counter, or saying something friendly? I have, and it works fine. Just remember she may have had cranky people to contend with before you came in, so leave her smiling! You'll hit a few "impossibles," but with most people, what you give is what you get.

Second — to students who think they don't deserve homework because office workers don't have any:

A teacher has only 50 minutes a day to teach one course. She can get you started, but YOU have to take it from there, with individual work. She spends a lot of extra hours correcting your home assignments, and not many are simply "busy work."

An employee who doesn't put in overtime and spends off-hours thinking about his job isn't likely to get ahead.

Third — to those who would put down the Establishment. Are you smart enough to replace it? Protest is fine if you've got something better to offer, that won't get us in an even bigger mess. But constant complaints (riots, bombings, take-overs) only make solutions that much harder to find. Why can't we all listen to each other? It's good to point out what's wrong, but only if we work like crazy to right it. — ANN T.

DEAR ANN:

Thanks for your good letter.

What we need is intelligent protest, educated listening, cooperative effort, and a lot more appreciation for what's right about the world. Recognizing problems is the first step toward solving them, but it takes optimism as well as awareness and work to really change things. Right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I was so-o-o happy when my boy friend got a special pass to come home from Army camp — until he told me how he got it.

He handed his superior officer this sob story about his girl being pregnant and he had to get there right away so he could marry her. I'm the girl, and I'm not pg, and we don't plan to marry until he's out of the service!

I asked him how he'd explain that the wedding didn't come off and he said, "Don't worry, I'll manage." Knowing my boy friend, it will be a great story.

What if at some time I happen to meet the man he tells it to? — N.O.T.

DEAR N.:

Then you'll meet either a nice guy who knows he is being conned but still gives leaves to homesick soldiers; or a gullible officer who actually believes that well-worn pitch for an emergency pass.

Whichever, you have nothing to worry about — and aren't you glad! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I like school a lot, but gosh, do we have to be told how to dress. We can't even wear sandals without hose, and boys can't wear them, period. Wearing shorts is a crime — and it's hot here! The guys must have their hair cut short, and the girls can't wear pants even in winter. I thought a Supreme Court ruling made those kinds of goofy laws illegal. — MAD

DEAR MAD:

So says a recent issue of Co-Ed Magazine. Why don't you look it up in your school library and leave the article on your principal's desk? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Please Your Cooking Dad

A complaint heard often before Father's Day is that a woman can always use another trinket but it's so hard to think of anything different yet inexpensive for a man.

Too true, but you're in luck if you have a husband or father who enjoys cooking up a gourmet dish once in a while. Specialty and department stores have culinary gadgets that may gladden the heart of the sometime chief who never can seem to find what he wants in the kitchen.

Beer In Cooking

Beer, an 8,000-year-old beverage, is becoming popular as a cooking ingredient, according to the United Sates Brewers Association. Beer is appearing in various recipes in national magazines and newspapers throughout the country.

Mrs. Gary L. Church To Head Sigma Kappa

MRS. GARY CHURCH
Elected by Sigma Kappa

A former teacher, Mrs. Gary L. Church of Novato, has been elected to head the Marin Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Kappa.

Judith Church, who was vice president last year, says the club will have a calendar of meetings and fund-raising ideas ready for the members in June to carry the group through the year. The club stresses friendship and community service. Each Sigma Kappa member volunteers one morning a month for the San Rafael Convalescent Hospital's arts and crafts program. The group also raises funds for college groups and the Volunteer Bureau of Marin.

A native of Detroit, she holds a degree in education from Purdue University and taught school in Ceres for a year-and-a-half.

The Churches have lived in Marin for two-and-a-half years and are the parents of Stephanie Lynn, 2, and Andrea Lise, 7 months old.

Mrs. Evans enjoys reading and she creates wearing apparel and craft items for her family and for sale.

Other officers of Sigma Kappa this year are Mmes. Robert Fujimoto, vice president; Allan Hoover, secretary; Larry Rich, treasurer; Herb Gregory, gerontology chairman; John Donovan, Bay Area Council secretary; and Howard Rice, Panhellenic delegate.

Model Airplanes For Fathers

If father is chained to an office day after day, get him out in the sun and wind with a flying model plane. They come in various sizes, ready-to-fly or as kits to assembly on his own. He'll recapture his youth.

He'll never realize how good the mental and physical exercise of this hobby is until he's out in the air piloting his plane.

Women's Equal TV Opportunity Checked

To accumulate data on the number of women who appear on television and the way in which they are used, the National Organization for Women reports it will begin monitoring television stations around the country next month.

Mary Jean Robson, Midwest regional director for NOW, said that data will be tabulated on use of women both in programming and advertising and used, if necessary, against a station during its license renewal proceedings with the Federal Communications Commission.

Carpet Fire Law

On April 15 it became illegal in the United States to manufacture carpets larger than 24 square feet—or hall and stair carpets longer than six feet—that are not flame resistant.

Small Children Need Watching At Pools

Older children can be "drown proofed" in swimming classes and water safety courses but toddlers usually cannot save themselves, State Public Health Director Louis F. Saylor warns.

"If you own a swimming pool, it is your responsibility to watch small children and not assume they are safe while out of the water," he says.

Of the 171 drownings in California which occurred in home swimming or wading pools last year, 105 were among children aged 1 to 3. In at least 20 cases, according to Dr. Saylor, tricycles used by the victims were found on the pool bottom or overturned on a surrounding walkway.

He suggests fencing — with a gate that a small child cannot open unaided — be installed around home pools as a safety measure. If this is impractical, adults or competent older youngsters should always be present to keep younger children from danger.

Adults are not immune to home swimming pool fatalities, Dr. Saylor says.

"About half of the 40 drownings last year among older persons involved the prior use of alcohol or drugs. There were 36 more drownings in home pools last year than in 1969," he says.

All drownings in California have increased 75 per cent since 1962; home pool drownings went up 60 per cent in the same period. The total number of drownings from all causes last year was 851, of which 712 were associated with recreational activites.

For advice on the proper care of a home pool, Dr. Saylor suggests calling the local health department. Managers of public pools also may obtain copies of state regulations from local health officers.

Mortality Rate Down For Women

If you're a woman who has reached her 45th birthday, you can breathe easier now.

A recent study by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has revealed that mortality among women 45 and older is on the decrease in the United States.

Sharing the good fortune are over-45 females in Canada and Western Europe. These women have been enjoying a steadily decreasing incidence of mortality in all age groups, according to the Metropolitan Life survey.

The study points out that, because of its size, population, diversity and degree of industrialization, the United States is more reasonably regarded as a continent rather than a homogeneous national entity.

Therefore, it is more meaningful to compare the mortality rates for the United States as a whole with a block of the more industrialized Western European countries such as the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Ireland and Belgium, rather than with small national units such as Norway, Denmark, Sweden and the Netherlands.

Females in the United States had lower death rates than their European counterparts at ages 65-84.

Another French Cook Book

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—The third member of that three-woman team who wrote a famous book on French cooking is back at the front burner again—with a cookbook all her own.

The publication in the United States in 1961 of "Mastering the Art of French Cooking" was the work of Julia Child, an American, and Louise Bertholle and Simone Beck, both French-born. An immediate hit, the book may have done for French cuisine what spaghetti did for Italy. Almost overnight, amateur American cooks graduated from steaks into the world of quenelle de brochet, rond de gigot aux herbes and other marvels of French cooking.

MRS. CHILD burst onto the U.S. television scene with a program to teach the masses how to cut truffles and blanch green beans and even got some of the credit for starting the wine-drinking trend in America. Mrs. Child, by now practically a household word in America, and Mrs. Beck last year published a sequel to "Mastering" but Mrs. Bertholle's name was missing from the cover.

turns out to be not only alive and cooking well in Paris but bowing back into bookstores in autumn with her own hefty work, "The 365 Best Recipes from the Best Restaurants of France." Written in French, it will be translated into other languages.

Mrs. Bertholle wrangled recipes from every restaurant in France that has the three stars in the Michelin Restaurant Guide and many of those with two stars. One prize was the secret recipe for piece de boeuf a la royale from the Restaurant de Pyramide in Vienna. Laperouse in Paris parted with the formula for steak saute, the Auberge du Pere Bise in Talloires contributed feuilletes aux ris de veau, and so on from other highly rated eateries.

Mrs. Bertholle said she "separated" from her two collaborators some years ago around the time she married and became the Comtesse de Maleche. She has not seen Mrs. Child for some time but "I see Simone now and then; she is an old friend." "I got interested in cooking after the war, started collecting recipes and cooked by myself for 20 years," said the countess, sitting in her luxurious apartment on Victor Hugo Avenue. "Then I had a chance to learn my classical cooking from Pellaprat, a pupil of Escoffier (famous French chef)."

IN 1950, she and Mrs. Beck met Mrs. gchild, the wife of a U.S. Embassy official, and the three opened a cooking school, "Ecole de Trois Gourmands", in Mrs. Child's apartment. After the Childs were transferred to Germany, Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Bertholle continued the school in the Bertholle flat until 1967, with most of their pupils American women. The three took 10 years to compile their "Mastering".

Mrs. Bertholle urged all amateur chefs to go to a cooking school because "You have to study enough to be able to do cooking easily. I don't believe in self-made cooks. You have to have a classical base."

Mrs. Bertholle does almost all the cooking at home.

"I miss cooking when I go on holiday," she said. "It's very important, cooking. A woman who really cooks has a different kind of house and family, a different way of life. My two children and my seven grandchildren always ask what we are going to eat and give me criticisms."

THE COOKING teacher often dines out with her husband in "haute cuisine" or super-fancy restaurants because "I can do bistro food better at home." Her favorite Paris restaurant is Lasserre.

Mrs. Bertholle turned to her kitchen—spotless, large and modern—and started on dinner featuring roast duck with white peaches.

Young Frenchwomen have simplified cuisine these days because of the shortage of time, she said, but "French cuisine is not dying. There will always be French cooking. It is immortal."

Bright Colors On Classic Furniture

The association of traditional furniture with only wood finishes is passe. At a recent furniture show in North Carolina new, misty painted finishes on many period pieces had names like antique sky blue, creamy apricot, tany yellow, silent green and deep celery.

The colors bring a fresh, bright look to the classic 18th Century furniture styles in tables, chairs, armoires and chests and contrast with pieces that have darker, natural wood grain finishes.

Meat Eating On Increase

Meat consumption per person in the United States has increased 40 pounds per person in the past 20 years, according to the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Americans set a new record in 1970 of 185 pounds, which means the livestock and meat industry not only has been able to keep up with the population increase but also has produced more meat for each of us.

Following the United States among the top per capita meat consumption countries are Canada, 156 pounds; United Kingdom, 137 pounds; and France, 135 pounds.

Today is Tuesday, June 1, the 152nd day of 1971.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Gemini.

British poet John Masefield was born June 1, 1878.

On this day in history:

In 1812 President James Madison warned Congress that war with Great Britain was inevitable.

In 1958 General Charles De Gaulle was named premier of France. He resigned 14 years later.

In 1964 the U.S. Supreme Court barred prayers and Bible teaching in public schools.

In 1968 Helen Keller, the blind teacher, died at the age of 87 in Westport, Conn.

A thought for today: John Masefield said, "The rain that makes things new, the earth that hides things old."

'Irreversible' End To War Is Seen

HAMILTON, N.Y. (UPI)— Secretary of State William P. Rogers says President Nixon is getting the United States out of Vietnam and his program for winding the war down is "irreversible."

Rogers, in a commencement address Sunday at his alma mater, Colgate University, defended the President's handling of the war despite demands from students last year that he resign from the university's board of trustees because of the Nixon administration's Vietnam policies.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Special Spot In Hades Reserved For Those Who Sin At Bridge

It was probably Dante who pointed out that a special circle of the infernal regions is reserved for bridge players who throw away the setting trick in their eagerness to signal strength to partner. In some cases the sinner is punished before he dies. Today's hand has been published a dozen times, much to the grief of the East players.

TWINS DEFENDING

The occasion was the match between Great Britain and Germany in the European Championships of 1958. The Sharples brothers, identical twins, were defending against the German declarer, Rudi Chodziesner.

One of the twins (I have never been able to tell them apart) led the king of clubs and then continued with the ace. His brother won himself a passport to Hades by discarding the nine of spades on the ace of clubs.

It looked safe, but this exuberant discard gave declarer the contract.

Chodziesner ruffed the second club, cashed the king of diamonds and then led his spade. West played the jack (at which declarer smiled ghoulishly) and dummy's king lost to the ace.

VAIN ATTEMPT

East returned a heart in a vain attempt to get the setting trick in that suit. Declarer won in dummy and returned the eight of spades. East covered with the ten, and South ruffed.

Declarer led a trump to dummy's seven and returned the six of spades. East covered with the seven, and South ruffed.

Declarer led a trump to the ace and returned the four of spades. East had to cover with the queen, and South ruffed once again.

NOBODY SPOKE

Now the only spades left were dummy's three and East's deuce. South led a heart to dummy and cashed the three of spades to discard his last heart.

Nobody said a word, but a reporter at the table (it wasn't Dante) copied the hand and asked East if he had any comments. He had some, but they won't appear in this report.

ANSWER: Bid four diamonds unless you are vulnerable against non-vulnerable opponents. (In that unfavorable vulnerability, bid only three diamonds.) Your hand is worthless for defense but will take seven tricks if diamonds are trumps. Your honors will slightly cushion The blow if you are doubled and defeated the maximum.

Students To Give Report On Marshes

The results of student studies of four marshes in Marin County will be presented at 8 p.m. tomorrow in a public meeting at the little theater at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo.

In the program, entitled "Marshlands are Not Wastelands," the students will give their findings on a Mill Valley marsh which has been diked off, a Corte Madera marsh, China Camp marsh and Lower Tubbs Island.

The study was made possible through a grant from the National Audubon Society through the society's educational program at the Richardson Bay Wildlife Sanctuary. The students recorded variations in salinity, differences in plant zoning, numbers of organisms found in mud flats and animal life seen in the marshes.

Rudy Genetti, science teacher at the high school, directed the study. Phyllis Faber of Mill Valley and Mrs. Rembert Kingsley of Ross were consultants. Dr. William M. Kortum of the California Coastal Alliance will give a slide presentation on the status of our coastal lands. He will discuss pending state legislation to protect our coast.

First Look Thursday At New Countywide Goals

Marin should strive to become less a bedroom community and more a self-sufficient economic unit.

This is one of the main goals outlined in the preliminary countywide general plan, which will get its first public airing before the Marin City-County Planning Council Thursday Night. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the faculty lounge at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

Here are some of the recommendations made in the preliminary countywide plan prepared by the county planning department:

URBAN GROWTH — Future urban growth should be focussed on existing city centers and accommodated within the present six city areas in the eastern third of the county (along Highway 101).

VISITOR ENTERPRISE — Positive efforts should be made to establish a resort complex and other visitor services in the coastal recreation corridor (West Marin) and thus boost the county's economy.

INDUSTRIAL — Space should be reserved for small producers using highly skilled craftsmen, producers of arts and crafts, and office and research centers.

COMMERCIAL — New commercial growth should be channeled to sites adjacent to existing downtowns and shopping centers. High grade restaurants and fun shopping areas should be encouraged.

OPEN SPACE — In the eastern urban corridor, the bay shoreline and the ridgeland should be acquired for open space. Ranch lands in the Nicasio and San Geronimo valleys should be preserved, and residential development centered around existing villages. In the coastal recreation corridor, the Golden Gate National Recreation Area should be established, and a parkway from the bridge to Point Reyes National Seashore. Marin should focus efforts on preserving Bolinas Lagoon and Tomales Bay.

GEOLOGIC HAZARDS — Special regulations should be set up to restrict development along the San Andreas fault and on unstable hillsides and eroding sea cliffs.

UTILITIES — Precedence should be given to replacing or improving inadequate plants and lines in developed areas before service is extended to new areas.

HOUSING — Low and moderate income housing should be encouraged by various means including zoning and incentives to developers.

BALANCED TRANSPORTATION — The optimum bus and ferry transit systems should be established as planned. Any expansion of the highway system should be limited to the urban corridor along Highway 101, with the exception of the Point Reyes National Parkway.

Review Of Budget Due Commission

The Corte Madera Parks and Recreation Commission, meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at town hall, will begin review of its proposed fiscal 1971-72 budget totaling about $30,000.

The commission also is expected to discuss its summer recreation program and proposed bicycle routes through town.

Community, Police Affairs To Be Discussed

Police-community problems in San Anselmo and Fairfax will be discussed at 8 p.m. Thursday in a community seminary in the faculty lounge of Drake High School.

The program which includes a workshop and panel is sponsored by the Marin County Police Community Relations Program and is the fifth in its series of seminars.

Moderator will be Dr. William S. Scalopino, head of the behavioral science department at the College of Marin.

'Die Fledermaus' Set Two Nights

The San Francisco Lamplighters will present Johan Strauss' "Die Fledermaus" at 5:30 p.m. June 18 and 19 at the San Rafael High School Auditorium.

The production, sponsored by the Marin Shakespeare Festival and the high school's drama club, is a musical comedy directed by Orva Hoskinson, founder of the Lamplighters. Hoskinson also plays Gabriel von Eisenstein, the lead.

The festival will present the Margot Jones Dance Company at 8 p.m. June 24, 25 and 26 at Forest Meadows Theatre on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael.

The first gas street-lighting system was introduced in Baltimore in 1817.

Three Picked For Sonoma State Panel

Three Sonoma County residents have been appointed to the advisory board of Sonoma State College, according to E. Guy Warren, chairman of the California State College Board of Trustees.

Named to terms continuing until Sept. 30, 1974, were Helen Rudee, John W. Kelly of Santa Rosa and Stephen K. Jones of Cotati.

The new appointees raise the advisory board membership from eight to 11 members. The state code permits 13 members. All were recommended by Sonoma State president Thomas H. McGrath.

Mrs. Rudee serves on the board of directors of Rone Hospital and is secretary of the Sonoma County Health Planning Council. She is also clerk of the Santa Rosa Board of Education, secretary of the Sonoma County School Trustees Association, a director of the Friends of Santa Rosa and the Sonoma County Public Library.

Mrs. Rudee, a registered nurse, is also chairman of the youth section of the Sonoma County Council on Community Services and a member of the Stanford Nurses Club.

Kelly, a Sonoma State graduate, is employed by Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. and is a director and former president of the Sonoma State Alumni Association.

He is a member of the Council of California State College Alumni Association, the Sonoma County Estate Planning Council and the Santa Rosa 20-30 Club.

Jones is manager of the Cotati branch of the Exchange Bank of Santa Rosa. He is president of the Cotati Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the Cotati Citizens Planning Advisory Committee on the Cotati general plan. Jones has been active in 4-H work for five years and is also a member of the 20-30 Club of Santa Rosa.

Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $363 and an undetermined amount of food were taken between 8 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday from Foremost Foods Co. of 648 Lindaro Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Hearing Set For Pair In Burglary

Arrested Friday were John Robert Oates of 8 Alexander Avenue and Ross Sheffield Murphy, 20, of 75 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae.

Officers said the two were stopped in San Anselmo after a Greenbrae woman told police they had attempted to enter her home and later entered that of a neighbor, Aubrey C. Mendle, of 50 Via Cheparro.

When stopped, San Anselmo officers said, the auto in which the two men were riding contained about $450 worth of stereo equipment and a camera owned by Mendle.

Murphy was released Friday from Marin Conty Jail on $3,125 bail and Oates on $2,500. Both were scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Social Security Amount Rises

Social security checks this month will show a 10 per cent increase retroactive to January, according to Ed Leuin, social security manager in San Rafael.

Leuin said benefits are due to the general increase signed into law March 17 by President Nixon.

Recipients will receive the first check containing the increase this week; a separate check covering the retroactive amounts from January through April will be sent later in June.

Librarians Will Meet Tomorrow

The Bay Area Reference Librarians Council will hold a dinner meeting at the Tiburon Lodge at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Richard Hastings, assistant librarian of the Marin County Library, will preside. A four-man panel will discuss "The Future of the Bay Area."

Terra Linda Boys Due Eagle Rank

Two 15-year-old Terra Linda boys will receive Eagle Awards in a Boy Scout Troop 76 court of honor at 8 o'clock tonight in Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda.

The top rank in scouting will go to David Starkweather, son of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Starkweather of 612 Las Colindas Road, and Tim Blewett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blewett of 405 Holly Drive. Both boys are sophomores at Terra Linda High School.

Starkweather has been troop scribe, patrol leader and senior patrol leader. For his Eagle project, he organized and did much of the publicity and maintenance of the troop's newspaper recycling station.

He plays the cello in his school orchestra and in the Marin Youth Orchestra, and is interested in gardening, hiking, backpacking, skiing and coin collecting.

Blewett is senior patrol leader in his troop and has been to Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico. He has participated in several High Sierra backpacking expeditions and holds the brotherhood rank in the Order of the Arrow. He is a member of the wrestling team at school.

Blewett will be craft director at Marin Sierra summer camp.

OLSON BRILLIANT

Marin 'Cats Are Champs

By PAUL CANE

A virtually unknown substitute outfielder provided the two game-winning hits yesterday, as the Marin Catholic Wildcats won their second Redwood High School Tournament of Champions with a 4-0 victory over Kennedy of Fremont before 2,250 fans at San Rafael's Albert Park.

Left fielder Mickey Hurley, who hasn't even played in half of Marin Catholic's games, got his chance yesterday and came through with two clutch hits and knocked in two runs for the Wildcats, who became the only team to win the tournament twice in its eight-year history.

Marin Catholic's pitcher, righthander Tom Olson, matched exactly his performance of Friday night with yet another two-hit shutout. Only one Kennedy runner even got as far as third base, as Olson wrapped up a near-perfect 10-1 won-lost season for himself with 18 scoreless innings in succession in the tournament.

Olson, joined by batterymate Paul Riccardi, were selected for the all-tournament team. Riccardi, in addition to calling three flawless games, picked up three hits, including a triple, and scored three runs for Marin Catholic during the tournament. He also saved Olson's shutout with a tremendous tag on a close play at the plate at Castlemont's Danny Jones Friday night.

Sunset High of Hayward emerged victorious over Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park 1-0 in the third-place game; Richmond shut out Moreau of Hayward 4-0 for the Consolation Title (5th Place); and Ygnacio of Concord dealt Castlemont of Oakland its third loss in three starts 4-1, for 7th place in the other tournament games yesterday.

Kennedy pitcher Dennis DeBaar, also named to the all-tourney team, certainly did not deserve the defeat he suffered. Hurley's two sharp hits were the only solid base knocks off DeBaar, who was victimized by the errors of his teammates, and by infield hits.

In the three-run second, Vince Bormolini worked the count to three and two before drawing a walk. Chuck Lauderback, attempting to sacrifice on a DeBaar fastball, bunted the ball right back to the pitcher, who wheeled and fired a strike to second in an attempt to get the force on Bormolini. But shortstop Dave Christian couldn't handle the perfect throw, and all runners were safe.

Steve Sherry moved both runners along on a sacrifice bunt, and after Riccardi was called out on strikes, Hurley came up for his first act of heroism.

The righthanded batter lined the ball sharply into right field, scoring Bormolini, and advanced to second on the throw back in. This was the first time a Wildcat batsman had even made good contact with one of DeBaar's amazing fastballs or curves.

METS FALL VICTIM

Mays Is Master Of Game

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Someone once said Willie Mays can beat you 100 different ways.

That might be a slight exaggeration, because Monday he helped the San Francisco Giants beat the New York Mets, 2-1, in 11 innings in only six different ways.

The 40-year-old super star, who seems this year to have torn a page from his own book of life of at least 10 years ago, "did it all," as they say in the dugouts, to beat the Mets.

He hit his 11th homer in the eighth with the Giants behind 1-0 and he did it on a 3-0 count. Jerry Koosman, the Mets' star lefthander, shook his head in disbelief and disgust while Mays danced around the bases to the delight of a holiday crowd of 26,087.

"I'm on my own in that situation," said Mays. "If there is a chance to tie or win it, I'll swing if the pitch is anywhere near the plate. If we are two behind, naturally, I have to take it and hope to get on with a walk."

That was only the beginning.

In the top of the ninth Mays made two star plays while filling in at first for the injured and hobbling Willie McCovey.

On the first, Tito Fuentes, who drove Mays home from third with a sacrifice fly to right in the 11th for the game winning blow, ranged behind second to pick up a grounder by Cleon Jones. Tito whirled off balance and zipped the ball to first but it didn't have much on it and barely got there, but Mays converted it into an out with a long stretch and grab.

Bob Aspromonte followed with a walk and Al Weis went in to run for him. Then Jerry Grote, who already had two of the mets seven hits, lined a vicious liner wide of first. Reacting with the crack of the bat, Mays got his glove in front of the ball. It bounded in front of him and right into pitcher Jerry Johnson's glove. Johnson threw to second to easily trap Weis, and a fielder's choice grounder ended the inning.

In the 10th, Koosman singled leading off. But when Don Hahn, who had leaped high against the fence in center in the sixth to take a two-run homer away from Mays, bunted toward first, Mays scooped up the ball and in one motion threw hard to second to just nip Koosman. He followed that by backing up and grabbing a short popup by Bud Harrelson with his back to the plate.

If that wasn't enough, Mays still had a trick left for the 11th.

He walked leading off the frame to finish Koosman, who took his third loss in six decisions despite giving up only five

Willsey Guest Speaker At Cal Alumni Meet

SPORTS IN SHORTS. . .

Ray Willsey, a hero at University of California since coaching the Bears back to football respectability in recent seasons, will be guest speaker at the U.C. Alumni Club of Marin County meeting tonight, 8 o'clock, at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael.

Alumni board member John S. Russell notes with pride that Willsey's Bears beat both Rose Bowl champion Stanford and USC last year and expects a large turnout for tonight's coffee and dessert meeting. The U.C. Alumni Club has 4,000 members in Marin. Brew up some extra coffee, chef.

WOMEN'S LIBERATION is making advances on Marin's tennis courts. Director Don Reuter of the Marin County Heart Association announces that the third annual Tennis Tournament for Heart, previously an all men's singles and doubles event, will be open also to mixed doubles June 12-13 and June 19-20 at San Domenico School for Girls in San Anselmo.

Last year the tourney netted $800 for heart research and Chairman John Walker predicts higher proceeds this year, thanks to the additional dollies.

TEN-YEAR-OLD Jim "Kidd" Andersen of San Rafael is a real baseball buff. The other day I spotted him in a Giants' T-shirt and an Athletics' cap. He said his favorite colors are Kelly green, California gold, wedding gown white and Vida Blue. I think he favors the A's.

EUGENE KILGORE III of Tiburon and Scott Walker of Mill Valley, both teeners, will have an exotic summer, visiting such faraway places as England, Scotland, Germany, France, Italy and Yugoslavia.

That's because they're members of the Shawnigan Lake School for Boys (Vancouver, B.C.) varsity crew that has qualified for international rowing competition in Europe this summer.

IT STARTED out seven years ago as just a little Memorial Day entertainment for the kids in the neighborhood, but yesterday's Bogey Lane Invitational Saop Box Derby at the Marin Country Club Estates in Novato drew 75 cars and a crowd of 400 persons.

Publicity Chairman Selina Lindauer said: "It's become so big we just can't handle any more spectators. Yesterday they were trampling over gardens on Bogey Lane."

By the way, all the entry fees for the homemade cars and proceeds from refreshment sales were returned to the children in the form of gift certificates.

Aparicio's Record Of Batting Futility

BOSTON (UPI)—Everybody knows Joe DiMaggio holds the major league consecutive game hitting streak at 56 games but there's a roaring debate over the holder of the record for hitless trips to the plate.

Best available statistics show that if Boston shortstop Luis Aparicio hasn't broken the record, he's giving it a whale of a fight.

Aparicio went hitless in four trips in the first game of Monday's doubleheader and sat out the second game. The four fruitless trips extended his hitless string to 44 tries which is widely recorded as the modern record for non-pitchers.

In the process of going 0-for-4 Monday, Luis demonstrated more of his miserable luck. He was robbed by Ed Kirkpatrick on a shot to left field and he had a screamer to right go foul by inches.

The 37-year-old Aparicio sat out the second game Monday with John Kennedy getting two singles in four tries and the Red Sox indicated Luis would probably be "rested" again today.

Aparicio, whose average dipped to .154, still was able to joke with writers. Noting he currently was living in a sixth floor hotel room, he said he'd better move to a lower floor to remove the temptation. He also noted that "if I were the manager, I don't think I'd go with me this long" and "if I were the fans, I'd boo me too."

Stan Smith Wins Match In French Tennis Play

PARIS (UPI)—Sixth seeded Stan Smith struggled through the fourth round of the men's singles in the $100,000 French Open tennis championships today to give the United States three players in the last eight.

Smith, the 6-foot-4 inch independent pro from Pasadena, Calif., beat France's Patrice Dominguez 6-4, 2-6, 8-6, 6-2 despite never showing his top form.

Smith, a private first class (PFC) in the U.S. Army and currently on leave to "warm up" for the Davis Cup, found the sluggish center clay court of Roland Garros Stadium went against his normally fast game.

Evonne Goolagong, the Australian No. 3 seed, produced some superb tennis to go through to the women's singles semifinals at the expense of French pro Francoise Durr.

Miss Goolagong — her backhand in devastating form — swept past the French girl 6-3, 6-0 to raise Australia's hopes that the women's title may yet come home despite the shock defeat Sunday of top seed Margaret Court.

Davis Continues Bat Work For A's

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tommy Davis is trying hard to crack the starting lineup of the Oakland Athletics.

Taking over at first base for Mike Epstein, Davis collected five hits in nine at-bats Monday to help the A's gain a doubleheader split with the New York Yankees. That boosted Davis' batting average to .322, one of the highest on the club.

Davis singled home the tie-breaking run and ignited a three-run fifth inning to pace the A's to a 6-3 win in the second game. The Yankees snapped Jim Hunter's eight-game winning streak in the opener by whipping Oakland 5-3 behind a three-run homer by Johnny Ellis.

Epstein has been batting .291 with three homers since coming to the A's from Washington in a trade. So A's manager Dick Williams finds himself with two first basemen, one batting lefthanded (Epstein) and the other righthanded, who are hitting the ball with regularity.

Oakland closes its three-game series against the Yankees tonight in the regionally televised game with flamethrowing lefthander Vida Blue seeking his 11th win against New York's Steve Kline (4-4). Blue lost to Boston last week for his second defeat of the season after winning 10 in a row.

Then the Athletics celebrate a belated Memorial Day holiday with Wednesday and Thursday off before closing out the road trip with a three-game weekend set at Washington.

Dick Green hit a solo homer for Oakland, his eighth of the campaign, off winning pitcher Fritz Peterson (5-4) in Monday's first game. When Reggie Jackson followed with his 10th hom-

Drivers Planning Design Changes

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —Major design changes were planned today by the Indianapolis "500" auto racing drivers fraternity in an effort to achieve the right combination of aerodynamics and power.

None of the highly publicized McLaren machines won Saturday's record smashing, wreck-marred race, although one of the three new British creations came in second behind winner Al Unser after the McLarens virtually stole the show in practice.

Unser won the speedway's second consecutive million dollar event in a car basically the same as last year's model, at a record speed of better than 157 miles per hour, but his crew already is thinking ahead to next year.

"We've gone about as far as we can go with the design," said former "500" winner Parnelli Jones, Unser's car owner. "Next year we're going to have to change our design completely."

Wings, or airfoils —used by three-time speedway champ A.J. Foyt this year and by Mark Donohue, the latter in a McLaren and also the fastest man in practice —are the new design features with which some leading teams plan to experiment.

Veteran Dan Gurney, conceded the design of the M16 McLarens afforded the car superior stability at hich speeds. But others felt the eight-cylinder Ford engine used by Unser and Foyt, was more reliable although not as powerful as the four-cyclinder Offenhausers in the McLarens and other machines.

Neither power plant had a clear edge in the race. The Offys had an 18-15 advantage among the 33 starting cars and a 7-5 margin among the 12 cars running at the finish.

Aerodynamics experts said the Offy engine was a more suitable design to cope with the air flow at high speed driving, particularly in the turns where handling is important. However, Donohue's car developed handling problems during qualifications and pole sitter Peter Revson, runnerup to Unser in the race, encountered steering problems in his McLaren during. the three-hour grind, yet trailed the winner by just 23 seconds at the finish.

Gurney, who retired from active driving this year after an illustrious career, was so impressed with the McLaren design, he planned to build similar creations in the immediate future. In fact, he felt Donohue's car was superior to any other auto at the race, leading the first 50 laps before being eliminated by gear failure after 66 laps.

"Had Donohue been able to continue his effortless ride, it would have been ridiculous," Gurney said. "He would have run away from everybody."

The McLarens also were expected to be back next year, the third of a projected three-year program for the team to win the "500". But only two foreign drivers were lured to the speedway this year, former world Grand Prix king Denis Hulme of New Zealand and England's David Hobbs.

Hulme, in the third new McLaren, was sidelined by engine failure after 136 laps while Hobbs crashed shortly after the halfway mark.

Unser led 103 of the 200 laps, including the last 88, and collected nearly $240,000 at Sunday night's victory dinner, compared with his payoff of nearly $272,000 last year when he led all but 10 laps.

The accessory prize list dropped more than $30,000 from last year but the speedway increased its own purse by more than $33,000 for a record total of $1,001,604.

Unser's winning speed, nearly a mile faster than the old record by Mario Andretti two years ago, could have been considerably greater but for three crashes and a spin that forced the field to reduce speeds under the yellow light for 53 minutes.

Shower Of Bats, Debris For Orioles' Don Buford

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Don Buford had an unexpected shower Monday—a barrage of miniature baseball bats — but the Baltimore outfielder didn't need them to get his belts in.

Buford belted a pair of homers to drive in three runs and knocked down pitcher Bart Johnson during a free-for-all in the eighth inning in leading Baltimore to a 11-3 victory after the Chicago White Sox blanked the Orioles 1-0 on a five-hitter by Tommy John.

Buford was subjected to a barrage of debris—including a broken chair, miniature bats, and an ear of corn—while playing left field. A disgusted Chicago fan personally tried to prevent Buford from doing further damage to the home team by coming after him in the on-deck circle in the ninth inning of the nightcap.

Oriole Manager Earl Weaver viewed the whole situation as "an unfortunate situation.

"You gotta protect your players although I hate to take it out on the Chicago fans. The situation couid have gotten out of hand. When Buford was in left field he was showered with all kinds of debris including the parts of two broken chairs. It got so bad I asked (umpire Nestor) Chylak to stop the game but he refused," said the indignant Oriole manager.

"Later in the game, in the ninth inning, I thought I saw debris flying out at Buford when he was waiting in the on-deck circle," said Weaver. "All of a sudden I saw a fan in a red shirt come over to Buford. I ran out of the dugout and grabbed my player because he was like a —ildcat. It was at this point that Chylak threw him out and I just wanted to get him off the field," Weaver said.

Buford also got his belts in physically. The Oriole outfielder, who scored four runs, raced to the mount after being hit for the second time and landed a hard right to Johnson's chest. Buford flew into a rage after being hit in the back and did not toss away the bat as Johnson retreated. After Johnson got knocked down by the chest blow, he got up and landed a right on Buford's face. As the benches emptied, Orioles outfielder Curt Mottom jumped on Johnson's back but the umpires quickly restored order.

In other American League action, Oakland and New York split a twinbill with New York taking the opener 5-3 and the A's capturing the nightcap 6-3. Minnesota beat Detroit 6-2, Kansas City swept a pair from Boston 7-3 and 9-4, Washington blanked California, 4-0 and Milwaukee shaded Cleveland 65.

In the National League, Pittsburgh blanked Chicago 6-0, Houston downed Cincinnati, 4-1, San Francisco edged New York 2-1 in 11 innings. St. Louis beat Atlanta 3-2, San Diego won 6-3 after a 3-1 loss to Philadelphia and Los Angeles beat Montreal 4-0.

Homers by Amos Otis and Cookie Rojas powered the Royals to the sweep of the Red Sox, the first time Boston has dropped a home doubleheader in nearly five years.

Otis hit a three-run drive, his eighth in the first game, and added a solo homer in the nightcap. Rojas hit a three-run homer in the second game, his second of the season.

Harmon Killebrew hit a three-run homer in the eigth inning as the Twins coasted xuhind the eight-hit pitching of Jim Kaat to spoil Detroit Manager Billy Martin's homecoming with a victory over the Tigers Martin managed Minnesota in 1969 when the Twins won the American League's Western Division title.

Denny Riddleberger allowed only two hits in five innings of scoreless relief for starter Mike Thompson as the Senators beat California.

Riddleberger replaced Thompson, who had allowed only one hit in three innings, when the rookie developed soreness in his pitching hand.

Ted Kubiak, one-for-45 in his previous trips to the plate, hit a 400-foot homer with one out in the ninth inning to give the Brewers their victory. Kubiak had flied out in his first at bat but singled and scored in the Brewers' two-run fourth and walked his next two times up before hitting the homer. Bill Voss also homered for the Brewers.

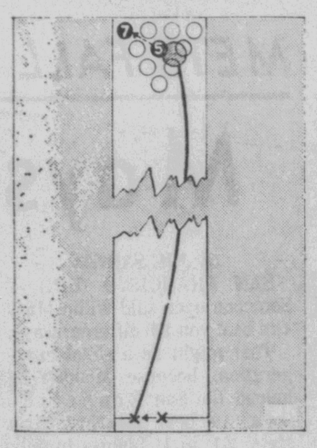
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Converting a split is always a challenge, but I have a suggestion for picking up the familiar 5-7. First, move your feet five boards to the left of your normal starting position (illustration). Then aim at the same spot on the lanes that you've been using for your strike ball. You'll have a tendency to roll the ball "inside" to the left of the spot. But if you can go over it, you'll come close to sliding the 5-pin against the 7-pin.

FISH AND GAME

Everything's Legal At Rod-Gun Club Pier

By AL GIDDINGS

Game warden Russell Ild of Mill Valley and I took the Department of Fish and Game patrol boat all through the San Pablo Bay fishing areas last Saturday, checking about 20 boats. At the Richmond Bridge, there was only one boat fishing with bait (anchovies), and one of the anglers in the boat had a sturgeon on as we approached. We watched the action with the fish finally being netted. It's tough netting a big fish; this one weighed about 65 to 70 pounds. The angler's name was Lou Maspell from San Francisco.

There were two boats trolling near the bridge pilings but no one had a hit.

We thought we would shake up some of the Marin Rod and Gun Club pier anglers with a check by voice from the boat. Everything was legal; no one was even using two rods! One angler, Antone Aronov, really had a big fish going. After about a half hour, the fish was surfaced and netted. It took three people to lift it up to the 30-foot high pier. It turned out to be a giant stingray!

Up the bay off the China Camp area, things were slow, and enough wind to make it bouncy. There were no fish checked.

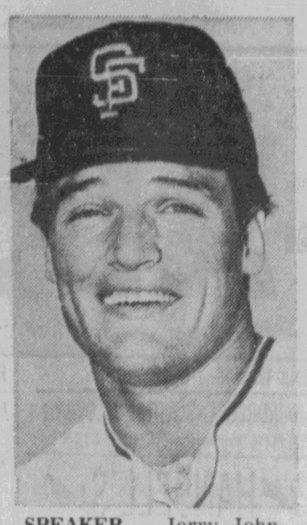
I HAVE some recent dope on the mercury problem. At Inverness, the people who fish Tomales Bay, according to Walt Mathews Sr., take all of their fish and hang them out at night by the tail to cool. Then, when the mercury level drops by morning, the fish are taken down and the heads removed, thereby removing the mercury. Smart people, those Invernessians!

I HAVEN'T heard a word from anyone in Marin County who was able to bag one of those bearded turkeys. Three hundred twenty-four hunters were checked by the Fish and Game Dept. They had bagged a total of 45 toms in California's first spring turkey season which ended May 2. The overall hunter success in the nine counties open was 14 per-cent. The breakdown by areas is as follows: San Luis Obispo County, 31 birds; Monterey County, 5; Tehama, 5; Shasta, 2; Trinity,1; Mendocino National Forest, 1. Several of the birds were in the 20-pound class. The longest beard was 9 ¾ inches which is in the trophy class.

GOOD NEWS. The spawning run of Eagle Lake, Lassen County, trout down to 16 fish in 1959, reached an estimated 2,500 to 3,000 this year. A record 353 females were spawned at the egg collecting station near the mouth of Pine Creek, tributary to Eagle Lake. More than one million eggs were taken from the spawners. Fishing is reported good now at the southern end of the lake near the tributaries, Merrill, Braun and Papoose creeks. Some 14,000 of these prized trout were caught by anglers there last year. Rehabilitation of the lake has been underway with 60,000 domestic stock and 40,000 wild stock now being planted annually. Some of the fish go to six pounds.

I RECEIVED two letters from the Webber Lake country in Sierra County. Lots of snow, and still some ice on the lake, which is at 7,000 feet. The new keepers, Bob and Jenny Jacks, formerly of Novato, have just about reached the cabins and are ready to open. Another friend, Bob Wise of the area, says he has been fishing Lake Tahoe, getting two or three Mackinaws each outing. The rainbow and the kokonee fishing should be starting at Tahoe almost anytime now!

SOMEONE "REMOVED" a recording thermometer from the Russian River several miles downstream from Guerneville this past week. The expensive instrument was being used by the Fish and Game Dept. to record water temperatures in connection with studies of the effects of summer dams on the shad runs in the Russian River. The Department would appreciate recovering the instrument and the valuable recording charts it contained. Contact any Fish and Game personnel if you have information on this.



SPEAKER — Jerry Johnson, ace relief pitcher for the San Francisco Giants, will be the main speaker at a dinner meeting of the Giants' Boosters Club tomorrow night, 6:30 o'clock, at Rubini's Restaurant in Fairfax. Also appearing will be Bob Stevens, president of the Baseball Writers Association of America, and basketball star Nate Thurmond of the San Francisco Warriors.

hits, and went to second on a sacrifice by Dick Dietz.

The game turned on the next play.

Al Gallagher hit a high chopper to third and Mays took off from second. He cut in front of rookie third baseman Tim Foli and then stopped suddenly.

Foli, befuddled by Mays' maneuver, made a stab at Willie and missed and by the time he straightened up to throw to first, Gallagher was safe and so, too, was Mays at third.

Fuentes who won Sunday's second game against the Expos with a two-run single in the ninth, then lifted a long fly to right and Mays crossed with the winning run.

Mays said it was a tough play for Foli.

"I think he got confused when I stopped," Mays said, and when he missed me it was too late to make a play on Gallagher. If he goes for the play at first, he gets Gallagher easy and then maybe we don't win it since Tito's fly becomes the third out."

"It was a case of experience versus youth and experience won," said Mets skipper Gil Hodges. "What is there to say about Mays that hasn't been said a hundred times before? He's simply the best."

Charlie Fox, the Giants skipper, said flatly Mays is the greatest player in the history of the game.

"If there is a play he can't make — in the field, at bat or on the bases, I haven't seen it," said Fox. "He has to be the greatest player in the history of the game because he does everything. I wake up every morning and thank God he plays for me."

Lost in the dramatics of Mays' performance was a four-inning shutout relief stint that earned Jerry Johnson his sixth victory compared to a single loss.

The Mets scored their only run off starter Ron Bryant in the first on two walks and a single by Cleon Jones.

The two teams play again tonight with Steve Stone (4-2) pitching for the Giants and Gary Gentry (3-4) for the Mets.

runs crossed the plate on two infield hits, and a pop fly to third base which any of three Titan fielders could have taken with ease, but which fell between all three. The Wildcats should have gotten another run on the play, as Scott Cozza slowed rounding third thinking it was an easy out, and after it dropped in, was thrown out at the plate.

From then on, it was all DeBaar, as he struck out eight in the next four innings, including whiffing the side in the third and sixth.

The last M.C. run came in unusual fashion in the fourt. After Riccardi walked, Hurley came up again and pounded a would-be triple up the alley in left center, scoring Riccardi to make the score 4-0. However, Hurley apparently failed to touch second on his way around, and was called out on an appeal. The run, which had crossed before the infraction counted.

Although DeBaar pitched a masterful game, he did not outdo Olson, who struck out five en route to his two-hitter. In addition to the Marin Catholic duo on the all-tourney team, Kennedy's center fielder Don Mendoes was selected, with DeBaar.

Other members include Doug Waters, Sunset; Dave Bickel, Rancho Cotate; Bob Ortiz, Sunset; Al Garcia, Ygnacio; Jim Fischer, Richmond; Danny Jones, Castlemont.

Kevan Cabral raced home with the only run of the game in the fifth inning of the third place game, as Sunset dumped Rancho Cotate 1-0. Cabral, on by virtue of a one-out single, crossed the plate on a costly error by Rancho first baseman Lou Goring as the Falcons took the third place trophy.

A four-run second inning rally brought Richmond High the Consolation title over Moreau of Hayward, led by Mark Miles who delivered a clutch bases-loaded single to score two runs. The other two came in minutes later on a two-out double by center fielder Darrell Young.

Freshman star Miles Brantson pitched shutout ball for five innings and got the win for the Oilers, assisted by Paul Gengler in the last two frames.

A three-run first inning sparked by two Castlemont errors gave Ygnacio Valley the seventh place title.

er in the ninth inning of the nightcap, it marked the 12th game in a row in which the Athletics have homered. That ties the club record set by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1951.

Righthander John Odom made his third start of the season for the A's in the second game and went five innings to record his first victory against one loss. He allowed only three hits and struck out six but walked five and was replaced by Bob Locker after giving a leadoff hit to Ellis in the sixth.

Davis singled home Oakland's second run in the third inning of the nightcap. Then he snapped a 2-2 tie in the fifth by singling home Bert Campaneris who had reached base on an error and moved to third on a single by Joe Rudi.

Davis' tiebreaking hit chased starter Mike Kekich. Sal Bando and Angel Mangual greeted reliever Gary Waslewski with run-scoring singles to cap the fifth inning.

Race Driver Killed

Belvedere To Host Netters

The Belvedere Tennis Tournament, always a good drawing card in its own right, becomes an even better one this year since it will also be the annual Northern California Junior Sectional Tournament.

Because of the second title, all ranked junior players in Northern California will be required to participate in the week-long event, beginning next Monday at the Belvedere Tennis Club. Thus the ninth annual Belvedere tourney is assured of getting top talent.

Among the entrants will be a dozen ranked players from Marin County, including one and a half No. 1 ranked doubles teams. Bee Kilgore and Anne Lamott of Tiburon enjoy the top Norcal ranking in the girls' age 16 class, and Diane DeMartini of Greenbrae teams with Gayle Scmutz of Los Altos for the No. 1 spot in girls' 12.

All three of those Marin girls also are individually ranked. Miss Kilgore is No. 10 with Miss LaMott No. 16 in girls '16, while Miss DeMartini is tabbed No. 5 in girls' 12.

Other Marin players ranked by the Northern California Tennis Association who will play include Bill Kinser of Tiburon, No. 22 in boys' 18, Jerry Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, No. 16 in boys' 18, Jerry Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, No. 16 in boys' 18, Dan Tierney of Tiburon, No. 7 in boys' 14, Cary Stansbury of Tiburon, No. 5 in boys' 12, and Charles Bolcom of Belvedere, No. 6 in boys' 10.

Also ranked from Marin are Leslie Airola of Tiburon, No. 18 in girls' 16, Laurie James of Tiburon, No. 16 in girls' 14, Jennifer Gobershock of Mill Valley, No. 12 in girls' 14, and Kelley Hook of Tiburon, No. 8 in girls' 10. All will play in the tourney.

Kennedy Meet Draws Top Talent

BERKELEY (UPI) —An outstanding group of field athletes, including shot putters Randy Matson and Al Feuerbach, world record holders Jay Silvester in the discus and Jorma Kinnunen in the javelin, top the early entry list in this weekend's Kennedy Games.

Meet director Dave Maggard says Kinnunen, who fouled on all three preliminary tosses at Modesto last weekend, will be challenged by Bill Skinner. Kinnunen's world mark of 304 feet compares to Skinner's best of 291-9 1-2.

Matson and Feuerbach go at each other again in the shot. Matson has managed to beat Feuerbach every time since Feuerbach took the world indoor title away from Matson in January at the San Francisco Examiner Games.

Maggard hopes UCLA's Jim McAlister can compete in the broad jump against NCAA champ Arnie Robinson. McAlister fouled once this season at 27-10.

An interesting duel is shaping up in the 880 where Rick Brown of the University of California faces John Drew, the runner he beat in the Pacific-8 championships.

In the sprints, USC's Willie Deckard, a 9.2 man, may go against Cal's Eddie Hart and Isaac Curtis who finished 1-2 last year in the NCAA 100.

Others in the meet are triple jumpers Mohinder Gill and Reynaldo Brown, former world pole vault record holder John Pennel, hammer thrower George Frenn and Lee Evans, Jim Kemp and possibly UCLA's Wayne Collett and John Drew in the 440.

On Disabled List

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Hard luck Bob Gibson, a 23-game winner last year, was placed on the 21-bay disabled list by the St. Louis Cardinals Monday while he recovers from a torn thigh muscle in his right leg.

Floridan Advances In British Amateur

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (UPI)—Seeded Allen Miller of Pensacola, Fla., went ahead on the back nine Tuesday to win a close opening match and swell the U.S. representation in the second round of the British Amateur Golf Championships.

Miller beat Briton Carl Mason 4 and 3, after struggling on the outward half of the 6,864 yard, par 72, Links Course, to join five Walker Cup teammates who made it through successfully on Monday.

Tuesday's program included both first and second round matches and began in perfect conditions with hot sunshine and a cooling breeze blowing from the sea.

A total 15 Americans made it through the first round Monday against 16 losses. Another 22, three of them Walker Cuppers, were scheduled for first round matches Tuesday.

Englishman Rodney Foster, a member of the successful British Cup team, became the second of the 20 seeds to fall when he lost 2 and 1 to compatriot Ian Cradwell. Bill Campbell, Hundington, W.Va., was eliminated Monday.

The other Cup veteran, Bill Hyndman, 55, joined Campbell and Foster on the sidelines. The tall star from Hundington Valley, Penn., trouped sadly back to the clubhouse after a 4 and 2 loss against 33-year-old Hugh Campbell, a former British International competitor.

"It was just one of those rounds when everything went wrong," Hyndman said. "I can't remember making so many errors with club selection in my life."

Hyndman, losing finalist for the last couple of years to Mike Bonallack, three-putted the second to go one down; was two down by the sixth; got one back but then too much club sent him through the green at the ninth to restore Campbell's margin. Hyndman cut the deficit by the 12th but then Campbell hit him with three straight birdies to close out the match.

Miller was one down after three holes against Mason. He squared at the sixth but again fell behind to turn one down. But he fought back to two up by the 12th and then cruised to victory.

Another early U.S. winner was former cup star Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz. He beat Englishman Bob Redall 2 and 1 after breaking a deadlock that took them all square to the 16th tee. Updegraff then won two straight holes to close out the match.

Jim Simons of Butler, Penn., was one of two seeds to leave late Monday and he still can't figure why the bookies have made him co-favorite to win the 76th renewal of the championship.

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depts are always additive to the chart in depts unless preceded by a (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Chamber Seeks Marin Spending

A program aimed at keeping more of the $937 million spent by Marin consumers each year in the county is being sponsored by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber officials said that over $20 million of the total amount is now being spent out of the county each year, causing Marin County and the cities to lose $1 million in sales taxes.

Through a campaign on KTIM, chamber officials hope to show that is is expensive for Marin residents to shop in San Francisco because of travel expenses and a higher sales tax.

Gambling Chip Cache Is Stolen

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—A brown satchel filled with $64,134 in $25 casino gambling chips was stolen Monday from a locked car outside the Desert Inn on the Las Vegas "Strip."

Sheriff's deputies said a courier left the car and went into the casino for 12 minutes. When he returned, the vehicle had been broken into and the satchel stolen.

The courier was making rounds between gaming houses, returning and exchanging chips of the different casinos, when the theft occurred.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

A Little-Understood Link Between Heart, Gall Bladder

Several years ago a friend wrote that his dad had read my article on gallstones and angina due to hardening of the coronary arteries. He said that his father had both and convinced the physician to remove his gallbladder. Following surgery, there was definite improvement and the 68-year-old man was grateful.

THE RELATIONSHIP between heart disease and the gallbladder is a debatable subject among many physicians. After 60, the conditions often coexist. In no way does removing the gallbladder cure the hardened coronary arteris. Convalescing after the operation may help inasmuch as the old ticker improves with rest.

On the other hand, the diseased gallbladder may aggravate the heart condition. A reflex originating in the gallbladder modifies the heart rhythm and the coronary artery blood flow.

CHANGES IN THE electrocardiogram have also been noted when the gallbladder misbehaves. Atropine injections may block the reflex and the gallbladder is implicated when the electrocardiogram returns to normal.

Several years ago, I was consulted by a cab driver whose heart raced whenever pressure was applied to the gallbladder. This did not occur after atropine was given.

In some individuals biliary colic mimics angina pectoris and vice versa. In other words, the removal of a diseased gallbladder leads to improvement of what was misdiagnosed as heart trouble.

The pain of a heart attack may be confused with that due to gallstones. In some instances, coronary thrombosis causes abdominal distress (acute indigestion) that is limited to the right upper quadrant of the abdomen.

DESPITE THE apparent association between the heart and the gallbladder, there are many ways to distinguish pain from each organ. Thru experience, we know that the chance of heart improvement after removal of a diseased gallbladder is remote, but occasionally improvement takes place.

SLIM RESULTS

A reader writes: I've been on a 750 calorie a day diet for three weeks and have lost only 1½ pounds. What am I doing wrong?

REPLY

Probably miscounting your calories. Almost everyone will lose weight on a 750 calorie diet unless they live in a state of hibernation. More protein and less carbohydrates may help. What about exercise?

MOLES BEAR WATCHING

R. writes: Can moles that have been present for a long time become cancerous?

REPLY

Yes. This possibility is considered should they become larger, deepen in color, or ulcerate. Our leaflet on moles can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

DROOPING COLONG

P.E. writes: Please explain a moderately redundant colon and its treatment.

REPLY

The position of the intestines varies in many individuals. A colon that hangs low works just as well as one that is high. Don't blame intestinal symptoms on a drooping redundant colon.

POISE FOR BLUSHERS

A reader writes: Do tranquilizers help blushers?

REPLY

These drugs might help the person who is nervous and easily upset, but it is cheaper to concentrate on the development of poise.

TV REVIEW

England's 'In' Actors Draw Fire

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Every so often, one gets the impression that about 10 British actors are appearing over and over again in at least half the major movies being turned out these days.

The percentage of films they dominate may not really be all that high, but the point remains the same. And no one complains that much because these performers—O'Toole, Finney, Attenborough, Burton and all the rest—are genuinely first class, and you don't feel cheated by the prominent billing they get.

Television also has its British hangup in this country, and at times these imported shows justify themselves. Past examples were "Secret Agent," "The Saint" and "The Avengers," as well as a filmed-in-England series called "Espionage."

Occasionally, England also sends us a nice, pleasant musical series, which was the case with Engelbert Humperdinck's. A viewer, however, could have been justified in wondering why it was necessary to go to England just to get another nice, pleasant musical series.

Once in a while, we get an import like the Tom Jones show, and then we have no choice but to sit back and wonder how long it will take viewers to reject its consummate tastelessness. In the case of American television watchers, the rejection didn't take very long.

A show like this, though, can be reluctantly understood—if not appreciated—when a network confronts you with the plain fact that its headliner is at least a major star in other parts of the entertainment business in this nation. And Jones is that.

What is inexplicable, however, is the importing of series—even for the summer—with stars that have no impact on American viewers, and reveal no more talent (and probably less) than countless performers known and admired in the U.S.

This Wednesday, for instance, we are getting the start of another summer series with a British entertainer named Des O'Connor, who will appear in a weekly variety hour on NBC-TV. He is a nice enough fellow, I guess, and he sings passably, and does his lines passably, and introduces people all right, I guess, and it wasn't the worst idea in the world to have tried him out last summer, I suppose.

But why he is back again is beyond me when you consider how much major, homegrown talent is available but hasn't had a chance on network television. And then there are the proven entertainers who would be exciting to watch develop as video personalities if given the chance of something like a weekly summer series. How much more interesting it would be, for instance, to tune in a great young star like Melba Moore each week.

At any rate, after O'Connor on Wednesday, we have another British musical personality bowing in with a weekly American series on Saturday—a fellow by the name of Val Doonican, who is set on ABC-TV with an hour program. I don't know anything about Doonican, and for all I know he may be just fine. I doubt, however, that he is all that much better than countless other talents who are just waiting for a chance in New York and Hollywood. And I'd be willing to risk a wager that he certainly isn't more exciting a star than Melba Moore.

Millionaire Weds Movie Actress

LONDON (UPI) — Jennifer Jones married California businessman-art collector Norton Simon aboard a chartered yacht Sunday in a predawn ceremony on seas in the English Channel so rough the guests had trouble staying on their feet.

Simon, 64, said the Academy award-winning actress "and I only met about four weeks ago. I fell in love immediatey. We decided to come to Europe and it was in Paris that I proposed. We kept it quiet because we didn't want any publicity."

Miss Jones, 52, had been married twice previously —to actor Robert Walker, qhom she divorced in 1945 and who died in 1951, and to producer David O. Selnick, who died in 1965.

Warning Given On Mail Solicitations

Marin businessmen who receive unauthorized advertising solicitations from Telex Directory, Inter-Continental-Telex, Hamburg, West Germany, should forward them to the Better Business Bureau, 414 Mason Street, San Francisco.

Bureau officials said that solicitations being mailed out by the firm do not have a warning required by federal law that the mailing is a solicitation for goods or services.

Over A Foot Of Snow At Lake Tahoe

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI)—Thousands of Californians who took to the Sierra Nevada for the Memorial Day weekend—traditional start of the summer tourist season—found themselves in more than a foot of snow.

A late spring storm dumped up to 14 inches of snow in the Lake Tahoe area Sunday night and snow flurries continued all day Monday as weekend visitors drove home on crowded Interstate 80 and U.S. 50.

Snow flurries were reported down to the 4,000 foot level during the evening, but the weather was warm enough that major roads remained clear.

The Memorial Day storm dumped 14 inches at Bliss State Park on the California side of Lake Tahoe; 10 to 12 inches at South Lake Tahoe; and 8 inches at Glenbrook, Nev.

The Weather Bureau said the storm was not a record, but just "one of the infrequent" spring storms to hit the Sierra Nevada. Snow flurries were expected to continue for the next few days.

Public Interest Push

BERKELEY (UPI) —The University of California student body at Berkeley voted overwhelmingly during the weekend to finance a non-profit public interest law firm "to protect consumers and the environment."

DRYDOCK AFIRE — Coast Guardsmen play water on the ruins of one of four drydocks moored in Richardson Bay. The drydock, one of four sitting in bay mud, caught fire about 2:30 a.m. today, flaring up again later in the morning. Arson was suspected in the blaze. It appeared to firemen that someone had been living on the gutted hulk and had set up kitchen facilities. (Independent-Journal photo)

High Court Steps Into Strike Scene

Grants Federal Judges Powers In Negotiations

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court armed federal judges with wide latitude Tuesday to stop strikes by railway and airline employes where they find no "reasonable efforts" have been made to negotiate labor agreements.

The Court split 5 to 4, with dissenters warning that the ruling would destroy the careful bargaining machinery of the National Railway Act and inflict a "mortal wound" on the role of economic pressure in such labor negotiations.

Its effect, according to dissenting Justice William J. Brennan Jr., will be to require a federal court to enjoin strikes where it determines that a party had not exerted sufficient effort to reach settlement.

The majority opinion itself acknowledged that the ruling "creates a not insignificant danger" that parties in such labor disputes will conduct their negotiating positions and tactics "with an eye on the courts, rather than restricting their attention to the business at hand."

"These weighty considerations indeed counsel restraint in the issuance of strike injunctions based on violations" of the Railway Act, Justice John M. Harlan said for the majority.

"Nevertheless, the result reached today is unavoidable if we are to give effect to all our labor laws," he declared.

The opinion came in a case involving the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Co. and the United Transportation Union. Harlan was joined by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, and Justices Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall and Harry A. Blackmun.

Dissenting with Brennan were Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Byron R. White.

In essence, the Court held that a federal judge may issue an injunction to block a strike if he determines that one side or the other had not made a reasonable effort to reach a settlement of a dispute even though the regular process had not been exhausted.

The 1926 Railway Labor Act covers both railway and airline employes. The Chicago and North Western dispute arose from a controversy over how many brakemen each train should carry.

The law provides that 30 days after the National Mediation service withdraws from a labor dispute, the parties may resort to "self-help" such as a strike.

The UTV gave notice it would strike after the 30 days had expired. The company sought an injunction but was turned down by a federal district court which held the controversy was not justifiable and that it had no jurisdiction to stop a strike.

The U.S. 7th Circuit Court of Appeals in Chicago agreed but continued an injunction granted provisionally by the lower court pending an appeal of the decision.

Harlan said:

"We recognize, of course, that our holding that strike injunctions may issue when such a remedy is the only practical, effective means of enforcing the duty to exert every reasonable effort to make and maintain agreements falls far short of that definiteness and clarity which businessmen and labor leaders undoubtedly desire.

"Moreover, the party seeking to maintain the status quo may be less willing to compromise during the determinate processes of the Railway Labor Act if he believes that there is a chance of indefinitely postponing the other party's resort to (strike) after those procedures have been exhausted."

The court also said the "vagueness of the obligation" the law places on federal courts could provide "a cover for free-wheeling judicial interference in labor relations."

It sent the Chicago and North Western dispute back to the appeals court.

Brennan said the ruling "will destroy entirely the carefully planned scheme" of the Railway Labor Act which first requires the parties to bargain jointly, then involves the National Mediation Board and finally allows the President to create an emergency board to seek a settlement.

"Underlying the entire statutory framework is the pressure born of the knowledge that in the final instance, traditional self-help economic pressure may be brought to bear if the statutory mechanism does not produce agreement," Brennan said.

"This court's decision will effectively destroy the scheme of gradually escalating pressures ... More important, however, is the mortal wound today's holding inflicts on the critical role to be played by the presence of economic weapons in reserve."

Castro To Free Plane, Passengers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A hijacked Pan American jetliner with 69 persons aboard, which has been detained in Cuba for four days, will be allowed to leave Havana Wednesday, the White House announced today.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler made the announcement, saying word of the planned release was relayed to the White House through the Swiss embassy in Havana and the Czechoslovakian embassy in Washington.

The Boeing 707 jet was hijacked Saturday while en route to Miami from Caracas, Venezuela, with 60 passengers and nine crewmen aboard. It landed at Havana's Jose Marti airport Saturday night.

Ziegler could give no explanation why the Castro government failed to release the plane immediately, as it has done in most past hijackings.

He said the Nixon administration "has not drawn a connection" between the hijacked plane and the seizure by U.S. authorities of four Cuban fishing vessels.

The fishing boats and their crews were seized last Wednesday on charges of violating U.S. territorial waters off the Dry Tortugas, off the southwest coast of Florida.

Four crewmen were returned Monday to another Cuban ship but the four captains were being held for trial in federal court in Miami June 7.

Ziegler refused to say if the fishing captains also would be released.

There had been indications that Castro had delayed return of the hijacked 707 because of the arrest of the fishermen.

The official Cuban news agency, Prensa Latina, linked the plane to the fishermen today.

Turk Shoot-Out Kills Kidnapper

KARTAL, Turkey (UPI) — Turkish security forces shot it out today with two gunmen and rescued the bruised and weeping 14-year-old girl they had held as a hostage in a Karal house since Sunday. One gunman was killed and the other gravely wounded.

Soldiers and security agents dragged the two fugitives from the house and guarded them from an angry crowd that pushed forward and demanded that they be lynched. One fugitive died in an ambulance and the other was rushed to a hospital where angry Turks demanded:

"Kill the vermin! Don't save him!"

The man killed in the brief gunbattle when soldiers and security forces scaled iron ladders to the third floor window was Huseyin Cevahir.

The gravely wounded man was Munir Cayan, thought to be the young leftist who shot and killed Israeli Consul General Ephraim Elrom, 59, who was beaten unconscious and abducted from his Istanbul apartment last month. Elrom was found dead six days later.

The girl, Sibel Erkan, was in tears and bruished about the face but otherwise unharmed, police said. She was reunited with her father, a Turkish army major, who had stood vigil outside the house armed with a machinegun.

Security forces established a protective cordon around the hospital where the wounded gunman underwent surgery. Angry crowds gathered outside

Viet Rout Claimed In Cambodia Battle

SAIGON (UPI)—South Vietnamese forces were driven out of the Cambodian border town of Snuol Monday, leaving a trail of wrecked tanks, armored cars and artillery pieces behind them, military sources said today. The Communists claimed a major victory with staggering government losses.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said their 8th Infantry task force of 2,000 men had pulled back more than six miles from Snuol after losing 204 men dead and wounded in five days of fighting. They put Communist losses at 1,079, including 700 killed by tanks and U.S. airpower during the retreat.

(CBS radio network correspondent Morton Dean reported that the South Vietnamese lost 150 killed and wounded in the retreat instead of the six dead reported officially).

Viet Cong radio broadcasts heard in Saigon were as jubilant in their victory claims as when the South Vietnamese pulled out of Laos earlier this year. They said North Vietnamese troops had captured 300 government soldiers and "put out of action" another 1,500.

Although the Communist claims were suspect, government spokesmen admitted leaving behind flaming tanks, armored cars and trucks in what appeared to be a rout by vastly superior forces. The Viet Cong said they captured 50 tanks and armored cars, destroyed 150 other armored vehicles and trucks and captured 500 weapons, including 10 artillery pieces.

The Communists said the main battle was fought Sunday —a day when government spokesmen in Saigon reported only minor fighting. The Communists said they captured 500 tons of ammunition and 100 radios and destroyed five helicolters.

The government claims appeared equally suspect. They said allied air strikes by both American and South Vietnamese planes and helicopters killed 700 Communists Monday along Highway 13. But U.S. spokesmen at the same briefing said the American command in Saigon had not received any report from its pilots on operations there.

Snuol, 85 miles north of Saigon, was almost obliterated by

Cotati School Voting Slow

Voting in Cotati and Rohnert Park got off to a slow start today as residents decide on a 50-cent tax rate increase for the Cotati School District.

By 10:30 a.m., 30 ballots had been cast at Cotati School where 1,050 voters are registered. John Reed School precinct workers reported 41 of 700 voters had cast ballots while at Waldo Rohnert School, 33 of 1,200 votes had been counted.

The three polling places will remain open until 8 p.m. Approval of the measure would increase the current rate of $1.60 per $100 assessed valuation to $2.10.

Mysterious Fire Hits A Drydock

A mysterious fire caused heavy damage to one of four hulking drydocks on Richardson Bay early this morning, then flared up again about three hours later, sending clouds of black smoke out over the bay.

Fire officials theorized the blaze was arson and were continuing their investigation into its cause.

The spectacular blaze, which lit up the sky and startled many Sausalito and Belvedere residents, began about 2:30 a.m. near the southeast corner of the docks owned by Sausalito sculptor J. Christopher Roberts. It was controlled about 6:30 a.m., then reignited around 9:30 this morning.

The crew of the San Francisco Fire Department's fireboat Phoenix, called to quell the original blaze, returned to control the new fire. But the fireboat's captain, Bernard Feldhau, said the department's efforts to break up the burning wood on the massive docks and flood them with water was hampered by a low tide which made it impossible for the 100-ton Phoenix to remain in the area.

The vessel returned to San Francisco about 11 a.m. and planned to come back to Richardson Bay about 4 p.m. when a high tide was expected.

By the time the fire was first controlled at 6:20 a.m., a large portion of the southeast drydocks's massive wall had burned to deck level, according to the U.S. Coast Guard which sent two 40-foot cutters to the scene. The Coast Guard and San Francisco Fire Department were called to fight the fire by the Sausalito Fire Department which has no facilities for fighting bay fires. About two dozen residents called the Sausalito department to report the fire.

New Antidrug Program Eyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The White House said Tuesday it is considering an extensive new nationwide antidrug program.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the narcotics problem "has been very much on the mind of this administration" and there has been "extensive work on ways to effectively deal with drug peddling and addiction.

Ziegler's comments were in response to questions about reports of a secret task force report which top White House domestic aides are reported to be studying.

Ziegler said the White House is not yet prepared to announce any new methods of curbing the drug problem.

A Deaf Ear To Bus Firm Pleas

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Marin County Transit District directors balked today at pleas by a private bus firm operated by a Marin City based firm to help keep it alive after this year.

The firm, Marin County Transit Systems Inc. serves bus routes due to be taken over in December by the Golden Gate Bridge District. The bridge district contracts for the service with the firm under a county subsidy, but is scheduled to begin operating its own fleet of 152 buses by December.

Marin Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who raised the issue of whether the firm had a future beyond December, joined in the vote to postpone the matter to the board's next meeting on July 6. The board, apparently split on whether the bridge district should make room for the firm after December, voted 6-1 for the delay, Tiburon City Councilman Denis T. Rice voting "no."

Several board members argued they could not make a policy decision on the firm's future without more information from the staffs of the transit and bridge districts, but they left unclear what additional information they wanted.

Wornum, objecting that continued delay on the issue was "stringing along" the Marin City-based firm, said that turning to staff for more information "can go on for the next 10 years and never get anywhere."

The board endorsed the firm's application to the Public Utilities Commission to extend its routes to Stinson Beach, but the endorsement was restricted by a host of conditions.

As drafted by Wornum, the endorsement provided that it was "clearly understood that it is to be a demonstration project, with strict provision that it is for this summer only and in no way gives MTS presumptive rights to this route." The last condition was aimed at barring the firm from acquiring rights that would have to be bought by the bridge district.

Supervisor John F. McInnis added a condition to the motion requiring that the endorsement be approved by attorneys for both the county and the bridge district.

The endorsement, if approved by the attorneys, would reverse a request by the transit district's staff to the PUC that it withhold action on the application.

James B. Robertson, acting general manager of the transit district, wrote the PUC last month that the application was "in direct conflict with plans by the Golden Gate Bridge District to operate a countywide bus system."

The Marin County Transit District directors also:

Audie Murphy Killed In Plane Crash

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI)—Actor Audie Murphy, the tough "little boy" soldier who won every medal available to U.S. infantrymen in World War II, has been killed in the wreckage of a small plane on a Virginia mountainside.

The body of the man who cheated death often on the battlefields of Europe was found on Memorial Day on the side of rugged Brushy Mountain.

Positive identification was withheld pending a check today of X-rays and dental records, but Murphy's wife Pamela was notified Monday afternoon that the war hero-turned-actor was "presumed dead." Six bodies found in the charred Aero Commander plane that crashed on a flight from Atlanta to Martinsville, Va., Friday were removed from Brush Mountain Monday night and taken to the community hospital morgue in Roanoke.

Dr. John Josko, a hospital official, said dental records and X-rays would be used to establish positive identification.

"All the bodies have been terribly dismembered," he said.

AUDIE MURPHY
World War II hero

The 46-year-old actor, whose Hollywood career faded in recent years, was flying to Martinsville, about 35 miles south of Roanoke, on a business trip. The pilot overflew Martinsville in a thunderstorm and crashed into the mountain.

"These are really treacherous mountains in which a pilot, if he's not accustomed to mountain flying, can get into trouble pretty easily," said an official of the Civil Air Patrol, which conducted the search for the plane.

Murphy, who won 24 medals and killed or captured 240 Germans during three years of combat in World War II, recently became associated with Modular Management, a firm specializing in factory-built homes and motels. He was flying to Martinsville to inspect a modular plant.

Aboard the twin-engine craft with Murphy were Claude Crosby of Atlanta, president of Modular; Raymond Prater of Chattanooga, Tenn., a modular attorney; Jack Littleton of Fort Collins, Colo., secretary-treasurer of the Lenoir Corp.; and the pilot, Herman Butler of Crossville, Tenn.

The sixth occupant was not immediately identified.

Two close friends of Murphy, producer Rudy Durand and Hal Wegandt, a real estate salesman, left Los Angeles Monday night for Roanoke to identify the body and return it for memorial services.

Murphy, a poor farm boy from Kingston, Tex., won the Congressional Medal of Honor for single-handedly driving off a German force of 200 men and six tanks while clinging to a burning tank destroyer.

Superiors were reluctant at first to promote the baby-faced private because he "looked like a little boy." But Murphy rose to the rank of captain and commanded a company in the Third Division.

Murphy did not adjust easily to civilian life on his return from the wars. He gave away his medals to children and refused to capitalize on his fame as World War II's most decorated American soldier.

He finally tried movies, but soon labeled Hollywood "full of phonies." His first marriage to actress Wanda Hendrix lasted less than a year.

His career went downhill with grade B Westerns and he recently turned to investments in an attempt to recoup his ailing finances.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Salinger To Join McGovern Drive

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pierre Salinger, a top political aide in the Kennedy presidential campaigns, this week will join Sen. George McGovern's bid to capture the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

Salinger

Despite the most recent Gallup Poll showing McGovern running behind several other potential Democratic nominees, Salinger said in an interview yesterday he thinks the South Dakota Democrat can win if he does well in next year's primaries.

"If McGovern does well in New Hampshire, say 20 per cent of the vote, then goes on and wins in Wisconsin and Nebraska, then I think he's moving and he's got a shot at it," Salinger said. "But I think he has to win one of them."

The May 15 Gallup Poll showed McGovern with 5 per cent of the Democratic vote and 8 per cent of the independent vote, trailing such possible candidates as Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey.

Bus Safety Plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The National Transportation Safety Board today recommended that interstate buses be required to use seat belts and seat belt signs.

In a set of recommendations growing out of its investigation of a Greyhound bus accident near Petersburg, Ind., Nov. 24, 1969, the board said the National Highway Traffic Safety Bureau should issue a rule requiring the seat belts. It also called for a requirement that passengers be notified by sign to fasten the belts and reminded again by the driver to use the belts.

The bureau also should study a possible standard requiring a ceiling design for buses which would "reduce or prevent" injuries in rollover accidents, the board said.

Revenue Ax

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)— Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, says he's planning a quiet little funeral for President Nixon's revenue sharing proposal.

The controversial measure comes up for hearings in Mills' committee Wednesday. The Arkansas Democrat told a news conference Monday he already has an idea of the outcome.

"I hope to preside over its demise some few days from now when we complete our hearings," Mills said shortly after addressing the Lousiana Legislature.

"It's not very popular in the Ways and Means Committee, I might add," he said. "This is not jutst my position, but his is largely a bipartisan position held by many Republicans as well as Democrats."

Armed Boat Sunk

SEOUL (UPI)—South Korean boats and jet fighters teamed to sink a heavily-armed North Korean boat today in the Yellow Sea off the southwest coast, the Defense Ministry said. It said the 15 to 17 North Korean crewmen aboard the 70-ton boat went down with their ship.

It was the third naval incident reported between the two countries in a month. On May 4 a North Korean boat fired on a South Korean coast guard patrol and on May 14 a North Korean boat was sunk near the truce zone in the eastern sea.

The Defense Ministry said a South Korean navy patrol ship spotted the North Korean boat off an island 225 miles south of Seoul and government jets were called in. The North Korean boat was sunk after a four-hour battle.

Holiday Funnels

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Memorial Day weekend ended on a dreary note for many as a rash of tornadoes and severe thunderstorms spread from Iowa and northwest Illinois to northern Texas.

At least 20 farms in northwest Iowa were damaged by high winds, large hail and tornadoes Monday night. Police reported extensive crop damage.

Three persons were slightly injured when two mobile homes were overturned in Belton, Mo., by high winds estimated at 90 to 120 miles an hour.

Hail "about the size of duck's eggs" fell on the Minnesota-Iowa border, according to the Jackson County sheriff's office. Golf ball-size hail fell at numerous locations in eastern Iowa and hail up to one-half inch in diameter whacked Columbia, Mo.

Railroad Worker Is Decapitated

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An Alhambra railroad employe was decapitated Sunday at the Union Pacific rail yards when he was attempting to couple two moving boxcars.

Authorities said Thomas MacIntosh, 22, fell and landed on the tracks.

Hit Wild Pot

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Agriculture Department says farmers have responded enthusiastically to a program that pays them for destroying wild marijuana.

Ray Hunter, a department spokesman, said Monday preliminary reports on the program "look pretty good." He said a pilot project had been started in 11 counties in 10 states.

In one area, Andrew County, Mo., farmers already have applied for more than the $5,000 allocated for destruction of marijuana, Hunter said. He said the program, two weeks old, had demonstrated there was more wild marijuana around than first estimates indicated.

U.S. Mars Ship In Outer Space

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — America's Mariner 9 Mars explorer moved a quarter of a million miles from earth today on the first leg of its 5 1-2 month journey to the mysterious red planet.

The spacecraft's next milestone will come Saturday when a brief blast from its own rocket engine will switch it onto a bulls-eye course toward the one planet given a chance to harbor life.

Mariner 9 is scheduled to swing into orbit around Mars Nov. 14, about the same time the first of two heavier Russian robots is expected to reach the planet.

Search Ends For Beat Poet Welch

NEVADA CITY, Calif. (UPI) —His friends Monday ended their search for Beat Generation poet Lew Welch, who disappeared into the rugged Sierra more than a week ago after leaving a suicide note.

Nevada County sheriff's officers said friends of the poet from the Ananda commune had ceased their search efforts and that there were no leads to Welch's whereabouts.

The 44-year-old poet from Marin City, author of "On Out" and "Hermit Poems," disappeared May 23 after leaving a note at a friend's home in Nevada County,. The note said he was a failure and planned to take his own life.

Steelworkers Sign Pacts With Aluminum Firms

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four of five major aluminum firms signed new contracts with the United Steelworkers of America (USW) Monday involving wage increases which the White House has indicated in the past are inflationary.

There was no immediate administration reaction to the new three-year contracts but the Aluminum Co. of America (ALCOA) announced a 6 per cent increase on most of its fabricated products, citing "sharply higher labor costs" resulting from the newly-negotiated agreements.

Alcoa is the largest of the companies involved in the six-week-long negotiations and the first to announce settlement with the USW. The other companies reaching agreement were Reynolds Metals, Kaiser Aluminum and Ormet Aluminum.

The only holdout was Olin Aluminum, where some 1,500 employes of the company plant at Hannibal, Ohio, began picketing at the start of the 4 p.m. shift.

A USW spokesman said he expected the strike at Hannibal to be brief although no new talks were set.

For the approximately 32,000 workers involved, the new contract means an estimated 30 per cent wage increase and fringe benefits similar to those reached between the USW and major can companies recently. Present wages average $3.60 an hour.

He Had Been To Hell And Back: Hollywood Was 'Play-Acting'

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Audie Murphy was different from other movie stars.

Murphy called it play-acting. Others called themselves artists.

He had been "To Hell and Back" —the title of his autobiography -- and the makeup box was kid stuff compared to an ammo box.

"Acting is just a living with me. I'm not kidding myself. If it weren't for the medals I wouldn't be in Hollywood," he said once.

Murphy did not take his World War II heroics nor his designation as America's most decorated soldier seriously. Of killing, wounding or capturing 240 German soldiers and collecting 24 medals, he said, "I did what I had to do, like everybody else."

But the past clung to Murphy's name. Ironically it was during the Memorial Day weekend — the holiday designated for remembering America's warriors — that death finally caught up with the most honored of them all on a Virginia mountainside.

A sharecropper's boy in the hardpan country near Kingston, Tex., Murphy grew up with a sharp instinct for honor in the traditional sense, and quick vengeance for enemies.

On his return from Europe's war, his early acting as a contract player at Universal Studios was wooden and amateurish in "Bad Boy," "Sierra," and "Kid from Texas."

"Sierra," and "Kid from Texas."

But Murphy learned to handle a script as deftly as a rifle. He starred in more than 25 pictures. "Red Badge of Courage," and "The Quiet American," were artistic and box office successes. Another film, "To Hell and Back," which told Murphy's story, was a great money maker.

But, the baby-faced, cold-eyed man from Texas was an anachronism. The world had tired of war heroes. Hollywood believed Murphy got in on a pass.

"I don't give a damn what these SOBs think," Murphy said when he was broke and unemployed.

"I can beat this town and make a living here and I'll do it. I'm not afraid of anybody at any studio."

The luck that kept him alive on the battlefields faded with the years. Strapped for money, he appeared in one bad movie after another.

He lost $260,000 in an Algerian oil venture. Residuals from televisions showings of his old movies were attached by the Internal Revenue Service for back taxes.

He and his second wife, Pamela, separated and reconciled.

In 1962, he was accused of assault for allegedly punching a teenager but the charge was dropped. In 1970, he was acquitted in a trial for assault stemming from a brawl with a dog trainer over a fee. This year he was charged with possessing illegal blackjacks, but the charges were dropped after he argued he had authority to have them as a special officer with two law enforcement agencies.

Pamela Murphy took the news of her husband's death sadly but calmly.

"It's terrible, after all Audie's been through in his life, to have it end this way," she said.

VISITING THE MOUNTAIN KINGS

The high mountains in Glacier Park, Mont., are still blanketed by snow even though it's spring, which seems to suit these Big Horn mountain sheep just fine. Clarence Brown of the U.S. Forest Service climbed up there recently to take a close look at a group of the Big Horns, who probably are among the world's best mountain climbers.

Yuba City Body Dig Near End

YUBA CITY, Calif. (UPI)— After two days of digging without finding more murder victims, deputies said they were "very close" today to the end of their grim search along the Feather River where the bodies of 23 slain farm workers have been unearthed.

"I believe there are bodies there we will never find because the fields have been plowed, disced and irrigated," said Sheriff Roy Whiteaker after three suspected gravesites were dug up Monday and found empty.

He ordered his men to extend the search from the Sullivan Ranch, where all but one of the hacked and stabbed itinerent farm workers were found, onto adjoining farms in this agriculture area 100 miles northwest of San Francisco.

The deputies were searching for more possible victims and for a possible "murder site."

Sources in both the sheriff's and district attorney's offices said investigators were perplexed about where the slayings occurred and were checking shacks, sheds and orchards.

Whiteaker said he hoped deputies were "very close" to the end of the organized search which started a week ago with the discovery of the second body. He said the 15 deputies had "exhausted" the "obvious" graves on the Sullivan ranch.

He said two other "indentations" in the earth —possible gravesites — were under the waters of the Feather River and could not be reached for at least 10 days. The river rose today as state engineers released more water upstream at Oroville Dam, which was at a record height from recent rains.

The sheriff also disclosed the rearrest Saturday of Roy De Long, 52, as a material witness.

New Magee Action On Fatal Shots

The court-appointed attorney for San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee today demanded that a decision be made as to which of two wounds suffered by the late Judge Harold J. Haley caused his death.

Magee is charged with firing a shotgun blast into the judge's head, but attorney Ernest L. Graves noted in his motion that Judge Haley also suffered a bullet wound in his left chest.

He also said in the motion that testimony by a pathologist before the grand jury indicated that the judge was alive when both wounds were incurred and that either could have caused death.

There is no evidence that Magee fired the bullet which caused the chest wound, Graves said.

He noted that the inmate faces an automatic death sentence if convicted of firing the shotgun blast if it killed the judge but might face only life imprisonment if the bullet killed the judge.

Graves asked the court to "make a a selection" of which wound caused death, saying that the court must rule in favor of the defendant if there is no evidence to the contrary.

He asked a hearing on this and other motions next Tuesday.

Magee and Angela Davis are due to return to court tomorrow for further hearing on motions by her attorneys.

She is charged with providing the guns used in the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Civic Center and helping plan the kidnap-escape attempt.

the hospital as they had outside the house where the girl was held.

The drama began Sunday when a woman recognized the two men from wanted posters and began screaming. The gunmen, armed with a machinegun and an automatic pistol shot and wounded her and a man bystander and fled into the house of Maj. Dincer Erkan.

They seized the 14-year-old girl and barricaded themselves in the third floor apartment of the white and yellow three story apartment house and said they would not release the hostage unless they were allowed to fly to Cyprus, Russia or Jordan.

Throughout Sunday and Monday security forces and police ringed the building and demanded the men surrender. Crowds outside howled for their scalps and at one point an officer threatened to turn the men over to mob justice. The crowd later was dispersed.

During the night police cut the building's electricity and the two gunmen replied by opening fire.

$25,000 Fire At Bolinas Road Home

Fire of undetermined origin did $25,000 damage yesterday to the home of B. F. Walker on Bolinas Road, just outside the Fairfax city limits.

Both the Fairfax and Marin County Fire Departments fought the blaze.

The Walker family was away at the time, but returned while the firemen were still fighting the fire, according to Marin County Fire Chief Richard D. Pedroli.

The fire started in the house's upper story, which it destroyed, Chief Pedroli said.

The call reached the Fairfax Fire Department at 11:17 a.m. as a smoke check on Cascade Drive. When that department found the fire, it started fighting it. Fairfax called the county department in whose jurisdiction it was.

Damage was estimated at $15,000 to the house and $10,000 to the contents by Chief Pedroli.

FIRE

E. Masten said today the blaze "must have been set deliberately, since there is no natural means of a fire starting out on the docks."

Although the drydocks have become a kind of floating picnic and camping ground for many Bay Area residents who dock their boats there on weekends and Holidays, the Coast Guard said no one was aboard when the firefighters arrived. A cursory search of the area revealed no clues to the fire's origin, the Coast Guard reported.

The drydocks, brought from the East Bay to Sausalito in 1966 by the late Delmar D. Wise, have been thorns in the sides of county officials who have sought — so far unsuccessfully — to have them removed by any means possible.

Roberts, who mortgaged his home in 1968 to purchase the docks, has fought county attempts to move the structures, saying he hopes to turn them into a floating cultural center.

In September of last year, after a long legal battle between the county and Roberts, Marin Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner ordered the demolition or removal of the docks. Roberts has since filed an appeal of that decision in the district court of appeals.

After rejecting as impractical suggestions the structures be burned or towed out to sea and blown up, the county called for bids for removing the million pounds of wood and learned it would cost a minimum of $74,475 to get rid of them. Roberts does not have the money to move them, according to county officials.

County supervisors rejected the "low bid" of the Richmond firm which offered to complete the demolition, then sought to have the docks removed by the Army Corps of Engineers. The structures were a hazard to navigation, the Marin County supervisors theorized, and thus were the responsibility of the engineers.

When the Army last month refused to take responsibility for moving or demolishing the docks, county supervisors announced they would seek federal legislation to enable the Army to do the job.

Car Crash Victim Is Improving

Alverna Kavanaugh, Davidson Middle School drama teacher who was seriously injured Friday in a traffic accident that killed another woman was reported in satisfactory condition today at San Francisco General Hospital.

Mrs. Kavanugh, 64, of 12 Elkin Court, San Rafael, was a passenger in one of the cars involved in the collision on Golden Gate Bridge. The driver, Hillis H. Newcomb, 43, of 16 Buckey Circle, Woodacre, was also injured.

Killed in the accident was Jeanette Hartman, 59, of 30 Upland Drive, Mill Valley. Mrs. Hartman was traveling northbound across the bridge when her car was struck head-on by an auto going south in the northbound lane. The collision slammed her car into the Newcomb vehicle.

Kenneth H. Beattie, 30, of San Francisco, was believed to be the driver of the southbound vehicle. He was at last report, in serious condition at San Francisco General.

Mrs. Kavanaugh has been a drama teacher at Davidson for 16 years. According to Principal Hanlon P. Tharp, she will be unable to complete the school year.

Funeral arrangements were pending today for Mrs. Hartman, whose body is at the San Francisco coroner's office. She had been a resident of Marin County for more than 25 years. She had also been first violinist with the Marin Symphony Orhcestra since its inception in 1952, and was scheduled to perform with the orchestra this past Sunday.

American tanks in the invasion of Cambodia a year ago but several hundred civilians were reported still living there. Their fate was not known.

Heavy fighting also was reported in Cambodia 15 miles from Phnom Penh, the capital. Capt. Chhang Song, a military spokesman reported some of the heaviest casualties of the year-long war with preliminary reports showing at least 50 wounded government troops evacuated from the scene.

Song said 200 Communists were killed in the attack on Kompong Chamlang, 15 miles east of Phnom Penh.

Gen. Frederick C. Weyand, deputy commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, and Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh, military governor of Saigon and commander of South Vietnamese forces in the 11 provinces around the capital, made a hurried trip to a border area near Snuol today to confer on military, sources said.

Spokesmen for the Army of the Republic of (South) Vietnam (ARVN) denied a report by allied military sources that their 8th Task Force had withdrawn 14 miles south of Snuol to Loc Ninh, seven miles inside the South Vietnamese border.

The task force pulled back at least six miles southeast of Snuol—which would put them within a mile of the border—"but they are still in Cambodia," ARVN spokesmen in Saigon declared.

Ordinance On Council Pay Is Due

An ordinance to provide payment of $150 per month to each councilman will be introduced tomorrow at 8 p.m. by the Larkspur City Council, meeting at city hall.

Consideration of the compensation ordinance comes sandwiched between city budget sessions slated for tonight and Thursday.

The council's annual payroll would total about $9,000 per year, if approved, and would add about 2.5 cents to the city's tax rate.

The city manager has proposed a fiscal 1971-72 tax rate of $1.995 — up 10 cents from this year's. The proposed rate includes councilmen's salaries.

On other matters, the council will consider changes to the city's business license ordinance which would, among other things, assess apartment owners on the number of apartment units instead of gross income.

The council also will continue study of street lighting in Greenbrae and will hear a report from the Larkspur Town Meeting.

Bootes Resembles A Modern Kite

By SHERMAN WALKER

The Herdsman (Bootes) looks something like a kite to modern eyes but is supposed to be a man who is holding two dogs, Canes Venatici, on a leash.

The bright star of Bootes is called Arcturus. It is the fourth brightest star that can be seen from the northern half of the United States and shines with a yellowish light. It is one of the very few stars ever mentioned in the Bible.

To locate Arcturus in the sky, face southward at 9 p.m. and look at the region of the sky that is two-fifths of the distance up from the southern horizion to overhead.

Arcturus is a fast-moving star, its speed being almost 90 miles per second. Its distance is so great, however — about 33 light years from us — that it requires eight centuries to move as much as one moon diameter. It is a double star, paving a very faint close companion.

Another star that is of interest is called Mirak (Epsilon Bootis). It is a beautiful double star with orange and green-colored components of magnitudes 3 and 6. Because of its beauty and striking colors, astronomers have nicknamed it Pulcherrima.

The northern constellations often have interlocking mythological stories. In this case, Bootes is using the munting Dogs to drive the Great Bear around the pole.

Mrs. Meir Holds Secret Lodge Talks

STOCKHOLM (UPI) —Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir met three unidentified men in a remote hunting lodge in northern Finland Sunday with an Israeli arms dealer acting as host, the Swedish Broadcasting Corp. (SRT) reported today.

SRT said the representative in Finland for the Israeli weapons firm Soltam invited Mrs. Meir to a secret 24-hour visit in Rovaniemi, a city of 30,000 in Finnish Lapland.

Mrs. Meir flew from Stockholm to Rovaniemi Saturday and stayed in the Polar Hotel. Half an hour after her chartered jetliner had landed in Rovaniemi, a small private plane from Tampere, where the Soltam representative is based, touched down, SRT said.

Aboard the plane were "three men who were not Finnish," the state-owned broadcasting company said.

Mrs. Meir and the three men met for three hours Sunday in a remote hunting lodge called the Bear Pit, 20 miles outside Rovaniemi, SRT said.

The private plane, carrying the men to northern Finland, had been chartered by Tampela, a Finnish arms firm which has been part owner in the Israeli Soltam company, SRT said.

The Israeli embassy would not comment on the SRT report.

Mrs. Meir arrived in Oslo today for a 24-hour visit. Her stay coincided with a private visit to Oslo by Soviet deputy Foreign Minister Semyon Tsarapkin.

Black Policemen Are Dismissed

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — Seven black policemen, who complained of mistreatment by white officers, were summarily dismissed from the Columbus police force Monday by white Safety Director Joseph Sargis.

Sargis said the seven were dismissed because of continued "violations of regulations."

The policemen picketed police headquarters Sunday and Monday, ripping American flag patches from their uniforms and presenting them to Sargis.

The members of the Afro-American Policemen's League have been complaining of discrimination for several months. A special city panel has been appointed to study the situation and has been holding secret meetings.

Coupons Are Asked For Kidney Machine

Coupon collection boxes have been placed in Marin food stores in a campaign to collect 800,000 Betty Crocker coupons toward a kidney dialysis machine, according to Ariana H. Hall, chairman of volunteers for the Marin chapter of the Kidney Foundation of Northern California.

Mrs. Hall said that about 200,000 coupons have already been collected toward the purchase of the machine which is to be lent to a needy patient.

Guerrilla Chief's Massacre Warning

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Palestinian guerrilla leader Kamel Nasser said today in Beirut that the Jordanian army was massacring guerrillas and appealed to other Arab states for help. Military sources in Tel Aviv said Israeli security forces had been alerted for possible new guerilla attacks.

Nasser, official spokesman for the Palestinian Central Committee, called a news conference after what the guerrillas said were three consecutive days of Jordanian army attacks on Palestinian camps and bases in Jordan.

He spoke of the "continued massacre" and said, "the revolution warns against the silence of the world and will hold the world responsible for all the steps the resistance can take at all levels." He did not indicate what steps the guerrillas had in mind.

In Tel Aviv military sources said Arab guerrilla attacks were expected Saturday, June 5, the anniversary of the 1967 Middle East War.

"It is the day the terrorists would want to commemorate," the military sources said.

"We must remember this is the fourth year since the war, without any progress on the political field."

The afternoon newspaper Yedioth Aharonoth said military sources expected guerrilla activity across Israel's ceasefire line with Jordan, Syria and Lebanon and said Jordanian army efforts to curb guerrilla activity had not been entirely effective.

Palestinian refugees in Amman accused Jordanian police of opening fire on demonstrators at Amman's Wahadat refugee camp. They said 10 persons were killed and many others wounded in the shooting Monday, but there was no confirmation from other sources.

Refugees hurled stones at police and marched through the streets of the area, which houses some 31,000 refugees, after government troops blew up monuments atop two mass graves of Palestinians killed in September's civil war.

The incidents in the Wahadat camp marked the third straight day of renewed violence between Palestinians and Jordanian government forces. The guerrillas accused the army of attacks on commando bases in northern Jordan and the government claimed the guerrillas planted mines and set off charges in a phosphates factory in a sabotage campaign.

Camaro Chevelle

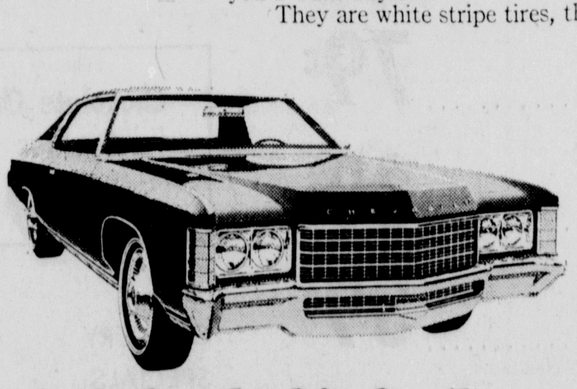
Chevrolet's Summer Sale
on all Chevelles and Camaros.

Chevrolet's Summer Sale ends the end of June. It's a sale on every model of our mid-size Chevelle and sports-size Camaro.
It's a simple sale to help you save money.
Simply order your Chevelle or Camaro with four features we think you'd want anyhow.
They are white stripe tires, the deluxe seat belts, a set of wheel covers and an AM/FM radio or any stereo equipment. (Stereo available only on Chevelle.)
By buying the package, you start summer by getting a great deal on America's most popular mid-size car or the one the readers of Car and Driver magazine picked as 1971's Best Sporty Car—the Camaro. Which, you've got to admit, isn't a half bad start.
GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

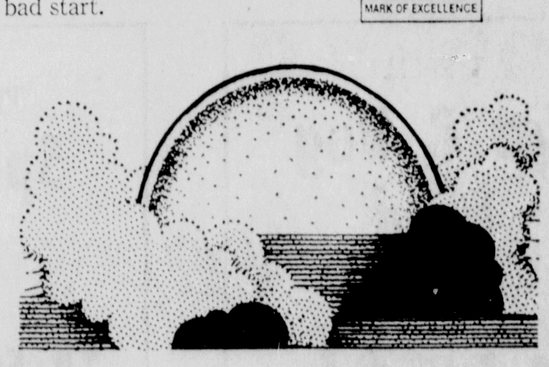


Impala. The big family car a family man can afford.

Impala delivers you and your family more standard equipment than any other car at its price.
Turbo Hydra-matic transmission with any V8 and power steering are now standard. And that's not all.
It has built-in power front disc brakes, a built-in power ventilation system, a built-in double-panel roof that's stronger and does a better job of absorbing sound.
It has built-in side-guard door beams, built-in steel cargo guard in the trunk and more built-in room than any other car in its field (so says Automotive Industries magazine).
Not only is Impala traditionally America's No. 1 seller, it's traditionally high in holding its resale value.
See the U.S.A. in comfort, and at reasonable prices.

Nova. Mechanics say it has the "least mechanical problems".

Or how about a Nova? You know, a lot of people talk about how trouble-free and economical their cars are. But Motor Service and Service Station Management magazines asked garage owners and mechanics what they thought—which ones really have the least mechanical problems and are easiest to maintain.
Nova came out on top, right at the very top.
Nova is small enough to fit neatly into garages and tight parking spaces. Big enough to seat five in the coupe, six in the sedan.
It's economical in city driving; yet hefty enough, with standard Six or V8 engine, to give you a solid ride on any highway.



We're bringing back that good old summertime air, too.

Happily, things are looking up in the battle against air pollution. Because, fortunately, a lot has been done by Chevrolet in the past 10 years to check pollution caused by our cars.
In the early 1960's we began installing emission controls on our engines. And now, every 1971 Chevrolet is equipped to reduce hydrocarbon output by 80% and carbon monoxide emissions by about two-thirds.
You can help, too. Keep your car tuned and those pollution controls checked regularly.
Let that sun shine in.
Remember, buckling your seat and shoulder belts is an idea you can live with.

NEW HEADQUARTERS FOR FBI

A craftsman in Washington worked on a large-scale model of the projected FBI building to be constructed for $100 million in the nation's capital. It will be the most expensive federal building in Washington. The 14-story structure, including 11 floors above ground, will be situated along Pennsylvania Avenue between 9th and 10th streets, northwest.

Living Costs Vary Widely Across U.S.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Local differences in American living costs are creating recruitment problems for industry in some high-cost areas, a federal labor statistician said today.

Herbert Bienstock, mid-Atlantic regional director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, outlined the situation at an American Compensation Association Conference.

Bienstock said a survey of 10 major U.S. Metropolitan areas a year ago showed a spread of nearly 18 per cent in medium-level living costs.

The survey showed that residents of the Pittsburgh area, at the low end of the scale, were paying $9.60 for goods and services that would cost $10 on the national average. In New York-northeastern New Jersey, the highest-cost mainland area, the same commodities cost $11.38.

Other areas covered, and local cost levels, were St. Louis, $9.89; Detroit, $9.90, Los Angeles, $10.10; Philadelphia, $10.20; Washington, $10.36; Chicago-northwestern Indiana, $10.43; San Francisco, $10.67, and Boston, $11.29.

AMEX Elects Kolton President

NEWYORK (UPI)—Paul Kolton, executive vice president of the American Stock Exchange, has been promoted to the presidency, the first career staff member to become head of AMEX.

Kolton, 47, has been with AMEX nine years in charge of operations and administration. His background was in journalism and advertising.

A New York native and a graduate of the University of North Carolina, Kolton will replace Ralph S. Saul, who is leaving to become an executive of First Boston Corp on June 17.

Lockheed Wins $123 Million Missile Contract

WASHINGTON, D.C. (BW) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp. of Sunnyvale is being awarded $123,635,471 on a cost plus incentive fee letter contract for Poseidon fleet ballistic missile production.

This amount is in addition to the $120 million contract awarded in July 1970, the Defense Department said yesterday in announcing the deal.

Approximately $63 million of the current contract awarded is for subcontract efforts for Poseidon rocket motors by Hercules/Thiokol, a joint venture at Magna, Utah.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Young Investor On Right Track

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 13 and have $600 to invest. So far I have bought shares in six companies with money I have saved. What would you suggest I buy? I like stocks paying dividends so that I can buy more. — G. H.

A. Your portfolio, which has increased in value an aggregate of 14.5 per cent to $2,410, returns a dividend yield of 2.5 per cent. Five industries are well represented: automotive, communications, insurance, leisure time and technology. The sixth issue, A. J. Industries, a conglomerate, pays no dividends and has reported a deficit in the most recent period and for fiscal 1969. Although new management has recently been installed following a proxy battle, a turn-around here may be time consuming. Rather than wait this out I would suggest utilizing this capital elsewhere.

With these funds and your $600 savings, you can purchase 12 shares of Bristol-Myers for representation in the drug industry. BMY is currently trading at 25x anticipated 1971 earnings of $2.65 a share.

Management has projected that sales this year will exceed $1 billion. In the first quarter sales gained 5.9 per cent while net rose 3 cents to 70 cents a share. A stock split and dividend increase are also possible, according to Gavin MacBain, chairman. At 20 per cent below the all-time high and 40 per cent above the 1970 low, shares have excellent long term capital growth potential.

Q. With the condition of the railroads I am concerned about the Union Tank Car Equipment Trust Certificates 7⅝s of 1989 we hold. We need income and cannot afford to lose principal. Can you advise? — A.M.

A. This $25,000,000 issue is secured by 1,850 railroad tank cars costing $33,350,000. Principal and interest on the certificates is unconditionally guaranteed by Trans Union, formerly Union Tank Car. Beginning next year $1.4 million of this series will be retired annually. Earnings coverage of interest on company debt is ample. Furthermore, earnings have moved ahead yearly with 1970 net showing a 6.5 per cent gain to $2.11 a share. Certificates quoted about 86 should be held.

Savings Call For Interest Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — C.E. Bentley, president of the National League of Insured Savings Associations, says interest on FHA and VA home mortgage loans should be increased from 7 to 7½ per cent.

"The gap between bond and mortgage rates is too wide — and investors are beginning to look away from the mortgage market," Bentley said Sunday.

"This is going to have a bad impact on housing unless the rate is adjusted soon."

He said many lenders are reluctant to put money into 7 per cent mortgages when other paper is more profitable. Savings and loan associations finance most of the nation's home mortgages.

The ceilings on loans backed by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA and the Veterans Administration (VA) has been 7 per cent since Feb. 17.

George Romney, secretary of the Housing and Urban Development Department which sets the rates, cut the ceiling three times in 12 weeks to drop it from the record 8 ½ per cent that prevailed throughout most of 1970.

Squishy Contact Lens Developed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new type of contact lens is expected to to go on the market in Washington, Oregon and Alaska later this month.

The gel lenses absorb water making them flexible and soft. The new lenses are expected to attract millions of people who find present contacts uncomfortable.

Recovery Noted As Market Climbs On Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market, recovering from an oversold condition, finished higher on moderate turnover today.

Some analysts also attributed demand for stocks to hopes that President Nixon will have a favorable economic message in his news conference this evening.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a gain of 0.54 at 100.17. Advances topped declines, 860 to 519, among the 1,646 issues on the tape.

A volume of around 12,000,000 shares compared with 11,760,000 shares traded Friday.

Among the day's most active stocks were Ling-Temco, when issued, Penn Central, Natomas, General Public Utilities, and Greyhound.

Electronics and oils attracted fair demand, with several issues in both groups gaining a point or more. Motors were in demand, while steels, chemicals, and rails traded in narrowly mixed fashion.

Aluminum shares also traded narrowly in most instances. The White House said President Nixon was disappointed at what he considered dangerous and inflationary wage increases granted by the aluminum industry.

Prices were firm on moderate turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Rockefeller Call For Development Bank In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — David Rockefeller, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, proposes creation of a federal urban development bank to rebuild cities and establish new ones.

Rockefeller said in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News & World Report that the bank would be funded "partly from commercial banks, who would put in the equity, and partly from insurance companies and pension funds and other institutions of that kind who would make loans to the bank at favorable interest rates."

The plan would provide $50 billion over the next 10 to 20 years for use by private developers in programs regulated by a federal agency, he said.

Drilling Set For Mono Lake

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A Bakersfield firm has been issued a permit to drill a test well near the south shore of Mono Lake to determine the feasibility of using geothermal steam there to produce electricity.

J. R. Penny, state director of the U.S. Bureau of Land Management, announced Tuesday the permit has been issued to Geothermal Resources, Inc., which has leased several tracts of lake bottom land from the state.

If sufficient steam is found, GRI and Southern California Edison Co. plan to develop steam for production of electricity. GRI officials said that if the exploration is successful, a cluster of wells is planned.

Tahoe Ecology Fund

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Tahoe Public Utility District has received an $880,000 grant from the Environmental Protection Agency as part of a continuing effort to protect Lake Tahoe against pollution, Rep. Harold T. Johnson, D-Calif., reported Friday.

Cincinnati Law On Loitering Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court threw out today as unconstitutional a 115-year-old Cincinnati law against loitering which was used to arrest an antiwar protester.

Justice Potter Stewart, speaking for the court majority, said the statute subjected the constitutional right of assembly "to an unascertainable standard."

Potter also said the ordinance —on the books since 1856—was "unconstitutionally broad because it authorizes the punishment of constitutional protected conduct."

In other actions, the Court:

—Refused without comment to hear an appeal by Denzil R. Allen, a combat Marine who is under 10-year sentence for the slaying of five South Vietnamese civilians. The action left standing decisions of lower federal courts against his claim that the military court martial process was unfair to him.

—Ruled by a 4-3 vote that a 1920 consent decree did not bar the Greyhound Corp. from acquiring Armour & Co., the nation's second largest meat packing firm. The 1920 agreement prevented Armour and four other large meat packers from engaging in almost any aspect of the general grocery business.

The Cincinnati ordinance provided a fine of up to $50 and as much as 30 days in jail if three or more persons assembled on a street corner and conducted themselves "in a manner annoying to persons passing by."

Five persons — Dennis Coates, James Hastings, Wendell Saylor, Arnold Adams and Clifford Wyner —challenged the provision in the Supreme Court.

Coates was arrested when he and several others gathered outside the federal building in Cincinnati Dec. 7, 1967, to protest the Vietnam War and the Selective Serivce system.

"Conduct that annoys some people does not annoy others. Thus, the ordinance is vague not in the sense that it requires a person to conform his conduct to an imprecise but comprehensible normative standard, but rather in the sense that no standard of conduct is specified at all," the Supreme Court ruled.

"As a result, men of common intelligence must necessarily guess at its meaning."

The vote was 5 to 3, with Justice Hugo L. Black writing a separate opinion. Black said he agreed substantially with the majority but would prefer to send the case back to the trial court to determine whether the conduct "actually punished is the kind of conduct which it is within the power of the state to punish."

Justice Byron R. White wrote the dissent for himself, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blacmun.

Business Bureau In Data Link

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco Better Business Bureau, which also serves Marin County, has been designated as one of the first 19 links in a new National Consumer Data Computer Bank, according to bureau officials.

The new data bank, aimed at creating an effective consumer "early warning system," will collect, evaluate and disseminate data on consumer concerns.

The new network will start operating in a few months from a center in Washington, D. C., and will collect data from all over the country on consumer information.

Band Planning Spring concert

The College of Marin Community Band conducted by John H. Myers will present a spring concert at 8:30 p.m. Saturday in the college's Fine Arts Theater.

Works to be played will include Prelude to Die Meistersinger by Wagner, Giles, Farnaby Suite by Gordon Jacon, Valdres March by Hanssen, Variations on a Korean Folk Song by John Chance and An Outdoor Overture by Copland.

Terry Bozzio, the band's timpanist, and the brass sections will perform Concerto for Timpani and Brass by Jaromir Weinberger.

VOLUNTEER ARMY

Cranston, Tunney In Opposing Camps

By BENJAMIN SHORE
(I-J Correspondent)

WASHINGTON — California's two Democratic senators will take opposing positions in a scheduled Senate vote Friday to end the military draft June 30 and force an immediate switch to a volunteer army.

Should this amendment by Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., fail, as most Senate observers predict, the Senate then will consider the same day a one-year extension of the draft in an amendment offered by Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa.

Sen. Alan Cranston says he will vote for the Hatfield amendment, and if it fails, he will then vote for the one-year extension.

Sen. John V. Tunney will vote against the Hatfield amendment, and will support the one-year extension.

The Nixon Administration wants the draft extended for two years to allow more time to prepare for the change to a volunteer army. The House already has voted for the two-year extension.

Although Tunney and Cranston both say they will vote for Schweiker's one-year extension, they will do so for different reasons.

Tunney favors keeping the draft, but with annual extensions. This, he says, would allow Congress flexibility in making adjustments in the draft law, which previously had been extended by the Congress in four-year increments.

Cranston's reason is a bit more complex. Opposed to any extension of the draft, he will join Sen. Mike Gravel, D-Alaska, in a rate filibuster to keep the Senate from extending the draft law before it expires June 30. Gravel has promised to launch his filibuster if the Hatfield amendment fails.

But, explains an aide, if the filibuster should be ended by a two-thirds vote of the Senate, Cranston wants the final-passage vote to be on a one-year extension rather than two years. This his support of the Schweiker amendment is a "fall back" position, the aide said.

Should the filibuster succeed — and it takes only 34 pro-filibuster Senators to keep it alive — the Administration reportedly is prepared to induct men previously deferred under the present law, despite the fact that the country would be without a draft law as of midnight, June 30.

Therefore, Cranston has prepared an amendment that would cut off presidential power to induct the 5.7 million men already in the draft "pipeline."

Health Program To Be Presented

A preliminary draft of the San Anselmo School District's health education program will be presented to the district board tonight.

The program has been outlined during the last two weeks to parents who attended special presentations at various schools.

It will receive a full public hearing by the board June 8 at which time parents, teachers and interested citizens may present their views.

Meeting at 7:30 o-clock at Red Hill School, the board also is expected to continue budget considerations among other items.

Forty photographs by Redwood High School students are on exhibit at the Marin County Library on the fourth floor of the Marin Civic Center.

KATE WEBB'S SAGA

Red Interrogation Was Tough And Frightening

By KATE WEBB
U.P. International

Editor's Note: Following is the eighth in a series of personal impressions written by UPI's 28-year-old Phnom Penh bureau chief about her capture and release 23 days later by North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia.

We were given paper for the 29-question questionnaire and I asked them for more to keep a journal. Suzuki also was keeping notes, in Japanese. They made no attempt to take them or read them, and gave us each two sheets of paper for our personal use. They are beside me as I write now, torn into a tiny book crammed with writing. Suzuki folded and tore his paper the same way; both of us ready to hide and save our notes at all costs if need be.

The questionnaire asked for all details of our families, salaries, addresses and occupations of friends, biographies and details of our capture. Suzuki struggled to answer them in English, writing hunched over the table because of his poor eyesight. We did not confer, except on the spelling of a word. The second section asked our opinions on the war. I rewrote from memory the last stories Ihad written for UPI on the military situation in Cambodia.

I found the daylong interrogation tough and worrying. Suzuki's questioning had been shorter. It was hot. There was tea and cigarettes. It was interesting, and confusing:

Why were you following the Lon Nol troops?

Why do you work for the American Imperialists?

You cannot be a neutral observer in this war. Everyone is on one side or the other.

We do not believe you put yourself in dangerous military situations if you are not CIA. Why would you risk your life if you were not?

I tried to put as much humor as I could into my answers:

Would you rather I rewrote government handouts? You, I think, could answer that better than I could . . . This is the first opportunity I have had to meet you . . . sometimes I think my profession is crazy myself . . .

They quipped in return, but I was never certain what was serious and what was not.

During the questioning I reiterated: "I am not a clairvoyant, I don't know who will win the war. If I did I would probably leave and stop reporting. I am an observer and don't have political sides, I try to report both." They brought Suzuki in.

He answered the question differently.

"How come," asked The Finger, "that you both say you are asking objectively and you both have different ideas?"

"We are different people," we replied simultaneously (I translated into French for Suzuki this time).

The interrogation group laughed and Suzuki was sent out again.

"Do you realize," said the old man in civilian clothes, "You are a prisoner of war, that one shot through the head could finish you, just like that?"

"I'm in your hand," I said, grinning. "That's up to you now, there's nothing I can do about it. Besides I don't consider myself a prisoner of war, I'm not a soldier."

"Then, consider yourself an invited guest," he said.

They all laughed, harder, at this, and the old man commented that I seemed very confident about release. There had been no threat in the tone of his voice. The interrogation often fell into a humorous vein. They seemed to be enjoying themselves, the Vietnamese, but then it would suddenly twist.

It ended on a strange note. The Finger looked up seriously, and said, "If you really are objective, as you say, you must want to stay with us, having spent so much time with the other side. Do you want to go back to your family or stay with us?"

I felt the question was serious. I sat and thought. I was in a quandary, afraid and fascinated, physically weak and aware of the worry there would be on "the other side." They were taking me up on my own statements.

I thought of my own dictum, "Dead men don't write stories." Then I answered seriously, "I'd like to stay with you a few weeks, and then return home."

Laird Says Plan For Troop Cut Ready In July

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird says administration proposals for cutting U.S. troop strength in Europe will be complete in July.

Laird, speaking at a plane-side news conference Sunday upon his return from a week of NATO meetings in Europe, said the proposals would be submitted to the allies for discussion before any definite steps were taken.

Any cuts in the 310,000 troops were expected to be slight and in conjunction with mutual withdrawal of Soviet troops and reduction of arms in Warsaw Pact countries. The administration mustered its forces two weeks ago to defeat a proposal by Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., to pull out 150,000 men by Dec. 31.

Budget Due On Fairfax Agenda

The Fairfax School District board will discuss the proposed budget for fiscal 1971-72 at 7:45 p.m. today at the district office at 58 Park Road.

The proposal of $1,109,000 shows an increase of $45,000 over expenditures this year, according to Supt. H. Reginald Hammond. Dr. Hammond said the increases are due to higher costs of supplies, built-in salary increases and added maintenance costs.

Because of increased assessed valuation in the district, Dr. Hammond said the tax rate may go down slightly even with the larger budget.

The board also will discuss hiring a replacement for Thomas J. Kelly, principal of White Hill School, whose resignation the board accepted at a special meeting Saturday.

LINDA LEVY was a volunteer during the summer school session at Marindale School last year. She enjoyed her work so much that she applied for the work experience program at Sir Francis Drake High School and now spends mornings attending high school classes and afternoons at the school for orthopedically handicapped. She enjoys working with the students so much that she plans to begin a career in special education by working at a hospital this summer. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Levy of Fairfax. Mrs. Levy is volunteer coordinator for the Marin County Schools special education volunteer programs.

SUMMER PROGRAM

Worker In Handicapped Program Needs Helpers

By JOAN LISETOR

Beverly Levy has issued the annual plea for volunteers to work with the physically and mentally handicapped children who attend the Marin County schools special education summer school program.

Two of the volunteer coordinator's best volunteers from last summer are not returning this year. One will be attending school, taking courses for a special education teaching credential and the other has turned professional and accepted a paying job working with mentally handicapped children.

Both are her daughters.

DIANE LEVY, 22, was graduated from San Jose State College last June and, not knowing what she wanted to do, offered her services to the program at Marindale School. After six months she knew what she wanted to do, says her mother, and she enrolled in graduate courses at San Francisco State College.

After working as a volunteer last summer Linda Levy requested work experience in the special education program from Sir Francis Drake High School where she is a junior. She attends Drake in the morning and is a teachers' aide at Marindale in the afternoon. Her summer job is at Center Medical Hospital in Ross.

"People ask what kind of a hold I have over my daughters," Mrs. Levy says. "The truth is I don't have a hold; they have just been exposed to my work over the dinner table."

The only member of the Fairfax family not involved in special education is Mrs. Levy's husband, Myron, but, she says, he is interested in attending programs at the school and pitches in when he is needed.

SEVEN YEARS ago Beverly Levy asked the Volunteer Bureau of Marin where her services would be needed.

"I never dreamed my volunteer work would lead to this job," she says. "Marion Kelly (director of the Volunteer Bureau) told me that volunteers were needed to work with orthopedically handicapped children at Marindale. I was hestiant becuase I had never worked with the handicapped before.

"Marion said, 'Go out and look around for a few days,' and I did, like what I saw and stayed with the volunteer program for six years."

Mrs. Levy says when she talks to a person who is unsure about working with handicapped children she tells them not to be ashamed of how they feel.

"Most every volunteer overcomes the reservations," she says. "Mostly what I look for in volunteers is a desire to work with the youngsters."

THAT DESIRE, she says, is more important than training.

"We have plenty of professionals," Mrs. Levy explains, "what we need for the summer program are volunteers as adjuncts to the teachers, mostly to do the busy work that the teacher does not have time to do.

"Overly trained volunteers are a hazard. We want volunteers who are willing to listen and learn and serve as helping hands."

Teachers are so grateful for the help of volunteers that they are willing to explain what they want when making a request of a volunteer, she says.

In all Mrs. Levy estimates the program will need 110 volunteers to assist at either seven or eight locations.

"Students must be at least 15 years old or have completed the ninth grade," she says. "We need adult volunteers also. They lend stability to the program."

"THE GREATEST need is always for teachers' assistants to help with finger painting, pottery, games and on the playground," she says. "Often a volunteer will work on a one-to-one basis with a student, and sometimes a special need will arise.

"Last year one of the therapists thought a child was ready to ride a bicycle and was getting nowhere until a volunteer with a motorcycle took him out in the parking lot and enticed him to ride by leading him around."

At Marindale volunteers are needed to help with patterning of orthopedically handicapped children. An orientation session for that specialty will teach volunteers how to lift, brace, feed and dress the children.

Summer school session will be from June 23 to July 30, five days a week from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The only exception is Forest Meadows Development Center for mentally retarded which continues throughout the year.

OTHER LOCATIONS are Magnolia Park School for trainable mentally retarded teen-age through 21-year-olds, Oakview School for kindergarten through sixth grade mentally handicapped, Gallinas School annex and possibly Meadow Park School for hearing handicapped, Henry C. Hall School for autistic children and San Clemente School for aphasiac youngsters.

An attempt is made to place volunteers geographically, by their skills and special interests.

"Many volunteers return summer after summer," says Mrs. Levy. "They say working with the youngsters is richly rewarding and I hear from most of them that they get more out of it than they put into it. Anyone wondering 'What am I going to do this summer?" can contact me mornings at Marindale for more information about the program."

Fatherhood—Symbol Of Time

Although we Americans identify the "Father of his country" with George Washington, Julius Caesar was the first of a long line of men who were honored with this title.

Fatherhood has always been held with high regard throughout history. For this reason "father" has been used in many instances as a favorite title. For example, in ancient Rome, senators were called fathers or patres. It is from this word that we derive the words patrician and patriotic.

Look back into our own history. We've had the Pilgrim Fathers, the Puritan Fathers and the Founding Fathers who framed the Constitution. For more than a century, the senior member of the house of Representatives was called "Father of the house."

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Teen-Ager Answers Peers' Complaints About Elders

DEAR HELEN:

I'm 16 and proud to be a member of my generation, but I'd like to answer three major teen protests that often appear in your column.

First — to the kids who complain that store clerks are mean to them:

Are you sure you don't give the clerks reason to put you down? Or watch you suspiciously? Or wait on you last? Have you ever tried smiling at the person behind the counter, or saying something friendly? I have, and it works fine. Just remember she may have had cranky people to contend with before you came in, so leave her smiling! You'll hit a few "impossibles," but with most people, what you give is what you get.

Second — to students who think they don't deserve homework because office workers don't have any:

A teacher has only 50 minutes a day to teach one course. She can get you started, but YOU have to take it from there, with individual work. She spends a lot of extra hours correcting your home assignments, and not many are simply "busy work."

An employee who doesn't put in overtime and spends off-hours thinking about his job isn't likely to get ahead.

Third — to those who would put down the Establishment. Are you smart enough to replace it? Protest is fine if you've got something better to offer, that won't get us in an even bigger mess. But constant complaints (riots, bombings, take-overs) only make solutions that much harder to find. Why can't we all listen to each other? It's good to point out what's wrong, but only if we work like crazy to right it. — ANN T.

DEAR ANN:

Thanks for your good letter.

What we need is intelligent protest, educated listening, cooperative effort, and a lot more appreciation for what's right about the world. Recognizing problems is the first step toward solving them, but it takes optimism as well as awareness and work to really change things. Right? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I was so-o-o happy when my boy friend got a special pass to come home from Army camp — until he told me how he got it.

He handed his superior officer this sob story about his girl being pregnant and he had to get there right away so he could marry her. I'm the girl, and I'm not pg, and we don't plan to marry until he's out of the service!

I asked him how he'd explain that the wedding didn't come off and he said, "Don't worry, I'll manage." Knowing my boy friend, it will be a great story.

What if at some time I happen to meet the man he tells it to? — N.O.T.

DEAR N.:

Then you'll meet either a nice guy who knows he is being conned but still gives leaves to homesick soldiers; or a gullible officer who actually believes that well-worn pitch for an emergency pass.

Whichever, you have nothing to worry about — and aren't you glad! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I like school a lot, but gosh, do we have to be told how to dress. We can't even wear sandals without hose, and boys can't wear them, period. Wearing shorts is a crime — and it's hot here! The guys must have their hair cut short, and the girls can't wear pants even in winter. I thought a Supreme Court ruling made those kinds of goofy laws illegal. — MAD

DEAR MAD:

So says a recent issue of Co-Ed Magazine. Why don't you look it up in your school library and leave the article on your principal's desk? — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Please Your Cooking Dad

A complaint heard often before Father's Day is that a woman can always use another trinket but it's so hard to think of anything different yet inexpensive for a man.

Too true, but you're in luck if you have a husband or father who enjoys cooking up a gourmet dish once in a while. Specialty and department stores have culinary gadgets that may gladden the heart of the sometime chief who never can seem to find what he wants in the kitchen.

Beer In Cooking

Beer, an 8,000-year-old beverage, is becoming popular as a cooking ingredient, according to the United Sates Brewers Association. Beer is appearing in various recipes in national magazines and newspapers throughout the country.

Mrs. Gary L. Church To Head Sigma Kappa

A former teacher, Mrs. Gary L. Church of Novato, has been elected to head the Marin Alumnae Chapter of Sigma Kappa.

Judith Church, who was vice president last year, says the club will have a calendar of meetings and fund-raising ideas ready for the members in June to carry the group through the year. The club stresses friendship and community service. Each Sigma Kappa member volunteers one morning a month for the San Rafael Convalescent Hospital's arts and crafts program. The group also raises funds for college groups and the Volunteer Bureau of Marin.

A native of Detroit, she holds a degree in education from Purdue University and taught school in Ceres for a year-and-a-half.

The Churches have lived in Marin for two-and-a-half years and are the parents of Stephanie Lynn, 2, and Andrea Lise, 7 months old.

Mrs. Evans enjoys reading and she creates wearing apparel and craft items for her family and for sale.

Model Airplanes For Fathers

If father is chained to an office day after day, get him out in the sun and wind with a flying model plane. They come in various sizes, ready-to-fly or as kits to assembly on his own. He'll recapture his youth.

He'll never realize how good the mental and physical exercise of this hobby is until he's out in the air piloting his plane.

Women's Equal TV Opportunity Checked

To accumulate data on the number of women who appear on television and the way in which they are used, the National Organization for Women reports it will begin monitoring television stations around the country next month.

Mary Jean Robson, Midwest regional director for NOW, said that data will be tabulated on use of women both in programming and advertising and used, if necessary, against a station during its license renewal proceedings with the Federal Communications Commission.

Small Children Need Watching At Pools

Older children can be "drown proofed" in swimming classes and water safety courses but toddlers usually cannot save themselves, State Public Health Director Louis F. Saylor warns.

"If you own a swimming pool, it is your responsibility to watch small children and not assume they are safe while out of the water," he says.

Of the 171 drownings in California which occurred in home swimming or wading pools last year, 105 were among children aged 1 to 3. In at least 20 cases, according to Dr. Saylor, tricycles used by the victims were found on the pool bottom or overturned on a surrounding walkway.

He suggests fencing — with a gate that a small child cannot open unaided — be installed around home pools as a safety measure. If this is impractical, adults or competent older youngsters should always be present to keep younger children from danger.

Adults are not immune to home swimming pool fatalities, Dr. Saylor says.

"About half of the 40 drownings last year among older persons involved the prior use of alcohol or drugs. There were 36 more drownings in home pools last year than in 1969," he says.

All drownings in California have increased 75 per cent since 1962; home pool drownings went up 60 per cent in the same period. The total number of drownings from all causes last year was 851, of which 712 were associated with recreational activites.

For advice on the proper care of a home pool, Dr. Saylor suggests calling the local health department. Managers of public pools also may obtain copies of state regulations from local health officers.

Mortality Rate Down For Women

If you're a woman who has reached her 45th birthday, you can breathe easier now.

A recent study by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has revealed that mortality among women 45 and older is on the decrease in the United States.

Sharing the good fortune are over-45 females in Canada and Western Europe. These women have been enjoying a steadily decreasing incidence of mortality in all age groups, according to the Metropolitan Life survey.

The study points out that, because of its size, population, diversity and degree of industrialization, the United States is more reasonably regarded as a continent rather than a homogeneous national entity.

Therefore, it is more meaningful to compare the mortality rates for the United States as a whole with a block of the more industrialized Western European countries such as the United Kingdom, Germany, France, Ireland and Belgium, rather than with small national units such as Norway, Denmark, Sweden and the Netherlands.

Females in the United States had lower death rates than their European counterparts at ages 65-84,

Another French Cook Book

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—The third member of that three-woman team who wrote a famous book on French cooking is back at the front burner again—with a cookbook all her own.

The publication in the United States in 1961 of "Mastering the Art of French Cooking" was the work of Julia Child, an American, and Louise Bertholle and Simone Beck, both French-born. An immediate hit, the book may have done for French cuisine what spaghetti did for Italy. Almost overnight, amateur American cooks graduated from steaks into the world of quenelle de brochet, rond de gigot aux herbes and other marvels of French cooking.

MRS. CHILD burst onto the U.S. television scene with a program to teach the masses how to cut truffles and blanch green beans and even got some of the credit for starting the wine-drinking trend in America. Mrs. Child, by now practically a household word in America, and Mrs. Beck last year published a sequel to "Mastering" but Mrs. Bertholle's name was missing from the cover.

turns out to be not only alive and cooking well in Paris but bowing back into bookstores in autumn with her own hefty work, "The 365 Best Recipes from the Best Restaurants of France." Written in French, it will be translated into other languages.

Mrs. Bertholle wrangled recipes from every restaurant in France that has the three stars in the Michelin Restaurant Guide and many of those with two stars. One prize was the secret recipe for piece de boeuf a la royale from the Restaurant de Pyramide in Vienna. Laperouse in Paris parted with the formula for steak saute, the Auberge du Pere Bise in Talloires contributed feuilletes aux ris de veau, and so on from other highly rated eateries.

Mrs. Bertholle said she "separated" from her two collaborators some years ago around the time she married and became the Comtesse de Maleche. She has not seen Mrs. Child for some time but "I see Simone now and then; she is an old friend." "I got interested in cooking after the war, started collecting recipes and cooked by myself for 20 years," said the countess, sitting in her luxurious apartment on Victor Hugo Avenue. "Then I had a chance to learn my classical cooking from Pellaprat, a pupil of Escoffier (famous French chef)."

IN 1950, she and Mrs. Beck met Mrs. gchild, the wife of a U.S. Embassy official, and the three opened a cooking school, "Ecole de Trois Gourmands", in Mrs. Child's apartment. After the Childs were transferred to Germany, Mrs. Beck and Mrs. Bertholle continued the school in the Bertholle flat until 1967, with most of their pupils American women. The three took 10 years to compile their "Mastering".

Mrs. Bertholle urged all amateur chefs to go to a cooking school because "You have to study enough to be able to do cooking easily. I don't believe in self-made cooks. You have to have a classical base."

Mrs. Bertholle does almost all the cooking at home.

"I miss cooking when I go on holiday," she said. "It's very important, cooking. A woman who really cooks has a different kind of house and family, a different way of life. My two children and my seven grandchildren always ask what we are going to eat and give me criticisms."

THE COOKING teacher often dines out with her husband in "haute cuisine" or super-fancy restaurants because "I can do bistro food better at home." Her favorite Paris restaurant is Lasserre.

Mrs. Bertholle turned to her kitchen—spotless, large and modern—and started on dinner featuring roast duck with white peaches.

Young Frenchwomen have simplified cuisine these days because of the shortage of time, she said, but "French cuisine is not dying. There will always be French cooking. It is immortal."

Bright Colors On Classic Furniture

The association of traditional furniture with only wood finishes is passe. At a recent furniture show in North Carolina new, misty painted finishes on many period pieces had names like antique sky blue, creamy apricot, tany yellow, silent green and deep celery.

The colors bring a fresh, bright look to the classic 18th Century furniture styles in tables, chairs, armoires and chests and contrast with pieces that have darker, natural wood grain finishes.

Meat Eating On Increase

Meat consumption per person in the United States has increased 40 pounds per person in the past 20 years, according to the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Americans set a new record in 1970 of 185 pounds, which means the livestock and meat industry not only has been able to keep up with the population increase but also has produced more meat for each of us.

Following the United States among the top per capita meat consumption countries are Canada, 156 pounds; United Kingdom, 137 pounds; and France, 135 pounds.

Today is Tuesday, June 1, the 152nd day of 1971.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening star is Jupiter.

Those born on this day are under the sign of Gemini.

British poet John Masefield was born June 1, 1878.

On this day in history:

In 1812 President James Madison warned Congress that war with Great Britain was inevitable.

In 1958 General Charles De Gaulle was named premier of France. He resigned 14 years later.

In 1964 the U.S. Supreme Court barred prayers and Bible teaching in public schools.

In 1968 Helen Keller, the blind teacher, died at the age of 87 in Westport, Conn.

A thought for today: John Masefield said, "The rain that makes things new, the earth that hides things old."

'Irreversible' End To War Is Seen

HAMILTON, N.Y. (UPI)— Secretary of State William P. Rogers says President Nixon is getting the United States out of Vietnam and his program for winding the war down is "irreversible."

Rogers, in a commencement address Sunday at his alma mater, Colgate University, defended the President's handling of the war despite demands from students last year that he resign from the university's board of trustees because of the Nixon administration's Vietnam policies.

WINNING BRIDGE

Special Spot In Hades Reserved For Those Who Sin At Bridge

It was probably Dante who pointed out that a special circle of the infernal regions is reserved for bridge players who throw away the setting trick in their eagerness to signal strength to partner. In some cases the sinner is punished before he dies. Today's hand has been published a dozen times, much to the grief of the East players.

TWINS DEFENDING

The occasion was the match between Great Britain and Germany in the European Championships of 1958. The Sharples brothers, identical twins, were defending against the German declarer, Rudi Chodziesner.

One of the twins (I have never been able to tell them apart) led the king of clubs and then continued with the ace. His brother won himself a passport to Hades by discarding the nine of spades on the ace of clubs.

It looked safe, but this exuberant discard gave declarer the contract.

Chodziesner ruffed the second club, cashed the king of diamonds and then led his spade. West played the jack (at which declarer smiled ghoulishly) and dummy's king lost to the ace.

VAIN ATTEMPT

East returned a heart in a vain attempt to get the setting trick in that suit. Declarer won in dummy and returned the eight of spades. East covered with the ten, and South ruffed.

Declarer led a trump to dummy's seven and returned the six of spades. East covered with the seven, and South ruffed.

Declarer led a trump to the ace and returned the four of spades. East had to cover with the queen, and South ruffed once again.

NOBODY SPOKE

Now the only spades left were dummy's three and East's deuce. South led a heart tc dummy and cashed the three of spades to discard his last heart.

Nobody said a word, but a reporter at the table (it wasn't Dante) copied the hand and asked East if he had any comments. He had some, but they won't appear in this report.

BERKELEY (UPI) — A strong earthquake was recorded Sunday 4,400 miles northeast of Berkeley in the Arctic Ocean off the Alaskan coast.

Dr. Robert Adams of the University of California seismographic station said the quake's magnitude was between 5.6 and 6.0 on the Richter scale.

Students To Give Report On Marshes

The results of student studies of four marshes in Marin County will be presented at 8 p.m. tomorrow in a public meeting at the little theater at Sir Francis Drake High School in San Anselmo.

In the program, entitled "Marshlands are Not Wastelands," the students will give their findings on a Mill Valley marsh which has been diked off, a Corte Madera marsh, China Camp marsh and Lower Tubbs Island.

The study was made possible through a grant from the National Audubon Society through the society's educational program at the Richardson Bay Wildlife Sanctuary. The students recorded variations in salinity, differences in plant zoning, numbers of organisms found in mud flats and animal life seen in the marshes.

Rudy Genetti, science teacher at the high school, directed the study. Phyllis Faber of Mill Valley and Mrs. Rembert Kingsley of Ross were consultants. Dr. William M. Kortum of the California Coastal Alliance will give a slide presentation on the status of our coastal lands. He will discuss pending state legislation to protect our coast.

First Look Thursday At New Countywide Goals

Marin should strive to become less a bedroom community and more a self-sufficient economic unit.

This is one of the main goals outlined in the preliminary countywide general plan, which will get its first public airing before the Marin City-County Planning Council Thursday Night. The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock in the faculty lounge at Redwood High School in Larkspur.

Here are some of the recommendations made in the preliminary countywide plan prepared by the county planning department:

URBAN GROWTH — Future urban growth should be focussed on existing city centers and accommodated within the present six city areas in the eastern third of the county (along Highway 101).

VISITOR ENTERPRISE — Positive efforts should be made to establish a resort complex and other visitor services in the coastal recreation corridor (West Marin) and thus boost the county's economy.

INDUSTRIAL — Space should be reserved for small producers using highly skilled craftsmen, producers of arts and crafts, and office and research centers.

COMMERCIAL — New commercial growth should be channeled to sites adjacent to existing downtowns and shopping centers. High grade restaurants and fun shopping areas should be encouraged.

OPEN SPACE — In the eastern urban corridor, the bay shoreline and the ridgeland should be acquired for open space. Ranch lands in the Nicasio and San Geronimo valleys should be preserved, and residential development centered around existing villages. In the coastal recreation corridor, the Golden Gate National Recreation Area should be established, and a parkway from the bridge to Point Reyes National Seashore. Marin should focus efforts on preserving Bolinas Lagoon and Tomales Bay.

GEOLOGIC HAZARDS — Special regulations should be set up to restrict development along the San Andreas fault and on unstable hillsides and eroding sea cliffs.

UTILITIES — Precedence should be given to replacing or improving inadequate plants and lines in developed areas before service is extended to new areas.

HOUSING — Low and moderate income housing should be encouraged by various means including zoning and incentives to developers.

BALANCED TRANSPORTATION — The optimum bus and ferry transit systems should be established as planned. Any expansion of the highway system should be limited to the urban corridor along Highway 101, with the exception of the Point Reyes National Parkway.

Review Of Budget Due Commission

The Corte Madera Parks and Recreation Commission, meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at town hall, will begin review of its proposed fiscal 1971-72 budget totaling about $30,000.

The commission also is expected to discuss its summer recreation program and proposed bicycle routes through town.

Community, Police Affairs To Be Discussed

Police-community problems in San Anselmo and Fairfax will be discussed at 8 p.m. Thursday in a community seminary in the faculty lounge of Drake High School.

The program which includes a workshop and panel is sponsored by the Marin County Police Community Relations Program and is the fifth in its series of seminars.

Moderator will be Dr. William S. Scalopino, head of the behavioral science department at the College of Marin.

'Die Fledermaus' Set Two Nights

The San Francisco Lamplighters will present Johan Strauss' "Die Fledermaus" at 5:30 p.m. June 18 and 19 at the San Rafael High School Auditorium.

The production, sponsored by the Marin Shakespeare Festival and the high school's drama club, is a musical comedy directed by Orva Hoskinson, founder of the Lamplighters. Hoskinson also plays Gabriel von Eisenstein, the lead.

The festival will present the Margot Jones Dance Company at 8 p.m. June 24, 25 and 26 at Forest Meadows Theatre on the Dominican College campus in San Rafael.

The first gas street-lighting system was introduced in Baltimore in 1817.

Three Picked For Sonoma State Panel

Three Sonoma County residents have been appointed to the advisory board of Sonoma State College, according to E. Guy Warren, chairman of the California State College Board of Trustees.

Named to terms continuing until Sept. 30, 1974, were Helen Rudee, John W. Kelly of Santa Rosa and Stephen K. Jones of Cotati.

The new appointees raise the advisory board membership from eight to 11 members. The state code permits 13 members. All were recommended by Sonoma State president Thomas H. McGrath.

Mrs. Rudee serves on the board of directors of Rone Hospital and is secretary of the Sonoma County Health Planning Council. She is also clerk of the Santa Rosa Board of Education, secretary of the Sonoma County School Trustees Association, a director of the Friends of Santa Rosa and the Sonoma County Public Library.

Mrs. Rudee, a registered nurse, is also chairman of the youth section of the Sonoma County Council on Community Services and a member of the Stanford Nurses Club.

Kelly, a Sonoma State graduate, is employed by Lincoln National Life Insurance Co. and is a director and former president of the Sonoma State Alumni Association.

He is a member of the Council of California State College Alumni Association, the Sonoma County Estate Planning Council and the Santa Rosa 20-30 Club.

Jones is manager of the Cotati branch of the Exchange Bank of Santa Rosa. He is president of the Cotati Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the Cotati Citizens Planning Advisory Committee on the Cotati general plan. Jones has been active in 4-H work for five years and is also a member of the 20-30 Club of Santa Rosa.

Tools Stolen

Tools valued at $363 and an undetermined amount of food were taken between 8 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday from Foremost Foods Co. of 648 Lindaro Street, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Social Security Amount Rises

Social security checks this month will show a 10 per cent increase retroactive to January, according to Ed Leuin, social security manager in San Rafael.

Leuin said benefits are due to the general increase signed into law March 17 by President Nixon.

Recipients will receive the first check containing the increase this week; a separate check covering the retroactive amounts from January through April will be sent later in June.

Hearing Set For Pair In Burglary

Arrested Friday were John Robert Oates of 8 Alexander Avenue and Ross Sheffield Murphy, 20, of 75 Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae.

Officers said the two were stopped in San Anselmo after a Greenbrae woman told police they had attempted to enter her home and later entered that of a neighbor, Aubrey C. Mendle, of 50 Via Cheparro.

When stopped, San Anselmo officers said, the auto in which the two men were riding contained about $450 worth of stereo equipment and a camera owned by Mendle.

Murphy was released Friday from Marin Conty Jail on $3,125 bail and Oates on $2,500. Both were scheduled to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Librarians Will Meet Tomorrow

The Bay Area Reference Librarians Council will hold a dinner meeting at the Tiburon Lodge at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Richard Hastings, assistant librarian of the Marin County Library, will preside. A four-man panel will discuss "The Future of the Bay Area."

. . .at Court of Honor

Terra Linda Boys Due Eagle Rank

Two 15-year-old Terra Linda boys will receive Eagle Awards in a Boy Scout Troop 76 court of honor at 8 o'clock tonight in Christ Presbyterian Church in Terra Linda.

The top rank in scouting will go to David Starkweather, son of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Starkweather of 612 Las Colindas Road, and Tim Blewett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blewett of 405 Holly Drive. Both boys are sophomores at Terra Linda High School.

Starkweather has been troop scribe, patrol leader and senior patrol leader. For his Eagle project, he organized and did much of the publicity and maintenance of the troop's newspaper recycling station.

He plays the cello in his school orchestra and in the Marin Youth Orchestra, and is interested in gardening, hiking, backpacking, skiing and coin collecting.

Blewett is senior patrol leader in his troop and has been to Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico. He has participated in several High Sierra backpacking expeditions and holds the brotherhood rank in the Order of the Arrow. He is a member of the wrestling team at school.

Blewett will be craft director at Marin Sierra summer camp.

OLSON BRILLIANT

Marin 'Cats Are Champs

By PAUL CANE

A virtually unknown substitute outfielder provided the two game-winning hits yesterday, as the Marin Catholic Wildcats won their second Redwood High School Tournament of Champions with a 4-0 victory over Kennedy of Fremont before 2,250 fans at San Rafael's Albert Park.

Left fielder Mickey Hurley, who hasn't even played in half of Marin Catholic's games, got his chance yesterday and came through with two clutch hits and knocked in two runs for the Wildcats, who became the only team to win the tournament twice in its eight-year history.

Marin Catholic's pitcher, righthander Tom Olson, matched exactly his performance of Friday night with yet another two-hit shutout. Only one Kennedy runner even got as far as third base, as Olson wrapped up a near-perfect 10-1 won-lost season for himself with 18 scoreless innings in succession in the tournament.

Olson, joined by batterymate Paul Riccardi, were selected for the all-tournament team. Riccardi, in addition to calling three flawless games, picked up three hits, including a triple, and scored three runs for Marin Catholic during the tournament. He also saved Olson's shutout with a tremendous tag on a close play at the plate at Castlemont's Danny Jones Friday night.

Sunset High of Hayward emerged victorious over Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park 1-0 in the third-place game; Richmond shut out Moreau of Hayward 4-0 for the Consolation Title (5th Place); and Ygnacio of Concord dealt Castlemont of Oakland its third loss in three starts 4-1, for 7th place in the other tournament games yesterday.

Kennedy pitcher Dennis DeBaar, also named to the all-tourney team, certainly did not deserve the defeat he suffered. Hurley's two sharp hits were the only solid base knocks off DeBaar, who was victimized by the errors of his teammates, and by infield hits.

In the three-run second, Vince Bormolini worked the count to three and two before drawing a walk. Chuck Lauderback, attempting to sacrifice on a DeBaar fastball, bunted the ball right back to the pitcher, who wheeled and fired a strike to second in an attempt to get the force on Bormolini. But shortstop Dave Christian couldn't handle the perfect throw, and all runners were safe.

Steve Sherry moved both runners along on a sacrifice bunt, and after Riccardi was called out on strikes, Hurley came up for his first act of heroism.

The righthanded batter lined the ball sharply into right field, scoring Bormolini, and advanced to second on the throw back in. This was the first time a Wildcat batsman had even made good contact with one of DeBaar's amazing fastballs or curves.

METS FALL VICTIM

Mays Is Master Of Game

By JOE SARGIS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Someone once said Willie Mays can beat you 100 different ways.

That might be a slight exaggeration, because Monday he helped the San Francisco Giants beat the New York Mets, 2-1, in 11 innings in only six different ways.

The 40-year-old super star, who seems this year to have torn a page from his own book of life of at least 10 years ago, "did it all," as they say in the dugouts, to beat the Mets.

He hit his 11th homer in the eighth with the Giants behind 1-0 and he did it on a 3-0 count. Jerry Koosman, the Mets' star lefthander, shook his head in disbelief and disgust while Mays danced around the bases to the delight of a holiday crowd of 26,087.

"I'm on my own in that situation," said Mays. "If there is a chance to tie or win it, I'll swing if the pitch is anywhere near the plate. If we are two behind, naturally, I have to take it and hope to get on with a walk."

That was only the beginning.

In the top of the ninth Mays made two star plays while filling in at first for the injured and hobbling Willie McCovey.

On the first, Tito Fuentes, who drove Mays home from third with a sacrifice fly to right in the 11th for the game winning blow, ranged behind second to pick up a grounder by Cleon Jones. Tito whirled off balance and zipped the ball to first but it didn't have much on it and barely got there, but Mays converted it into an out with a long stretch and grab.

Bob Aspromonte followed with a walk and Al Weis went in to run for him. Then Jerry Grote, who already had two of the mets seven hits, lined a vicious liner wide of first. Reacting with the crack of the bat, Mays got his glove in front of the ball. It bounded in front of him and right into pitcher Jerry Johnson's glove. Johnson threw to second to easily trap Weis, and a fielder's choice grounder ended the inning.

In the 10th, Koosman singled leading off. But when Don Hahn, who had leaped high against the fence in center in the sixth to take a two-run homer away from Mays, bunted toward first, Mays scooped up the ball and in one motion threw hard to second to just nip Koosman. He followed that by backing up and grabbing a short popup by Bud Harrelson with his back to the plate.

If that wasn't enough, Mays still had a trick left for the 11th.

He walked leading off the frame to finish Koosman, who took his third loss in six decisions despite giving up only five

Willsey Guest Speaker At Cal Alumni Meet

SPORTS IN SHORTS. . .

Ray Willsey, a hero at University of California since coaching the Bears back to football respectability in recent seasons, will be guest speaker at the U.C. Alumni Club of Marin County meeting tonight, 8 o'clock, at the Holiday Inn, San Rafael.

Alumni board member John S. Russell notes with pride that Willsey's Bears beat both Rose Bowl champion Stanford and USC last year and expects a large turnout for tonight's coffee and dessert meeting. The U.C. Alumni Club has 4,000 members in Marin. Brew up some extra coffee, chef.

WOMEN'S LIBERATION is making advances on Marin's tennis courts. Director Don Reuter of the Marin County Heart Association announces that the third annual Tennis Tournament for Heart, previously an all men's singles and doubles event, will be open also to mixed doubles June 12-13 and June 19-20 at San Domenico School for Girls in San Anselmo.

Last year the tourney netted $800 for heart research and Chairman John Walker predicts higher proceeds this year, thanks to the additional dollies.

TEN-YEAR-OLD Jim "Kidd" Andersen of San Rafael is a real baseball buff. The other day I spotted him in a Giants' T-shirt and an Athletics' cap. He said his favorite colors are Kelly green, California gold, wedding gown white and Vida Blue. I think he favors the A's.

EUGENE KILGORE III of Tiburon and Scott Walker of Mill Valley, both teeners, will have an exotic summer, visiting such faraway places as England, Scotland, Germany, France, Italy and Yugoslavia.

That's because they're members of the Shawnigan Lake School for Boys (Vancouver, B.C.) varsity crew that has qualified for international rowing competition in Europe this summer.

IT STARTED out seven years ago as just a little Memorial Day entertainment for the kids in the neighborhood, but yesterday's Bogey Lane Invitational Saop Box Derby at the Marin Country Club Estates in Novato drew 75 cars and a crowd of 400 persons.

Publicity Chairman Selina Lindauer said: "It's become so big we just can't handle any more spectators. Yesterday they were trampling over gardens on Bogey Lane."

By the way, all the entry fees for the homemade cars and proceeds from refreshment sales were returned to the children in the form of gift certificates.

Aparicio's Record Of Batting Futility

BOSTON (UPI)—Everybody knows Joe DiMaggio holds the major league consecutive game hitting streak at 56 games but there's a roaring debate over the holder of the record for hitless trips to the plate.

Best available statistics show that if Boston shortstop Luis Aparicio hasn't broken the record, he's giving it a whale of a fight.

Aparicio went hitless in four trips in the first game of Monday's doubleheader and sat out the second game. The four fruitless trips extended his hitless string to 44 tries which is widely recorded as the modern record for non-pitchers.

In the process of going 0-for-4 Monday, Luis demonstrated more of his miserable luck. He was robbed by Ed Kirkpatrick on a shot to left field and he had a screamer to right go foul by inches.

The 37-year-old Aparicio sat out the second game Monday with John Kennedy getting two singles in four tries and the Red Sox indicated Luis would probably be "rested" again today.

Aparicio, whose average dipped to .154, still was able to joke with writers. Noting he currently was living in a sixth floor hotel room, he said he'd better move to a lower floor to remove the temptation. He also noted that "if I were the manager, I don't think I'd go with me this long" and "if I were the fans, I'd boo me too."

Stan Smith Wins Match In French Tennis Play

PARIS (UPI)—Sixth seeded Stan Smith struggled through the fourth round of the men's singles in the $100,000 French Open tennis championships today to give the United States three players in the last eight.

Smith, the 6-foot-4 inch independent pro from Pasadena, Calif., beat France's Patrice Dominguez 6-4, 2-6, 8-6, 6-2 despite never showing his top form.

Smith, a private first class (PFC) in the U.S. Army and currently on leave to "warm up" for the Davis Cup, found the sluggish center clay court of Roland Garros Stadium went against his normally fast game.

Evonne Goolagong, the Australian No. 3 seed, produced some superb tennis to go through to the women's singles semifinals at the expense of French pro Francoise Durr.

Miss Goolagong — her backhand in devastating form — swept past the French girl 6-3, 6-0 to raise Australia's hopes that the women's title may yet come home despite the shock defeat Sunday of top seed Margaret Court.

Davis Continues Bat Work For A's

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tommy Davis is trying hard to crack the starting lineup of the Oakland Athletics.

Taking over at first base for Mike Epstein, Davis collected five hits in nine at-bats Monday to help the A's gain a doubleheader split with the New York Yankees. That boosted Davis' batting average to .322, one of the highest on the club.

Davis singled home the tiebreaking run and ignited a three-run fifth inning to pace the A's to a 6-3 win in the second game. The Yankees snapped Jim Hunter's eight-game winning streak in the opener by whipping Oakland 5-3 behind a three-run homer by Johnny Ellis.

Epstein has been batting .291 with three homers since coming to the A's from Washington in a trade. So A's manager Dick Williams finds himself with two first basemen, one batting lefthanded (Epstein) and the other righthanded, who are hitting the ball with regularity.

Oakland closes its three-game series against the Yankees tonight in the regionally televised game with flamethrowing lefthander Vida Blue seeking his 11th win against New York's Steve Kline (4-4). Blue lost to Boston last week for his second defeat of the season after winning 10 in a row.

Then the Athletics celebrate a belated Memorial Day holiday with Wednesday and Thursday off before closing out the road trip with a three-game weekend set at Washington.

Dick Green hit a solo homer for Oakland, his eighth of the campaign, off winning pitcher Fritz Peterson (5-4) in Monday's first game. When Reggie Jackson followed with his 10th hom-

Drivers Planning Design Changes

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —Major design changes were planned today by the Indianapolis "500" auto racing drivers fraternity in an effort to achieve the right combination of aerodynamics and power.

None of the highly publicized McLaren machines won Saturday's record smashing, wreck-marred race, although one of the three new British creations came in second behind winner Al Unser after the McLarens virtually stole the show in practice.

Unser won the speedway's second consecutive million dollar event in a car basically the same as last year's model, at a record speed of better than 157 miles per hour, but his crew already is thinking ahead to next year.

"We've gone about as far as we can go with the design," said former "500" winner Parnelli Jones, Unser's car owner. "Next year we're going to have to change our design completely."

Wings, or airfoils —used by three-time speedway champ A.J. Foyt this year and by Mark Donohue, the latter in a McLaren and also the fastest man in practice —are the new design features with which some leading teams plan to experiment.

Veteran Dan Gurney, conceded the design of the M16 McLarens afforded the car superior stability at hich speeds. But others felt the eight-cylinder Ford engine used by Unser and Foyt, was more reliable although not as powerful as the four-cyclinder Offenhausers in the McLarens and other machines.

Neither power plant had a clear edge in the race. The Offys had an 18-15 advantage among the 33 starting cars and a 7-5 margin among the 12 cars running at the finish.

Aerodynamics experts said the Offy engine was a more suitable design to cope with the air flow at high speed driving, particularly in the turns where handling is important. However, Donohue's car developed handling problems during qualifications and pole sitter Peter Revson, runnerup to Unser in the race, encountered steering problems in his McLaren during the three-hour grind, yet trailed the winner by just 23 seconds at the finish.

Gurney, who retired from active driving this year after an illustrious career, was so impressed with the McLaren design, he planned to build similar creations in the immediate future. In fact, he felt Donohue's car was superior to any other auto at the race, leading the first 50 laps before being eliminated by gear failure after 66 laps.

"Had Donohue been able to continue his effortless ride, it would have been ridiculous," Gurney said. "He would have run away from everybody."

The McLarens also were expected to be back next year, the third of a projected three-year program for the team to win the "500". But only two foreign drivers were lured to the speedway this year, former world Grand Prix king Denis Hulme of New Zealand and England's David Hobbs.

Hulme, in the third new McLaren, was sidelined by engine failure after 136 laps while Hobbs crashed shortly after the halfway mark.

Unser led 103 of the 200 laps, including the last 88, and collected nearly $240,000 at Sunday night's victory dinner, compared with his payoff of nearly $272,000 last year when he led all but 10 laps.

The accessory prize list dropped more than $30,000 from last year but the speedway increased its own purse by more than $33,000 for a record total of $1,001,604.

Unser's winning speed, nearly a mile faster than the old record by Mario Andretti two years ago, could have been considerably greater but for three crashes and a spin that forced the field to reduce speeds under the yellow light for 53 minutes.

Shower Of Bats, Debris For Orioles' Don Buford

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Don Buford had an unexpected shower Monday—a barrage of miniature baseball bats — but the Baltimore outfielder didn't need them to get his belts in.

Buford belted a pair of homers to drive in three runs and knocked down pitcher Bart Johnson during a free-for-all in the eighth inning in leading Baltimore to a 11-3 victory after the Chicago White Sox blanked the Orioles 1-0 on a five-hitter by Tommy John.

Buford was subjected to a barrage of debris—including a broken chair, miniature bats, and an ear of corn—while playing left field. A disgusted Chicago fan personally tried to prevent Buford from doing further damage to the home team by coming after him in the on-deck circle in the ninth inning of the nightcap.

Oriole Manager Earl Weaver viewed the whole situation as "an unfortunate situation.

"You gotta protect your players although I hate to take it out on the Chicago fans. The situation could have gotten out of hand. When Buford was in left field he was showered with all kinds of debris including the parts of two broken chairs. It got so bad I asked (umpire Nestor) Chylak to stop the game but he refused," said the indignant Oriole manager.

"Later in the game, in the ninth inning, I thought I saw debris flying out at Buford when he was waiting in the on-deck circle," said Weaver. "All of a sudden I saw a fan in a red shirt come over to Buford. I ran out of the dugout and grabbed my player because he was like a —ildcat. It was at this point that Chylak threw him out and I just wanted to get him off the field," Weaver said.

Buford also got his belts in physically. The Oriole outfielder, who scored four runs, raced to the mount after being hit for the second time and landed a hard right to Johnson's chest. Buford flew into a rage after being hit in the back and did not toss away the bat as Johnson retreated. After Johnson got knocked down by the chest blow, he got up and landed a right on Buford's face. As the benches emptied, Orioles outfielder Curt Mottom jumped on Johnson's back but the umpires quickly restored order.

In other American League action, Oakland and New York split a twinbill with New York taking the opener 5-3 and the A's capturing the nightcap 6-3. Minnesota beat Detroit 6-2, Kansas City swept a pair from Boston 7-3 and 9-4, Washington blanked California, 4-0 and Milwaukee shaded Cleveland 65.

In the National League, Pittsburgh blanked Chicago 6-0, Houston downed Cincinnati, 4-1, San Francisco edged New York 2-1 in 11 innings. St. Louis beat Atlanta 3-2, San Diego won 6-3 after a 3-1 loss to Philadelphia and Los Angeles beat Montreal 4-0.

Homers by Amos Otis and Cookie Rojas powered the Royals to the sweep of the Red Sox, the first time Boston has dropped a home doubleheader in nearly five years.

Otis hit a three-run drive, his eighth in the first game, and added a solo homer in the nightcap. Rojas hit a three-run homer in the second game, his second of the season.

Harmon Killebrew hit a three-run homer in the eigth inning as the Twins coasted xuhind the eight-hit pitching of Jim Kaat to spoil Detroit Manager Billy Martin's homecoming with a victory over the Tigers Martin managed Minnesota in 1969 when the Twins won the American League's Western Division title.

Denny Riddleberger allowed only two hits in five innings of scoreless relief for starter Mike Thompson as the Senators beat California.

Riddleberger replaced Thompson, who had allowed only one hit in three innings, when the rookie developed soreness in his pitching hand.

Ted Kubiak, one-for-45 in his previous trips to the plate, hit a 400-foot homer with one out in the ninth inning to give the Brewers their victory. Kubiak had flied out in his first at bat but singled and scored in the Brewers' two-run fourth and walked his next two times up before hitting the homer. Bill Voss also homered for the Brewers.

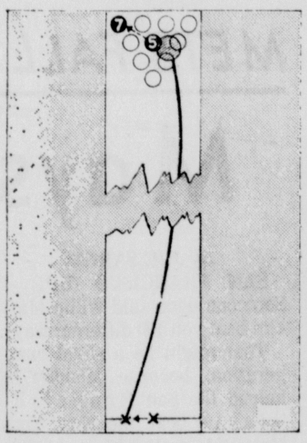
BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER



Converting a split is always a challenge, but I have a suggestion for picking up the familiar 5-7. First, move your feet five boards to the left of your normal starting position (illustration). Then aim at the same spot on the lanes that you've been using for your strike ball. You'll have a tendency to roll the ball "inside" to the left of the spot. But if you can go over it, you'll come close to sliding the 5-pin against the 7-pin.

FISH AND GAME

Everything's Legal At Rod-Gun Club Pier

By AL GIDDINGS

Game warden Russell Ild of Mill Valley and I took the Department of Fish and Game patrol boat all through the San Pablo Bay fishing areas last Saturday, checking about 20 boats. At the Richmond Bridge, there was only one boat fishing with bait (anchovies), and one of the anglers in the boat had a sturgeon on as we approached. We watched the action with the fish finally being netted. It's tough netting a big fish; this one weighed about 65 to 70 pounds. The angler's name was Lou Maspell from San Francisco.

There were two boats trolling near the bridge pilings but no one had a hit.

We thought we would shake up some of the Marin Rod and Gun Club pier anglers with a check by voice from the boat. Everything was legal; no one was even using two rods! One angler, Antone Aronov, really had a big fish going. After about a half hour, the fish was surfaced and netted. It took three people to lift it up to the 30-foot high pier. It turned out to be a giant stingray!

Up the bay off the China Camp area, things were slow, and enough wind to make it bouncy. There were no fish checked.

I HAVE some recent dope on the mercury problem. At Inverness, the people who fish Tomales Bay, according to Walt Mathews Sr., take all of their fish and hang them out at night by the tail to cool. Then, when the mercury level drops by morning, the fish are taken down and the heads removed, thereby removing the mercury. Smart people, those Invernessians!

I HAVEN'T heard a word from anyone in Marin County who was able to bag one of those bearded turkeys. Three hundred twenty-four hunters were checked by the Fish and Game Dept. They had bagged a total of 45 toms in California's first spring turkey season which ended May 2. The overall hunter success in the nine counties open was 14 per-cent. The breakdown by areas is as follows: San Luis Obispo County, 31 birds; Monterey County, 5; Tehama, 5; Shasta, 2; Trinity,1; Mendocino National Forest, 1. Several of the birds were in the 20-pound class. The longest beard was 9 ¾ inches which is in the trophy class.

GOOD NEWS. The spawning run of Eagle Lake, Lassen County, trout down to 16 fish in 1959, reached an estimated 2,500 to 3,000 this year. A record 353 females were spawned at the egg collecting station near the mouth of Pine Creek, tributary to Eagle Lake. More than one million eggs were taken from the spawners. Fishing is reported good now at the southern end of the lake near the tributaries, Merrill, Braun and Papoose creeks. Some 14,000 of these prized trout were caught by anglers there last year. Rehabilitation of the lake has been underway with 60,000 domestic stock and 40,000 wild stock now being planted annually. Some of the fish go to six pounds.

I RECEIVED two letters from the Webber Lake country in Sierra County. Lots of snow, and still some ice on the lake, which is at 7,000 feet. The new keepers, Bob and Jenny Jacks, formerly of Novato, have just about reached the cabins and are ready to open. Another friend, Bob Wise of the area, says he has been fishing Lake Tahoe, getting two or three Mackinaws each outing. The rainbow and the kokonee fishing should be starting at Tahoe almost anytime now!

SOMEONE "REMOVED" a recording thermometer from the Russian River several miles downstream from Guerneville this past week. The expensive instrument was being used by the Fish and Game Dept. to record water temperatures in connection with studies of the effects of summer dams on the shad runs in the Russian River. The Department would appreciate recovering the instrument and the valuable recording charts it contained. Contact any Fish and Game personnel if you have information on this.

SPEAKER — Jerry Johnson, ace relief pitcher for the San Francisco Giants, will be the main speaker at a dinner meeting of the Giants' Boosters Club tomorrow night, 6:30 o'clock, at Rubini's Restaurant in Fairfax. Also appearing will be Bob Stevens, president of the Baseball Writers Association of America, and basketball star Nate Thurmond of the San Francisco Warriors.

GIANTS

hits, and went to second on a sacrifice by Dick Dietz.

The game turned on the next play.

Al Gallagher hit a high chopper to third and Mays took off from second. He cut in front of rookie third baseman Tim Foli and then stopped suddenly.

Foli, befuddled by Mays' maneuver, made a stab at Willie and missed and by the time he straightened up to throw to first, Gallagher was safe and so, too, was Mays at third.

Fuentes, who won Sunday's second game against the Expos with a two-run single in the ninth, then lifted a long fly to right and Mays crossed with the winning run.

Mays said it was a tough play for Foli.

"I think he got confused when I stopped," Mays said, and when he missed me it was too late to make a play on Gallagher. If he goes for the play at first, he gets Gallagher easy and then maybe we don't win it since Tito's fly becomes the third out."

"It was a case of experience versus youth and experience won," said Mets skipper Gil Hodges. "What is there to say about Mays that hasn't been said a hundred times before? He's simply the best."

Charlie Fox, the Giants skipper, said flatly Mays is the greatest player in the history of the game.

"If there is a play he can't make — in the field, at bat or on the bases, I haven't seen it," said Fox. "He has to be the greatest player in the history of the game because he does everything. I wake up every morning and thank God he plays for me."

Lost in the dramatics of Mays' performance was a four-inning shutout relief stint that earned Jerry Johnson his sixth victory compared to a single loss.

The Mets scored their only run off starter Ron Bryant in the first on two walks and a single by Cleon Jones.

The two teams play again tonight with Steve Stone (4-2) pitching for the Giants and Gary Gentry (3-4) for the Mets.

runs crossed the plate on two infield hits, and a pop fly to third base which any of three Titan fielders could have taken with ease, but which fell between all three. The Wildcats should have gotten another run on the play, as Scott Cozza slowed rounding third thinking it was an easy out, and after it dropped in, was thrown out at the plate.

From then on, it was all DeBaar, as he struck out eight in the next four innings, including whiffing the side in the third and sixth.

The last M.C. run came in unusual fashion in the fourt. After Riccardi walked, Hurley came up again and pounded a would-be triple up the alley in left center, scoring Riccardi to make the score 4-0. However, Hurley apparently failed to touch second on his way around, and was called out on an appeal. The run, which had crossed before the infraction counted.

Although DeBaar pitched a masterful game, he did not outdo Olson, who struck out five en route to his two-hitter. In addition to the Marin Catholic duo on the all-tourney team, Kennedy's center fielder Don Mendoes was selected, with DeBaar.

Other members include Doug Waters, Sunset; Dave Bickel, Rancho Cotate; Bob Ortiz, Sunset; Al Garcia, Ygnacio; Jim Fischer, Richmond; Danny Jones, Castlemont.

Kevan Cabral raced home with the only run of the game in the fifth inning of the third place game, as Sunset dumped Rancho Cotate 1-0. Cabral, on by virtue of a one-out single, crossed the plate on a costly error by Rancho first baseman Lou Goring as the Falcons took the third place trophy.

A four-run second inning rally brought Richmond High the Consolation title over Moreau of Hayward, led by Mark Miles who delivered a clutch bases-loaded single to score two runs. The other two came in minutes later on a two-out double by center fielder Darrell Young.

Freshman star Miles Brantson pitched shutout ball for five innings and got the win for the Oilers, assisted by Paul Gengler in the last two frames.

A three-run first inning sparked by two Castlemont errors gave Ygnacio Valley the seventh place title.

Kennedy Meet Draws Top Talent

BERKELEY (UPI) —An outstanding group of field athletes, including shot putters Randy Matson and Al Feuerbach, world record holders Jay Silvester in the discus and Jorma Kinnunen in the javelin, top the early entry list in this weekend's Kennedy Games.

Meet director Dave Maggard says Kinnunen, who fouled on all three preliminary tosses at Modesto last weekend, will be challenged by Bill Skinner. Kinnunen's world mark of 304 feet compares to Skinner's best of 291-9 1-2.

Matson and Feuerbach go at each other again in the shot. Matson has managed to beat Feuerbach every time since Feuerbach took the world indoor title away from Matson in January at the San Francisco Examiner Games.

Maggard hopes UCLA's Jim McAlister can compete in the broad jump against NCAA champ Arnie Robinson. McAlister fouled once this season at 27-10.

An interesting duel is shaping up in the 880 where Rick Brown of the University of California faces John Drew, the runner he beat in the Pacific-8 championships.

In the sprints, USC's Willie Deckard, a 9.2 man, may go against Cal's Eddie Hart and Isaac Curtis who finished 1-2 last year in the NCAA 100.

On Disabled List

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Hard luck Bob Gibson, a 23-game winner last year, was placed on the 21-bay disabled list by the St. Louis Cardinals Monday while he recovers from a torn thigh muscle in his right leg.

Floridan Advances In British Amateur

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (UPI)—Seeded Allen Miller of Pensacola, Fla., went ahead on the back nine Tuesday to win a close opening match and swell the U.S. representation in the second round of the British Amateur Golf Championships.

Miller beat Briton Carl Mason 4 and 3, after struggling on the outward half of the 6,864 yard, par 72, Links Course, to join five Walker Cup teammates who made it through successfully on Monday.

Tuesday's program included both first and second round matches and began in perfect conditions with hot sunshine and a cooling breeze blowing from the sea.

A total 15 Americans made it through the first round Monday against 16 losses. Another 22, three of them Walker Cuppers, were scheduled for first round matches Tuesday.

Englishman Rodney Foster, a member of the successful British Cup team, became the second of the 20 seeds to fall when he lost 2 and 1 to compatriot Ian Cradwell. Bill Campbell, Hundington, W.Va., was eliminated Monday.

The other Cup veteran, Bill Hyndman, 55, joined Campbell and Foster on the sidelines. The tall star from Hundington Valley, Penn., trouped sadly back to the clubhouse after a 4 and 2 loss against 33-year-old Hugh Campbell, a former British International competitor.

"It was just one of those rounds when everything went wrong," Hyndman said. "I can't remember making so many errors with club selection in my life."

Hyndman, losing finalist for the last couple of years to Mike Bonallack, three-putted the second to go one down; was two down by the sixth; got one back but then too much club sent him through the green at the ninth to restore Campbell's margin. Hyndman cut the deficit by the 12th but then Campbell hit him with three straight birdies to close out the match.

Miller was one down after three holes against Mason. He squared at the sixth but again fell behind to turn one down. But he fought back to two up by the 12th and then cruised to victory.

Another early U.S. winner was former cup star Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz. He beat Englishman Bob Redall 2 and 1 after breaking a deadlock that took them all square to the 16th tee. Updegraff then won two straight holes to close out the match.

Jim Simons of Butler, Penn., was one of two seeds to leave late Monday and he still can't figure why the bookies have made him co-favorite to win the 76th renewal of the championship.

ATHLETICS

er in the ninth inning of the nightcap, it marked the 12th game in a row in which the Athletics have homered. That ties the club record set by the Philadelphia Athletics in 1951.

Righthander John Odom made his third start of the season for the A's in the second game and went five innings to record his first victory against one loss. He allowed only three hits and struck out six but walked five and was replaced by Bob Locker after giving a leadoff hit to Ellis in the sixth.

Davis singled home Oakland's second run in the third inning of the nightcap. Then he snapped a 2-2 tie in the fifth by singling home Bert Campaneris who had reached base on an error and moved to third on a single by Joe Rudi.

Davis' tiebreaking hit chased starter Mike Kekich. Sal Bando and Angel Mangual greeted reliever Gary Waslewski with run-scoring singles to cap the fifth inning.

Race Driver Killed

Belvedere To Host Netters

The Belvedere Tennis Tournament, always a good drawing card in its own right, becomes an even better one this year since it will also be the annual Northern California Junior Sectional Tournament.

Because of the second title, all ranked junior players in Northern California will be required to participate in the week-long event, beginning next Monday at the Belvedere Tennis Club. Thus the ninth annual Belvedere tourney is assured of getting top talent.

Among the entrants will be a dozen ranked players from Marin County, including one and a half No. 1 ranked doubles teams. Bee Kilgore and Anne Lamott of Tiburon enjoy the top Norcal ranking in the girls' age 16 class, and Diane DeMartini of Greenbrae teams with Gayle Scmutz of Los Altos for the No. 1 spot in girls' 12.

All three of those Marin girls also are individually ranked. Miss Kilgore is No. 10 with Miss LaMott No. 16 in girls '16, while Miss DeMartini is tabbed No. 5 in girls' 12.

Other Marin players ranked by the Northern California Tennis Association who will play include Bill Kinser of Tiburon, No. 22 in boys' 18, Jerry Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, No. 16 in boys' 18, Jerry Suyderhoud of San Anselmo, No. 16 in boys' 18, Dan Tierney of Tiburon, No. 7 in boys' 14, Cary Stansbury of Tiburon, No. 5 in boys' 12, and Charles Bolcom of Belvedere, No. 6 in boys' 10.

Also ranked from Marin are Leslie Airola of Tiburon, No. 18 in girls' 16, Laurie James of Tiburon, No. 16 in girls' 14, Jennifer Gobershock of Mill Valley, No. 12 in girls' 14, and Kelley Hook of Tiburon, No. 8 in girls' 10. All will play in the tourney.

Chamber Seeks Marin Spending

A program aimed at keeping more of the $937 million spent by Marin consumers each year in the county is being sponsored by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

Chamber officials said that over $20 million of the total amount is now being spent out of the county each year, causing Marin County and the cities to lose $1 million in sales taxes.

Through a campaign on KTIM, chamber officials hope to show that is is expensive for Marin residents to shop in San Francisco because of travel expenses and a higher sales tax.

Gambling Chip Cache Is Stolen

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—A brown satchel filled with $64,134 in $25 casino gambling chips was stolen Monday from a locked car outside the Desert Inn on the Las Vegas "Strip."

Sheriff's deputies said a courier left the car and went into the casino for 12 minutes. When he returned, the vehicle had been broken into and the satchel stolen.

The courier was making rounds between gaming houses, returning and exchanging chips of the different casinos, when the theft occurred.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

A Little-Understood Link Between Heart, Gall Bladder

Several years ago a friend wrote that his dad had read my article on gallstones and angina due to hardening of the coronary arteries. He said that his father had both and convinced the physician to remove his gallbladder. Following surgery, there was definite improvement and the 68-year-old man was grateful.

THE RELATIONSHIP between heart disease and the gallbladder is a debatable subject among many physicians. After 60, the conditions often coexist. In no way does removing the gallbladder cure the hardened coronary arteris. Convalescing after the operation may help inasmuch as the old ticker improves with rest.

On the other hand, the diseased gallbladder may aggravate the heart condition. A reflex originating in the gallbladder modifies the heart rhythm and the coronary artery blood flow.

CHANGES IN THE electrocardiogram have also been noted when the gallbladder misbehaves. Atropine injections may block the reflex and the gallbladder is implicated when the electrocardiogram returns to normal.

Several years ago, I was consulted by a cab driver whose heart raced whenever pressure was applied to the gallbladder. This did not occur after atropine was given.

In some individuals biliary colic mimics angina pectoris and vice versa. In other words, the removal of a diseased gallbladder leads to improvement of what was misdiagnosed as heart trouble.

The pain of a heart attack may be confused with that due to gallstones. In some instances, coronary thrombosis causes abdominal distress (acute indigestion) that is limited to the right upper quadrant of the abdomen.

DESPITE THE apparent association between the heart and the gallbladder, there are many ways to distinguish pain from each organ. Thru experience, we know that the chance of heart improvement after removal of a diseased gallbladder is remote, but occasionally improvement takes place.

SLIM RESULTS

A reader writes: I've been on a 750 calorie a day diet for three weeks and have lost only 1½ pounds. What am I doing wrong?

REPLY

Probably miscounting your calories. Almost everyone will lose weight on a 750 calorie diet unless they live in a state of hibernation. More protein and less carbohydrates may help. What about exercise?

MOLES BEAR WATCHING

R. writes: Can moles that have been present for a long time become cancerous?

REPLY

Yes. This possibility is considered should they become larger, deepen in color, or ulcerate. Our leaflet on moles can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

DROOPING COLONG

P.E. writes: Please explain a moderately redundant colon and its treatment.

REPLY

The position of the intestines varies in many individuals. A colon that hangs low works just as well as one that is high. Don't blame intestinal symptoms on a drooping redundant colon.

POISE FOR BLUSHERS

A reader writes: Do tranquilizers help blushers?

REPLY

These drugs might help the person who is nervous and easily upset, but it is cheaper to concentrate on the development of poise.

Today's Health Hint — Mild rashes in infants bother the parents more than the tiny patients.

Homeowners Set Meeting On Assessment

County officials will be present to answer taxpayers' questions about the increase in the property tax assessment ratio at a town meeting sponsored by the San Geronimo Valley Association at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Lagunitas School.

Richard Poppe, president of the association, said that Supervisor Louis H. Baar, Assessor Bert W. Broemmel, Chief Appraiser John Chambers are planning to attend.

Property this year is being appraised at 25 per cent of market value instead of 23 per cent as formerly.

Doctor Dies In Yosemite Climb

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI) —The body of a physician who apparently fell to his death during a hiking trip in Yosemite National Park was recovered Monday by a team of forest rangers.

Dr. David B. Wentworth, 29, the victim, was a staff member of the Tahoe-Forest Hospital in Truckee and his body was discovered Sunday about three miles from Tenaya Lake.

Rangers said they believe the young doctor slipped and fell onto the rocky terrain surrounding the base of the Pywiack Cascades.

14.2 Million On Welfare In February

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A record 14.2 million Americans were on welfare during February—13.1 million in federally assisted programs and 1.1 million from state or local funds.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said the total layout for February was $1.4 billion. The February welfare roll total was 200,000 more than January, and 2.6 million more than February, 1970.

TV REVIEW

England's 'In' Actors Draw Fire

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Every so often, one gets the impression that about 10 British actors are appearing over and over again in at least half the major movies being turned out these days.

The percentage of films they dominate may not really be all that high, but the point remains the same. And no one complains that much because these performers—O'Toole, Finney, Attenborough, Burton and all the rest—are genuinely first class, and you don't feel cheated by the prominent billing they get.

Television also has its British hangup in this country, and at times these imported shows justify themselves. Past examples were "Secret Agent," "The Saint" and "The Avengers," as well as a filmed-in-England series called "Espionage."

Occasionally, England also sends us a nice, pleasant musical series, which was the case with Engelbert Humperdinck's. A viewer, however, could have been justified in wondering why it was necessary to go to England just to get another nice, pleasant musical series.

Once in a while, we get an import like the Tom Jones show, and then we have no choice but to sit back and wonder how long it will take viewers to reject its consummate tastelessness. In the case of American television watchers, the rejection didn't take very long.

A show like this, though, can be reluctantly understood—if not appreciated—when a network confronts you with the plain fact that its headliner is at least a major star in other parts of the entertainment business in this nation. And Jones is that.

What is inexplicable, however, is the importing of series—even for the summer—with stars that have no impact on American viewers, and reveal no more talent (and probably less) than countless performers known and admired in the U.S.

This Wednesday, for instance, we are getting the start of another summer series with a British entertainer named Des O'Connor, who will appear in a weekly variety hour on NBC-TV. He is a nice enough fellow, I guess, and he sings passably, and does his lines passably, and introduces people all right, I guess, and it wasn't the worst idea in the world to have tried him out last summer, I suppose.

But why he is back again is beyond me when you consider how much major, homegrown talent is available but hasn't had a chance on network television. And then there are the proven entertainers who would be exciting to watch develop as video personalities if given the chance of something like a weekly summer series. How much more interesting it would be, for instance, to tune in a great young star like Melba Moore each week.

At any rate, after O'Connor on Wednesday, we have another British musical personality bowing in with a weekly American series on Saturday—a fellow by the name of Val Doonican, who is set on ABC-TV with an hour program. I don't know anything about Doonican, and for all I know he may be just fine. I doubt, however, that he is all that much better than countless other talents who are just waiting for a chance in New York and Hollywood. And I'd be willing to risk a wager that he certainly isn't more exciting a star than Melba Moore.

Over A Foot Of Snow At Lake Tahoe

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (UPI)—Thousands of Californians who took to the Sierra Nevada for the Memorial Day weekend—traditional start of the summer tourist season—found themselves in more than a foot of snow.

A late spring storm dumped up to 14 inches of snow in the Lake Tahoe area Sunday night and snow flurries continued all day Monday as weekend visitors drove home on crowded Interstate 80 and U.S. 50.

Snow flurries were reported down to the 4,000 foot level during the evening, but the weather was warm enough that major roads remained clear.

The Memorial Day storm dumped 14 inches at Bliss State Park on the California side of Lake Tahoe; 10 to 12 inches at South Lake Tahoe; and 8 inches at Glenbrook, Nev.

The Weather Bureau said the storm was not a record, but just "one of the infrequent" spring storms to hit the Sierra Nevada. Snow flurries were expected to continue for the next few days.

Public Interest Push

BERKELEY (UPI) —The University of California student body at Berkeley voted overwhelmingly during the weekend to finance a non-profit public interest law firm "to protect consumers and the environment."

WARDS RIVERSIDE PASSENGER TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees Riverside passenger car tires (to the original purchaser) against (1) defects in material and workmanship and (2) road hazards as follows:

If the tire fails due to such defects, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire FREE during the first 20% of original tread life, and for a prorated charge based on tread wear received during the remainder of the tread life. If the tire fails due to road hazards (excluding repairable punctures) during the original tread life, Montgomery Ward will replace the tire for a prorated charge based on tread wear received.

Prorated charge is based on the regular exchange price in effect at the retail store to which returned or the current catalog price in effect at the store or agency to which returned, in either case including F.E.T. Original tread life is to the top of the tread wear indicator.

For service under this guarantee return tire with evidence of date of purchase to any Montgomery Ward branch.
